JOHN D. IS MODEST.

Gives All Credit to Co-Workers.

Says Henry M. Flagler and Samuel C. Todd Made Oil Trust.

Adds He Lacked the Ability to Plan the Monster Combination.

Magnate Spends Arduous Day Under Incessant Cross-Examination.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Credit for the creation of the Standard Oil trust, which counsel for the Federal government claims still exists as the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, was given by John D. Rockefeller as a witness today under cross-examination in the Federal suit to dissolve the Standard, to two men—Henry M. Flagler and Samuel C. T. Todd.

To these master architects of the oil combine Mr. Rockefeller gave full credit, saying he was sure it was not himself, as he did not possess the ability for so progressive a move.

Mr. Rockefeller spent an arduous day on the stand under the incessant questioning of Frank B. Kellogg, the government counsel, and when adjournment was taken until tomorrow he gave every evidence of delight that the day was done. Counsel hopes to conclude Mr. Rockefeller's cross-examination tomorrow, when it is planned to place John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard, on the stand.

STOCK BOOKS PROMISED.

Frank B. Kellogg, who with other government investigators, had been endeavoring for more than a year to locate the missing stock transfer books of the Standard Oil trust, sought to do so today through Mr. Rockefeller, who promised to do what he could to find them.

Mr. Rockefeller's examination today carried him through the period of the Standard Oil trust and the years of its subsequent liquidation which lasted from 1893 to 1899.

HAZY ON DETAILS.

Mr. Rockefeller's memory at times was not clear on the definite details of this trust liquidation period and he told counsel that he could not recall many of the incidents and developments of that time. During the day Mr. Kellogg developed from Mr. Rockefeller that early in the industrial existence of the Standard, the presidents of railroad companies, together with their directors, were stockholders in the oil combination.

After adjournment tonight, Mr. Rockefeller told an inquiring audience of reporters that there were better things in the world than making money and that since 1891 he had been gradually retiring from business. He added:

"There is more important work than making money and there is much for me to do. I belong to the brotherhood of man."

RAILROAD MEN HOLD STOCK.

Mr. Kellogg's first inquiry was whether all the stockholders of the South Improvement Company afterwards became holders of stock in the Standard Oil Company of Ohio.

Mr. Rockefeller said he did not think so, and when Mr. Kellogg read a list of the South Improvement Company stockholders, Mr. Rockefeller Rumor Gains Strength When It's Learned That His Wife Was the Largest Woman Contributor to Taft Campaign Fund Last Summer. Place Much Sought Prize.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Coincident with the announcement of Treasurer Sheldon at New York that Mrs. Edith Agnes Corbin had led the lists of women contributors to the Taft campaign with a modest $10,000, a report gained currency here today that her husband, Lieut.-Gen. Henry C. Corbin, U.S.A., retired, may be selected chairman of the Inauguration Committee. This chairmanship is a much sought prize, but it rarely goes outside of the district.

The inaugural chairman has a long list of appointments and a myriad of social distinctions to bestow.

Although Gen. Corbin is now listed as a resident of Ohio, he married Miss Edith Agnes Patten in Washington, seven years ago, and they have always regarded Washington as their home.

Gen. Corbin, on his own account, helped the National Committee considerably in getting funds during last summer's tight and trying times, and it is on this score that some of the party leaders have been trying to induce Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock, who selects the inaugural chairman, to give the place to the veteran soldier. In the meantime, Mrs. Corbin herself has been trying to enroll Mr. Taft in her husband's behalf.

The announcement is to be made tomorrow. In the meantime Gen. Corbin is quoted as saying that he has not sought the place and that he thinks it will go to Charles C. Glover, president of the Riggs National Bank. But the lists of contributors show that Mr. Glover contributed only $1000 to the campaign fund.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—Charles G. Magness, husband of a daughter of the late United States Senator Gorman of Maryland, recently convicted of desertion from the United States Navy, left the Philadelphia navy yard today for Portsmouth, N. Mrs. Magness will reside in Portsmouth in order to visit her husband as often as the rules of the prison permit.

"SHOVED THE QUEER."

CONFESSIONS IN BIG COUNTERFEITING PLOT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Three alleged principals in the greatest counterfeiting plot known in the history of the Chicago bureau of the Federal secret service, two assistants implicated by confession of one of the leaders and one woman who has made admissions that she knew of the work of the gang, are in custody owing to the round-up carried on by Capt. Thomas I. Porter and his men.

The men under arrest are: Leo Brown, formerly of St. Louis, who was arrested Saturday and made a complete confession Sunday; Edward Wheed, alias Ed Logan, alias "Sure-Shot-Ed," who has also made a confession; Edward Wescott, No. 348 Winchester avenue; George Anderson, alleged distributor of the "queer;" Dr. W. H. Young, No. 286 State street, another supposed distributor, and Jole Barginson, the woman who lived at the house where the counterfeit money was made.

The confession of Brown bared the whole plot, in which $30,000 in counterfeit $5 bills was made and put into circulation by a gang of men believed to number at least a dozen. The money was scattered broadcast over the United States, going from Chicago to St. Louis, Dayton, Indianapolis, Cleveland, New Orleans, Memphis and other southern cities. Brown's confession was told in detail by Capt. Porter today.

"We first discovered this new counterfeit in circulation on election day," said Capt. Porter. "It has had a greater run than any other counterfeit of the kind during the twenty-three years I have been in charge of the secret service in Chicago. We were seriously handicapped at first because it was such a perfect imitation of the $5 Indian Head silver certificate.

"Sunday, Brown agreed to confess and told the story. He said that he and Wheed and Wescott had gone into the scheme to make the counterfeit money. Brown had furnished the money to buy the materials, Wescott, who was an engraver, made the plates and the money was printed at Wheed's home, No. 223 West Adams street. Thirty thousand dollars in spurious currency was made.

"After they were printed, a fire at the house destroyed about $3000 worth of the notes. Then Brown took $20,000 or more of the counterfeit money in a package to Twenty-second street and the Lake Shore and hid it in the rocks of the breakwater. There it remained ten days when Brown came and burned it because he was not getting his share in the profits. We went down there today and saw the ashes and on some of the ashes of the paper the imprint was still visible.

"From the amount of the counterfeit money made and from the amount destroyed, it would appear that there is from $25,000 to $30,000 in circulation yet. There may be more. It is possible that more than $30,000 was made."

CANNON WINS.

BURTON BEATEN.

Quits Speakership Aspirations.

Makes Announcement After Lengthy Conference With Taft.

Is Going to Make Desperate Fight for Foraker's Mantle.

All Smooth Between Uncle Joe and the President-Elect.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "I am not a candidate for the Speakership." This announcement from the lips of Congressman Theodore E. Burton of Ohio after a conference of several days with President-elect Taft at Hot Springs, is the latest contribution to the tangled "advance fighting" over Speaker Cannon's renomination.

"You may make that just as emphatic as you like," the Congressman added, when he discussed the situation, on his return to the capital from the visit to Mr. Taft. "I am a candidate for the Senate to succeed Senator Foraker, and I am now going home to make a fight for that place."

And fight was written all over the steel-cut face of the Ohioan.

Although Mr. Burton is the only man of any strength who could be put up against Speaker Cannon, the anti-Cannon men here still insist that Judge Taft is on the warpath, and that he won't be happy until he gets Speaker Cannon's scalp.

PUPPET WANTED.

With most of them, the wish is father to the thought. They have been clamoring for Speaker Cannon's scalp so long that it has become a firmly fixed habit. As self-appointed arbiters of the common good and arch-apostles of the uplift, they don't want a man with genuine backbone in the Speaker's chair.

Instead they want a man who will telephone to them daily for orders—a man who has thrown the legislation out of the window and is willing to subscribe to the doctrine that the Executive Department is divinely, even if unconstitutionally, appointed to run the legislative branch of the government.

According to these men Mr. Taft is just about to go out with an ax and kill off every friend that Speaker Cannon ever had. But Mr. Taft himself is not looking for battle at this end of his term of office. A fight with Speaker Cannon would be a precarious one at best.

HAS COMFORTABLE MAJORITY.

Speaker Cannon's friends declare that he has already pledged more than a comfortable majority in the Republican caucus. And they claim that these men are pledged in such a way that all the Roosevelt patronage and all the Taft patronage, even if distributed under the steam-roller tactics of Mr. Hitchcock himself, could not buy off the loyal supporters of "Uncle Joe."

President Roosevelt, it is also asserted, is not making any glowing prognostications as to the outcome of an open fight between Taft and Cannon, should there be one.

Speaker Cannon is expected here Wednesday. Whether he will then receive an invitation to go to Hot Springs is not known. Some of his friends declare that he will and that when he does, all talk of trouble will vanish. Despite the great noise which his enemies are now making, they declare that the bottom will fall out of all their talk if Speaker Cannon shows the President-elect that he favors tariff revision as promised by the Chicago platform, as he did in his speech in Chicago tonight.

Sereno E. Payne, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and Representative H. S. Boutell of Illinois, today gave out interviews intimating there was no friction between Taft and Cannon and could be none.

Foreign Legations at Port-au-Prince Ask Governments to Protect Foreigners.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORT AU PRINCE, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The German, French, British and United States legations here today asked that warships be immediately rushed to Les Cayes and Jeremie for the protection of foreigners.

The right of asylum in the foreign legations, so often denied by the Haytian government to revolutionists, has now proved useful to the officers of President Nord Alexis, who, menaced by Gen. Antoine Simon after his uprising, took refuge in the German Consulate at Les Cayes. Among them are Gen. Faverolle, the military commander of the district, and Senator Morisset.

ALFRED H. CURTIS IS HUNTING FOR WORK.

Pays Visit to Charles W. Morse, Now in the Tombs, But Declines to Discuss Rumor That He Had Been Offered Millions to Play the Part of "Scapegoat."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Alfred H. Curtis went over to the Tombs today to see Charles W. Morse. He went at the invitation of Mr. Morse.

It then became known that Mr. Curtis is seeking a job. He is willing to learn and anxious to please, but would rather begin with vice-president of a bank or something like that, please. So far he has made no investment in overalls.

Along with the job story there came this afternoon a report that Morse had offered millions to Curtis to play the role of "goat" and go to prison for the term that is now assessed against the party of the first part in the frigid combination that was thawed by the Federal courts.

"Will you state the terms of the offer made to you by Morse?" he was asked.

"I will not discuss the matter at all," he replied.

"Will you deny that you had an offer from Morse to become the 'goat?'"

"I will not say anything about it."

It is known that Col. Robert M. Thompson, a large stockholder, has not given up his plan of putting Curtis back in the Bank of North America as a vice-president.

SHUTS DOWN THE "LID."

Big Brewer, Home from Abroad, Shuts Up Tight and Declines to Be Interviewed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, arrived in St. Louis today from his summer home, Langen Schwalbe, on the Rhine, Germany, accompanied by Mrs. Busch. Mr. and Mrs. August A. Busch met the elder Busch in New York.

For the first time probably since Mr. Busch, Sr., has been making his annual pilgrimages to his native country, has the "lid" been placed upon his talking immediately upon his return to St. Louis.

When an attempt was made to interview Mr. Busch at Union Station on his arrival, A. A. Busch at once informed all comers that his father had nothing to say.

TOWNS WIPED OUT.

TWENTY-FIVE DIE IN ARKANSAS CYCLONE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FORT SMITH (Ark.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From meager reports received here tonight from a score of towns in Northeast Arkansas, twenty-five people were killed, fifty injured and a number missing in a cyclone, which swept through a section of country two miles wide and seventy miles long. The force of the storm was felt greatest in vicinity of Ozark, Ark., the small town of Cravens, four miles west, being completely wiped out, four people were killed and three fatally injured.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. John Rosin and two children.

Injured: Dr. and Mrs. Hill, aged couple, who were caught in collapse of house and crushed. A grocery store in which several people had taken refuge, was blown to pieces and all the occupants more or less injured. Dr. Croker of Lenall, Ark., was slightly hurt. Eight people, three men and two women and three children, are reported missing in Cravens. All were seen before the storm.

At Knoxville, Ark., the storm crossed over at the mouth of Piney Creek, demolishing everything in its path. Twenty people were injured and several reported killed. Calls for doctors have been sent from Barr, a small town four miles northeast of Knoxville. Physicians went to the stricken town on a hand car and have not returned.

FOUR MILES WIDE.

Barr was nearly swept off the map. The country between Knoxville and Barr is waste, farm houses are shattered and occupants killed. The path of destruction in some places is four miles wide.

The damage at Berryville is confined mostly to stores and churches. The storm came up from the west at 2:15 and lasted but a few moments. The Methodist Church was wrecked, the parsonage badly damaged. Homes of four doctors, frame structures, were completely demolished. The Baptist Church cupola was blown 150 feet and a neighboring frame house, unoccupied, reduced to kindling. Eleven other dwellings were blown from their foundations and barns were unroofed.

A telegram from Knoxville at 11 o'clock tonight says a storm passed near Russellville at 3 o'clock this afternoon and killed fifteen people and injured a score. This report cannot be confirmed, as wires are down.

Wind and lightning destroyed considerable property in Southwest Missouri. Lightning killed Thomas Crow, a school teacher, this afternoon, while he was on his way home north of Carthage, Mo. The horse he was riding was also killed.

The Ozark Mountains fruit region in Southwest Missouri was visited by a terrific storm, the vivid lightning flashes surpassing all April records. Nearly an inch of water fell there.

TERRIFIC STORM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BEAUMONT (Tex.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Louisiana, Texas and Arkansas are tonight being swept by a terrific rain and windstorm, which originated on the Louisiana coast at and struck the Kansas City Southern Railroad north of Shreveport at 9 o'clock tonight, and is traveling forty-five miles an hour due south from Shreveport to Port Arthur. All telegraph wires north of Shreveport to New Orleans are down, and trains have been ordered to proceed slowly and with great caution.

The storm is also engulfing traffic toward New Orleans, and east to Eldorado, Ark. At Eldorado box cars were washed and tumbled from the sidings.

GRAVE WARNING.

DANGER TO ENGLAND.

Lord Roberts Urges Bigger Army.

Points Out Ease With Which Germany Could Invade British Isles.

Says Kaiser's Soldiers Are Ready at Any Time to Make Attack.

Neglect of Preparation, He Declares, May Be Fatal. Causes Sensation.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Speaking in the House of Lords tonight, Field Marshal Lord Roberts expressed the conviction that lack of a military force sufficient to make hopeless the attempt of an invasion would in all probability be the cause of the loss of Great Britain's supremacy at sea.

In a studied speech, he pointed out the comparative ease with which Germany could land an army on the shores of England. Under present conditions, England would be forced, he said, to submit to most humiliating demands.

Lord Roberts disclaimed all hostility to or fear of Germany, but he declared that the defense of the islands required immediate attention. There should be an army so strong in numbers and efficient in quality that the most formidable of foreign nations would hesitate to make a landing in England. He had ascertained that vessels capable of accommodating 200,000 men always were available in the north ports of Germany, and that as a result of the new German service law, 220,000 men could be collected in the districts of the nearest port without trouble.

DANGER GROWS DAILY.

The great German steamship lines were in constant practice embarking and disembarking, and as the railroads were owned by the State, all preliminaries to the actual dispatch of troops could be carried out with the utmost secrecy.

Germany was perfectly aware, the field marshal went on, that it would be essential for her transports to evade the British fleet, and she could easily distract attention by small raids when disembarking, proceeding undisturbed.

"It would be folly," declared Lord Roberts, "to shut our eyes to these possibilities, however much we desired. Startling events in the near east have brought home to the most careless observer that nothing could save that country which is not prepared to protect itself. If Great Britain continues to neglect the most ordinary precautions, she may some day find herself in the hands of the invader.

"This danger is daily becoming more threatening. Within a decade Germany has created the greatest sea power that ever existed except Great Britain and at the present moment it is formidable. Great measures are being taken to increase that power. It is calculated that there are 80,000 Germans in employment in Great Britain. They are trained soldiers and if a German force once landed on these shores, they would be ready to help."

TEMPTATION TO INVASION.

Lord Roberts contended it was not absolutely essential for a nation to command the sea in order to carry out an invasion. A temporary local command would suffice and this was well understood in Germany. The main temptation to an invasion of Great Britain was the want of a home army, which ought to consist of a million men. Across the narrow sea were 60,000,000 Germans who, by perseverance, industry, sound education and military training, had made themselves a great nation. They required outlets for their commerce and population.

It was Great Britain's desire, continued Lord Roberts, to find out in what way the great increase in Germany's sea power was likely to affect her and to adopt measures necessary for her defense. The navy under present conditions was fettered in home waters and the islands were without a military force sufficient to render any invasion hopeless.

Lord Robert's speech caused a sensation in the house. The Earl of Crew remarked upon the seriousness of such statements in the present high-strung condition of European nerves, saying that he feared they might be regretted. Lord Roberts's resolution to the effect that defense of the islands necessitated immediate attention of the government to make the army so strong and efficient that the most formidable nation will hesitate before making an attempt at landing, was adopted by a vote of 74 to 33.

WASHINGTON.

ASK CARNEGIE'S TARIFF VIEWS.

Ways and Means Committee Summons Steel King.

Light on Possibility of Duty Reduction Sought.

Invitation Sequel to Notable Magazine Article.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—As a result of the declaration of Andrew Carnegie in an article in the forthcoming number of the Century Magazine that the tariff schedules on iron and steel should be reduced, the Ways and Means Committee of the House formally instructed Mr. Carnegie tonight to appear before it this week to tell what he knows about the steel industry and the possibility of reduction of the tariff on iron and steel products. The committee desires him to appear temporarily Wednesday, when the iron and steel schedule will be taken up in the hearing now being held by the committee looking toward a revision of the tariff.

No reply had been received from Mr. Carnegie by the committee when it took a recess at 11 o'clock tonight, until tomorrow morning, but as the telegram of invitation was not sent until late, no reply is expected until tomorrow.

The members of the committee were a unit in refusing to discuss Mr. Carnegie's article, although all of them admitted having read it, as published this morning.

Sitting in a long night session to consider the tariff schedules on tiles, lime, cement, carbons and kindred articles, the committee put in full time at work today.

LIME MAKERS GRILLED.

In the course of the night session H. T. Sheppard and Orin F. Perry of the Rockland, Rockport, Me., Lime Company, were put through a grilling examination when they asked that the present duty of 5 cents a 100 pounds on lime be maintained.

Mr. Perry asserted that his company was organized in 1900, when seven or eight firms were purchased. He admitted that the price of lime had advanced ever since.

Chairman Payne asked why his company was the only one that demands a duty.

"Because we are so near to the Canadian manufacturers and because ours is the best in the United States," he replied.

"Why, we have the best in the world right in New York," declared Mr. Payne with a show of State pride.

"Yes, we sell most of our product in New York," retorted Mr. Perry.

Using figures furnished him, Representative Clark figured out that the company is making 24 per cent. profit.

Bernard Traitel, representing the Tile, Grate and Mantel Association of New York, asked that the crate used to import quarries, which form the floors of the humblest cottages, be admitted free of duty.

WANT TO COMPETE.

E. E. Cary and Hugo Reisinger, importers of carbon, asked that the tariff of $9 a thousand on carbons or electric lights be reduced in order that they might compete with the National Carbon Company of Cleveland, which, they said, controls 90 per cent. of the domestic trade. J. S. Crider, representing that company, insisted upon the necessity for duty.

Philmore Conger, representing the general committee of the State Board of Trade on the Mineral Industry of California, asked that the tariff on asphaltum be increased in the interest of American asphalt.

Frank C. Patridge of the Vermont Marble Company asked in behalf of those concerned in the production of American marble that the duty on marble be left unchanged. He said no objection was raised to the importation free of duty of true works of art.

In reply to a question, he declared, as vice-president of the company of which the late Senator Proctor of Vermont was president, that Senator Proctor, despite repeated reports, did not have one dollar invested in Italian marble.

POTTERS GET HEARING.

Many points were ordered to be contested at the hearing today before the House Ways and Means Committee for considering changes in the tariff on earths, earthenware and glassware.

The Bureau of Manufactures, Department of Commerce and Labor, has issued an exhaustive report on the pottery industry of Germany. The document, prepared by Special Agent Charles M. Pepper for the use of Congress in its proposed revision of the tariff, gives much information regarding the exports of potters to the United States, the cost of labor and material, freight rates and profits of the industry in Germany.

Mr. Pepper places the total annual pottery output of Germany at from $45,000,000 to $50,000,000, an increase of from 80 to 100 per cent. within ten years.

In 1907 the exportation to the United States amounted to $7,881,418.

The wages of the German pottery workmen range from 76 cents to $1.32 per day for adult male workmen, while women earn from $2.16 to $2.64 per week. Notwithstanding these low wages, Mr. Pepper estimates that labor represents 40 per cent. of the cost of pottery production in Germany.

Jerome Jones of Boston, representing the wholesale dealers in crockery and glassware, was the first to address the committee today.

EXCESS PROTECTION CLAIMED.

"We believe that the domestic manufacturer is entitled to protection," Mr. Jones said, "but not beyond the point which he himself during the last twelve years has demonstrated as sufficient. We believe that the difference in the cost of production of American and foreign wares is nearer 30 or 35 per cent. than the 55 per cent. on white and 60 per cent. on decoraed ware which are the protective duties imposed by the present law. This difference of about 25 per cent. represents excess protection."

Mr. Jones declared that protection on the poorer grade of toilet ware was unnecessary and excessive on the better grade.

Chairman Payne desired to know if it would be more satisfactory to have the ad valorem duty imposed according to the market price, duty paid, in the United States or upon the foreign market price, in which he said there are gross undervaluations. Mr. Jones asserted that the allegation that the foreign prices are sometimes undervaluations is untrue.

E. H. Pitkin of Chicago spoke from the wholesalers' and importes' viewpoint. He declared in favor of the duties of the Wilson Bill, 25 per cent. lower than the present rates, claiming that the benefit of a reduction in the tariff on the cheap grades of crockery would accrue to the benefit of the consumer, asserting at the same time that it would not be fair to the manufacturer.

INCREASE DULY FAVORED.

William Burgess of Trenton, N. J., representing the Manufacturing Potters' Association of the United States, and W. E. Wells of Newell, W. Va., favored an increase in the duty on imported china.

Undervaluation by importers was one of the principal subjects discussed. Champ Clark declared this alleged undervaluation was the only argument the manufacturers presented for an increase in the tariff.

"If this undervaluation of invoices could be broken up," said Mr. Clark, "the pottery men of the United States could stand for a reduction in the tariff."

"No, they could not," declared the witness.

"Why couldn't they, if they are being gouged by the undervaluation?" pursued Mr. Clark.

"Because they are not being gouged by all of the importers," was the reply.

W. C. Wilson of Philadelphia asked that the duty on bauxite, used in making alum, aluminum and paper, be doubled.

John Richardson of Boston requested that English china clay be put on the free list.

MANY CLUBS RAIDED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23.—As a result of a war on "clubs," in which liquor has been sold on Sunday, and during the hours that saloons were closed, sixty-one clubs were raided today and 332 men arrested. When arraigned in Police Court, most of the prisoners were discharged, their release being greeted with cheers from hundreds of spectators. The raids were ordered by Gov. Folk.

RECEIVER IS NAMED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) Nov. 23.—Federal Judge Sanford here today appointed B. H. Benoist of St. Louis, temporary receiver for the Cumberland Coal and Coke Company, which operates in Fentress and Cumberland counties in this State.

WHEELER SATISFIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) Nov. 23.—Arthur Hill of Saginaw, one of the regents of the University of Michigan, last night denied that Michigan had offered Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California, the position now held by President Angell. "I called on Dr. Wheeler when I was in California, and he informed me he was too well satisfied with conditions there to make a change," said Regent Hill. "Moreover, the University of Michigan has tendered him nothing." Regent Beal says that Dr. Angell has not resigned. "There is nothing to this," said President Angell last night, "and I cannot imagine where it started."

PIE; LOVE POTION.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—A round dozen engagements were announced as the grist of ten days of the "Country Fair" which closed at Emanuel Temple last night. The record was made through the aid of a model flat where a number of girls cooked dainty dishes that captured bachelor members of the congregation.

The first couple that announced their engagement will receive a number of pieces of furniture, with which to start housekeeping. This couple is Rose Suekoff and Julius Wilzinski. Apple pie won the man's heart and he does not deny it.

COMMISSIONER ROBBED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Liang Chang Kwai, special Chinese educational commissioner to America, has been robbed of valuable papers including his passports, at a hotel in this city. The robbery occurred while the distinguished visitor was dining at a Chinese restaurant near-by. The thief gained entrance to the suit occupied by Mr. Kwai by climbing over the transom. There was a dozen pieces of baggage in the room but only a traveling bag was taken. It is supposed the robber was frightened away before he could break into the steamer trunks and other receptacles for clothing. Mr. Kwai has been in the United States since last April, having been ordered here by Emperor Kwang Hsu, who died a few days ago. Since his arrival here he has established Chinese schools in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Sacramento, Portland, Or., and New York. He is on his way to Vancouver, B. C., to be present at the dedication of a Chinese school on December 1.

READ YOUR BIBLE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—"When in search of good reading turn to the Bible. When in need of hard material advice on hard material subjects, turn to the Bible. Whether in search of exciting tales of battle, of tales of love, of tales of the goodness of humanity, always turn to the Bible. It contains all of this and much more," said United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana, who spoke on "Bible as good reading" before the Caicago Sunday Evening Club at Orchestra Hall last night. "No stories published in the magazines of today have such gripping interest as the stories in the Bible," declared Senator Beveridge. "Purely as a volume of entertainment I have often wondered that the Bible is not more widely read. Like other gifts of God, it is so common that we fail to appreciate it."

CANNON MAKES PLEDGE OF PROMPT REVISION.

Tells Guests at Naval Banquet that He Bowed to President in the Past. Admiral Capps Reads Letters Denouncing Magazine Critics.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With "Uncle Joe" Cannon going on record in favor of "prompt" revision of the tariff, in accordance with the Republican party platform, and with Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, commander of the Department of the Lakes, voicing criticism against the "utter inefficiency" of the ten batteries of artillery in his present command, the luncheon given at the Union League Club today by Alexander H. Revell to the visiting rear-admirals was a notable affair.

The luncheon was given in the Tower room of the Union League Club in honor of Rear-Admirals James H. Dayton, Albert Ross, William H. Brownson, Francis J. Higginson, French E. Chadwick, Washington L. Capps, Col. Robert M. Thompson and Capt. A. T. Mahan.

About forty prominent Chicago men were present. Admiral Dayton of Indianapolis, who is retired, reached Chicago yesterday. The other admirals arrived in the city this morning from Annapolis, coming in the private car of Col. Thompson.

The rear-admirals have come to Chicago primarily to attend the banquet tonight of the United States Naval Academy Association of the West. Asked to meet them were two score of Chicago citizens, prominently known in various fields. Other guests were Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York, Speaker Cannon and Gen. Grant.

After all the admirals had spoken, "Uncle Joe" was called upon by Mr. Revell, who acted as toastmaster.

UNCLE JOE TALKS TARIFF.

"I am satisfied that the policy of keeping the navy and the small army of the nation up to the highest possible state of efficiency will be continued," said Mr. Cannon. He then turned to the tariff question.

"For three years," he declared, "I have followed Theodore Roosevelt in his policy that there should be no revision of the revenue laws, commonly called the tariff, until after the next Presidential election.

"The revision could have been accomplished already if some one had had the wisdom to make a revision which would not have worked more harm than good. But it was President Roosevelt's policy that nothing should be done under the circumstances which have existed for some time past.

PROMISES SPEEDY REVISION.

"But now I would like to say that, in the next Congress, whatever may be my position there, and whether or not I hold any position other than that of a representative of my district, yet my vote and such influence as I may have will be exercised in favor of the prompt carrying out of the policy of the Republican party as to tariff revision as written in its platform.

"I am going to, so far as I can, see that the policy of the party, as written in the platform, is carried out before the fourth day of March, next—I will begin work for its carrying out on March 5. I believe that the revision ought to be prompt, so that business may adjust itself as speedily as possible to changed conditions.

"The revision will hurt you a little in your business and in the commercial world generally, but the party which has again been intrusted with the work of carrying on the government of the nation will see that its pledge as to tariff revision is made good."

GRANT SHORT AND SHARP.

Gen. Grant's address was very brief, but it was long enough to contain very sharp criticism of the artillery arm in the Department of the Lakes.

"No man," he said, "is more heartily in favor of a big navy than I. I think we should always have afloat as large a navy as could at any time be necessary. I would also like to take this occasion—inasmuch as Mr. Cannon is here, who may have to do with a bill in Congress in connection with this matter—to touch upon one branch of the military service. In this Department of the Lakes there are ten batteries of artillery. They are in the hands of State troops. I am sorry to say that they are utterly inefficient. If they were called out today a regiment of fairly-trained infantry would be able to cause those batteries to destroy themselves."

Rear-Admiral Brownson dealt with the cruise around the world.

NAVAL CRITICS ANSWERED.

Critics of the navy who condemn warships because of minor defects were answered at the banquet of the United States Naval Academy alumni of the East. Six rear-admirals sat at the banquet board at the Auditorium Hotel, and letters scoring recent critics and praising the navy were read from Admiral Dewey, Rear-Admiral Schley and Rear-Admiral Evans. The rear-admirals present were:

Washington L. Capps, Chief of Construction in the navy; Albert Ross, Willard H. Brownson, Francis J. Higginson, French E. Chadwick and James H. Dayton.

Rear-Admiral Capps, after alluding briefly to the development of battleships and declaring that the vessels of this country were fully abreast the times, said:

"I shall refer you to the opinions of three of the most distinguished admirals who have ever commanded fleets in our or any navy.

JURY SCORES THE POLICE.

Negligence Charged as Verdict in Haas Case.

Incompetency Also in Allowing Prisoner to Have Gun.

Coroner's Inquiry Results in Appeal to Mayor Taylor.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—The Coroner's jury, which has been investigating for four days the suicide of Morris Haas, the assailant of Heney, came in its verdict this evening. The verdict follows:

We find said gunshot was self-inflicted by Morris Haas with suicidal intent following his attempted assassination of Asst. Dist.-Atty. Francis J. Heney.

We further find from the testimony of numerous witnesses examined that there was negligence and incompetency shown by the police officials having in charge the searching of the person of Morris Haas, in not properly searching in the best interest of the public before making it possible for the shooting with a derringer which caused the death of Morris Haas to remain secreted on his person.

We also find there has been a criminal feeling of animosity engendered against the police department and the District Attorney's office which is to be deplored in the present case through which our city is passing. That they should work in harmony to the end that all crime must be detected and punished.

We, the jury, recommend that the chief of this city thoroughly investigate the condition of affairs and that he take such active and immediate steps as he may deem necessary to remedy this palpable condition."

The making of testimony at the inquest was interrupted today by a verdict of blank between Chief of Police Lelong and Louis Ward of the District Attorney's office. The dispute arose over the right of the police to exclude Detective J. J. Burns, an agent of the District Attorney's office, from the cell in which Haas had been confined as a prisoner.

Deputy District Attorney Biggy interrupted Prosecutor Ward to declare that Burns was subordinate to any representative of the district attorney's department, and Mr. Ward replied by asserting that the District Attorney would shortly take steps which would finally settle this and all questions relating to the powers of the Chief of Police.

Deputy District Attorney Biggy replied the sooner such questions were taken the better pleased he would be.

The matter concluded with a concrete resolution by Coroner Hoeffler that the District Attorney's office is superior in the preservation of peace and order in the city.

Following this, the greater part of the session was devoted to testimony from officers and trustees from the police force, who had knowledge of the circumstances surrounding the immediate arrest and suicide of Haas. Those who testified at length were Burke and Policeman Rogers, who professed ignorance of the manner in which Haas obtained possession of the derringer with which he killed himself.

Among the witnesses were Charles Ruef and one of the policemen who had searched Haas, and who said that he received an impression on the suicide's mind in creating that some object had been placed in his shoe; Chief Deputy Sheriff Kennedy, who found the derringer in the pocket of the dead man; Capt. James Kelly of the detective department, who admitted that he had neglected to search the dead man's shoe on the occasion of his arrest, but stated that he had never known any shoes to be searched; Kelly said that he had never known any shoes to be searched; Kelly said that he had never known any shoes to be searched; Kelly said

Chief of Police Biggy, in his testimony, admitted that responsibility for the case rested upon Captain of Police Kelly.

CHAUFFEUR TAKES THE STAND.

[SPECIAL PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Soon after the resumption of the bribery charges against Ruef in Judge Lawlor's court today, former Supervisor Gallagher was withdrawn as counsel for Ruef and Alexander S. Lathan, Ruef's chauffeur, who was brought here from Portland, Or., on extradition papers, was placed on the stand by the prosecution.

Lathan was asked as to the facts in connection with an affidavit made by him in Portland, in which he admitted that he had been sent by Ruef to obtain a shirt box from his room, which he first took to the office of the Southern Pacific Railroads, and afterward to the Crocker-Woolworth National Bank.

Lathan testified at first that he could not remember any of the assertions he had made in the affidavit previously, Lathan finally admitted that he had sworn to the statements during his examination before the grand jury and that the statements, in whole or in part, were true.

Lathan was then made to learn the circumstances under which the affidavit was made.

Lathan DICTATED BY BURNS.

Lathan admitted, in pite of numerous objections by the prosecution, that he had been sworn to the affidavit, but that he had practically had been dictated by William J. Burns.

When Burns came to the stand was a surprise. John E. Hervey, appeared in court as representative of the witness and Judge Lawlor to instruct Burns not to testify to facts which tended to incriminate him. Numerous objections were continued by Judge Lawlor, warned him of the danger of the further in-

Objections of the defense, Henry Ach, numerous and lengthy objections to Lathan's testimony. He objected to questions of the prosecution as to the matter contained in the shirt box, which was later produced by William Johnson, were also overruled. Ach finally asked the court to instruct that he was required to answer any question that would incriminate him, but Judge Lawlor refused.

Lathan affidavit which was read into the record by section, Lathan admitted that he drove Ruef to the office of the United Railroads on three occasions; that once Ruef went into a haberdasher's store and bought a shirt box, which he took to the United Railroads office, and then to the Crocker-Woolworth Bank. To all questions relative to this allegation, Lathan finally replied that he did not remember, or that he could not swear the statement was so.

Confronted with the affidavit, which he was obliged to read, he admitted he had signed it, but affirmed that he had not been sworn by the notary. Lathan testified that nearly all of the allegations made in the affidavit were dictated by William J. Burns and that Burns and Ruef had directed him to relate the same story before the grand jury.

Admitting that he knew that he was signing an affidavit, and admitting he knew the facts contained therein were not true, Lathan was asked:

ADMITS PERJURY.

"Well, when you told these facts to the grand jury, were you then telling the truth?"

"I was not telling the truth."

"Did you under oath tell untruths to the grand jury?"

"I did. I was directed to do so by William Burns and Abraham Ruef."

Lathan reiterated this declaration several times before he was handed over to the defense for cross-examination.

The cross-examination of Lathan was brief, and related for the most part to an effort to shake the testimony of the witness. Then the witness was handed over to the prosecution.

Hiram Johnson began questioning him regarding his long absence from the city; Lathan said he left San Francisco in company with a Mr. Clark, father-in-law of Luther Brown, an agent for the defense. He said he could not remember who had arranged for his departure, but that Clark had purchased an automobile and engaged Lathan to operate it at $5 per day and living expenses for Lathan and his wife.

CONTRADICTS HIMSELF.

Later in the day under a merciless cross-examination by Johnson, Lathan contradicted many of his statements of the earlier session. He admitted that he had conferred with Ruef and Burns regarding the testimony he had given before the grand jury, and that Ruef had recalled to his recollection the occasion upon which the call was made for the shirt box and the subsequent visit to the office of the United Railroads and the bank.

Bit by bit he admitted recollections of other details of the conference with Ruef and Burns, and when he had completed his testimony, he had related his experiences down to the occurrences of this morning, when he stated that he had been advised, in the offices of the prosecution, that he had better consult his attorney before making any statement.

Police Judge Cabaniss today refused Lathan's application for a reduction of bail, which will remain at $10,000 as originally fixed.

Within the next two weeks a beginning will be made in producing electricity, the initial production being 20,000 horse power.

CHILD DIES OF COFFEE BURNS.

Overturning of Cup by Two-Year-Old Girl Results in Convulsions.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Overturning a cup of boiling hot coffee on her arm, resulted in the death of little Edith W. Moore, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Moore of No. 405 Davis street, this city. So great was the shock resulting from the scalds that the child was almost immediately seized with convulsions, and lived only two days.

While dinner was being served the fiery coffee was spilled on the child, and, crazed with pain, she threw herself on the floor, striking her head on the carpet. For a time she was quieted, as remedies were applied, but a few hours later, she was attacked by violent convulsions that brought on her death.

PURE LUCK.

LIFE SAVED BY GIRL ON MULE.

Lost in Storm Man Tumbles Over Cliff.

He Crawls Miles Over Rough Hill Trails.

Is Utterly Exhausted When He Is Found.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WEAVERVILLE, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Good fortune in the shape of a girl on muleback alone saved C. W. White from death today. Leaving the trail over which he was riding on horseback between Blanchard's Flat and Douglas City, White, who is court reporter of Trinity county, last night dismounted in the storm and tried to find his way on foot.

Coming to what he thought in the darkness was a log, he stepped over it and stumbled over a precipice seventy-five feet high and rolled into the swollen waters of Brown Creek below. His leg was broken in the fall.

Crippled as he was, he struggled from the water to the shore. He was miles from human habitation. The rain was the hardest ever seen in the county. On his hands and knees he crawled all night, and until 10 o'clock this morning, when he stopped from sheer exhaustion.

Miss Macie Bigelow discovered White at 11 o'clock by the merest chance. She was riding over a trail seldom traveled when her mule shied. Trying to find what had frightened the beast, Miss Bigelow discovered White lying below her on the mountainside. She rode four miles back to Blanchard's Flat and got men to go to White. He was carried to Douglas City on a stretcher and thence to Weaverville in a wagon. He will recover.

REBUILD LEG.

PHYSICIANS TRY IT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 23.—An interesting surgical experiment which involves the rebuilding of a man's leg after the limb had been terribly crushed and mangled by the wheels of a freight car is being attempted by Drs. Hamlin Smith and Reinle of this city. John Wright, a middle-aged carpenter, who was run over yesterday, is the man on the reconstruction of whose anatomy the surgeons are trying their skill.

When Wright was knocked beneath the cars two wheels passed over his left leg, breaking the bone, between the knee and ankle, into a number of pieces. He refused to permit amputation, and the surgeons finally decided to assemble the bits of bone in the proper order, draw over it the mangled flesh, which was stitched in many places, and by supplying the detached portions with circulation by artificial means, endeavor to cause the bone to rejoin and flesh heal over all.

Wright is now lying at the hospital with the reconstructed limb encased in splints, and the doctors are hopeful that the leg will heal.

FOUR-CORNERED DUEL.

SHOT BY HIS COMPANIONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—William Murphy, alias Frank Quinlan, who is suspected by the police of complicity in several recent robberies, is a patient at the Lane Hospital. He is believed to be dying as the result of a bullet wound sustained early yesterday during a four-cornered revolver duel between himself and three of his companions, two of whom are under arrest.

It was at first supposed that Murphy was shot by Policeman Sherrett, who was attracted by the sound of the shooting, and who dispersed the combatants with several shots from his own revolver. Sherrett is certain that he did not hit any of the men, but Murphy was found on the street, and it is believed he was shot by one of his companions.

BURNED IN SEEKING BURGLAR.

Oregon Woman Drops Match Into Powder and Is Disfigured for Life as Result.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While hunting for a burglar in her home at Waterloo, Or., last night, Rose Osborne dropped a lighted match into an open box of powder, and in the explosion that resulted received burns from which she may die. She was knocked to the floor by the force of the explosion and horribly burned.

It was late at night when Miss Osborne thought that she heard an intruder in the house, and leaving her bed began making an investigation by the light of a match. A box of powder had been carelessly left open by her father, and one of the flickering matches fell into the explosive. The physicians who attended Miss Osborne today express hope that she will live, but her burns are so severe that she will be disfigured for life.

FIRST SNOW FALL IN HIGH SIERRAS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SUMMIT, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Snow commenced falling Saturday afternoon and now there is three feet on the ground between Lake View and Cisco. The storm has been general throughout the high Sierras. About a foot has fallen at Blue Cañon and about six inches at Truckee. The storm is still raging in this vicinity with no prospect of a let-up.

The Southern Pacific is better prepared for the heavy snow this season than for many seasons. The snow-sheds at Summit have been thoroughly overhauled and strengthened. Many sections of old shed have been torn down and replaced by new. In fact the entire thirty miles of snowsheds have been strengthened and in many places so reconstructed it is now possible for passengers to view the mountain scenery from the cars.

ELECTORAL VOTE IN MISSOURI.

Difference in State's Law Made It Look as Though Bryan S. ured One Ballot.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Nov. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was an impression for a little while today that Bryan would get one electoral vote from Missouri because the State's complete vote showed that W. W. Brannock, the Sixteenth District's Democratic elector, received a higher vote than Henry W. Kiel, Republican elector-at-large.

The statute provides, however, that the elector receiving the highest vote in the State against the elector living in the district as that in which he lives is elected. As Brannock does not live in Kiel's district, his heavy vote does not profit him.

Brannock is the high man on the Democratic ticket, but W. I. Diffendorffer, living in Brannock's district, is the high man on the Republican ticket.

Missouri's electoral law differs from that of other States. One Missouri district voted only for its elector and electors-at-large, hence Brannock's high vote.

POLITICAL BRIEFS.

State Reports Are Filed.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Nov. 22.—Total receipts of $392,319 and disbursements amounting to $318,283 by the Republican State Committee during the recent campaign are shown in the report of George J. Smith treasurer, which was filed today with the Secretary of State. The State Committee received $264,360 and disbursed $264,892 during the campaign, according to a statement filed today with the Secretary of State by Arthur McLean, the treasurer of the committee.

Ridder Files Report.

ALBANY (N. Y.) Nov. 23.—Herman Ridder, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, filed with the Secretary of State today his report of the contributions to the Democratic national campaign, which total $620,644.77. The disbursements were $619,110.60, leaving a balance of $1534.71 in the treasurer's hands. There were over 74,000 contributors to the fund.

Prof. Jordan will hold a conference soon with Dr. E. E. Prince of Canada, the English member of the commission, and an effort will be made to lay the proposed regulations before Congress for approval, this winter.

SHOTS IN STUDENT ROW.

VIENNA, Nov. 23.—The German and Italian students attending the University of Vienna came into serious collision in the university precincts this morning, and before the police drove them away, revolvers had been freely used and 150 students were wounded. The trouble was occasioned by an Italian demonstration in favor of the establishment of an Italian university at Trieste.

STORK GIFT TO PRESIDENT.

Indiana Trapper Secures Fine Specimen and Will Send It to Washington.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ELWOOD (Ind.) Nov. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] George Myers, an old-time trapper and fisherman of this city, has caught a fine specimen of the stork species, the only one ever seen alive here. He will send it to President Roosevelt.

The bird is white and as large as a full-grown turkey hen, having a bill or beak like a kingfisher. How the strange bird came to be in the swamps adjacent to White River, where it was found in an apparent dazed condition, is a puzzle.

CANNON MAKES PLEDGE.

evening a short time ago I was walking along the street with a naval officer whose name is a household word from one end of the country to the other. He made very pointed allusions to comments recently contained in certain newspapers and periodicals respecting the condition of our battleships and their alleged faulty design. I asked him to put his remarks into writing, which he did. He was Rear-Admiral Schley."

Rear-Admiral Capps then read parts of the following letters. Admiral Dewey's letter said in part:

EQUALS OF ALL.

"Of the battleships designed during the last few years I have spoken and shall continue to speak in the highest terms. The fleet of battleships now going around the world are of the older type and some of them have lived half the life, as commonly estimated, of a battleship in the first line.

"Battleship building is one of the most progressive of modern arts, and old ships are not equal to new, but the vessels which have recently been received with such marked consideration in South America, New Zealand, Australia, Japan and China are the equals of foreign vessels of their date of construction and often their superiors. There is probably nowhere in the world today a fleet of sixteen battleships of greater fighting strength."

CRITICS CARPERS.

Admiral Schley's letter said in part: "I am wholly out of sympathy with those critics who find nothing good in what exists and whose policy appears to be destructive rather than constructive. I have watched this discussion in the press and periodicals with the interest born of a lifetime of service under the flag, and I am satisfied that it proceeded from a spirit of 'censurousness' that overlooks the fact that no such thing as a perfect ship floats the seas now, nor is it possible to create one, any more than it is possible to find a perfect man.

"I take exception to much of the adverse criticism today because the fact is withheld that many of the minor defects adverted to were incidental to the type when those vessels were constructed, and they are common to a large percentage of the war vessels of every other power. But the inference sought to be established that our ships are inferior in their class to those in foreign navies is unfair, untrue and unpatriotic. One has only to glance over some of the foreign vessels to discover that there are some critics who seem to think that all is not well in these matters on their side of the ocean. Only last summer, I met an Englishman who wanted to know all about this insurrection as he called it, going on in the periodicals over our navy. He volunteered the information that we had the best ships in the world and it was a pity we did not know it."

FIGHTING BOB SPEAKS.

Admiral Evans's letter said in part: "After an experience with our fleet which few men have had, I am convinced that our ships, taken as a whole, are equal to, or superior to those built by any other country. Of course, our first ships are not the equals of the last foreign ships and no sane man would expect them to be, but date for date of design, they are the equals of any except in the case of our latest designed ships, where the great superiority of ours is beyond question. As fighting machines our designs of the last few years show great advantages over anything proposed abroad. I have made it my business to study the recent criticisms of our navy published in various magazines and papers, and I have no words with which to tell you how unjust, misleading and silly they are. If ever the results of the Newport conference become known I think you will find that a majority of the officers agree with me."

NEW IRISH LAND BILL.

Chief Secretary Tells Parliament That He Needs Nine Hundred Millions for Work.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Another Irish Land Bill to facilitate the carrying out of the previous land purchase act was introduced in the House of Commons by Chief Secretary Birrell tonight. He said he had found that the estimate of $500,000,000 made by one of his predecessors was wholly inadequate, as $900,000,000 would be required for this end.

The completed transfers of land up to October 31 represented $125,000,000, which had practically exhausted the amount realized in the issues of land stock. Pending transactions represented $260,000,000.

The secretary proposed an issue of new 3-per-cent. stock in order to carry out the pending deals. He recognized, he continued, that he was engaged in an expensive policy, but he declared that the land purchase had worked such marvels in Ireland that the government did not hesitate to ask the House of Commons to add materially to the burdens of the Imperial Exchequer, which, he proposed, should assume liabilities for the entire loss occasioned by the issue of the stock below par. This loss would total $3,500,000 a year.

RAILROAD RECORD.

STATE FINDS FANCIES DEAR.

Oklahoma Beginning to Have a Change of Heart.

Radicalism Costs Community Huge Sum Yearly.

Attitude Toward Railroads Altering Fast.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A marked change in public sentiment toward railroads and other public utility corporations is reported in Oklahoma. It has been brought about by a bitter experience, but the lesson learned thereby is all the more likely to be profitable and permanent.

For nearly two years there has been an almost entire cessation of railroad building, so far as trunk-line systems are concerned. It is true that in this period fifty-six companies have been incorporated to build railroads in the State, but up to the present only a few of these have got beyond the paper stage, and actual railroad construction work has been almost at a standstill throughout the State.

This condition has hindered general business to such an extent that the Oklahoma Federation of Commercial Clubs, has taken up the matter. A circular has been issued by that body setting forth the facts in this regard and pointing out that if but 5000 miles of projected new roads had been built, it would have added $175,000,000 to the taxable wealth of the State, to say nothing of the sacrifices of private interests that has resulted from the hostility of the powers that be to successful railroad operation.

It has been demonstrated clearly to the satisfaction of the confederation that new capital cannot be attracted for investment in the State until the laws are settled upon a fair and conservative basis, so that capital invested may have reason to expect legitimate returns.

SCIENTISTS AT WORK IN THE ARID LANDS.

Under Supervision of Department of Agriculture the Enormous Work of Ascertaining the Possibilities of the Western Dry Belt Is Being Pushed Through to Completion.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Conditions existing in the arid lands of the West are to be learned through a systematic survey this winter by scientists of the Bureau of Soils, according to an interview by William E. Curtis with Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, printed in the Record-Herald today.

"One of the most interesting pieces of work we have done this year," said Secretary Wilson, "is to make inquiry into the possibilities of the dry region of the United States; that part of our country which lies west of the 100th meridian to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains.

"A great many homeseekers are going out into that country so that it occurred to us that it would be wise to ascertain what the conditions are through a survey by the scientists of the Bureau of Soils. The soil, as we know, varies from drifting white sand to valleys that will produce crops of certain kinds without irrigation.

"Nearly the whole work of the Agricultural Department is outside of irrigation. The Federal government has arranged to use the proceeds from the sale of public lands to irrigate the dry lands in the West, but after it has used all the water now flowing in all the steams there will still remain a very large percentage of that country that cannot be reached by irrigation and that comes under the care and purvue of this department.

"We have consequently surveyed, this summer, 40,000 square miles of the soil of North Dakota, and have finished the work in that State. Winter has come and our people now go south to the lower end of that dry belt in Texas and survey toward the north through the cold weather. In the spring they will go back to the North again and continue their work southward."

SLAIN BY HIS SWEETHEART.

Young Indiana Farmer Is Accidentally Shot and Instantly Killed by Young Woman.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

LOISVILLE (Ky.) Nov. 23.—Girth Spencer, aged 24 years, a young farmer living at Owen, Ind. was accidentally killed by Miss Ida Reinhart, to whom he was engaged to be married Christmas, at the girl's home in this city, yesterday.

The tragedy occurred shortly after Spencer had finished eating breakfast at the Reinhart home. Miss Reinhart, her mother, and Spencer, were sitting about the table talking when the conversation drifted to revolvers and their uses. Spencer said that he had no revolver, whereupon Miss Reinhart said she had one and she went to a trunk and procured the weapon.

There were two bullets in the revolver and Spencer removed both of them before looking at the revolver. He snapped it several times and handed it to Miss Reinhart who also snapped it several times. She then handed it to her mother. Mrs. Reinhart handed the revolver back to Spencer, who put the two bullets back into it. Miss Reinhart did not see him when he reloaded the gun. He handed it back to her and she took it in her hands again, began to pull the trigger and the third time the cartridge exploded and the bullet drove into the man's heart.

CELESTIAL MUTINY.

Chinese Soldiers Rebel at Nanking and Have to Be Bombarded by Gunboat.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PEKING, Nov. 23.—The first trustworthy report of the mutiny at Nanking was received here today. A battery of artillery and a squadron of cavalry, not exceeding 500 men, entrenched themselves, November 19, in an old fort and gave out that they had mutinied. For a time they put up a successful resistance, but a gunboat was brought to the scene and bombarded their position, whereupon they fled. Soldiers are now in pursuit.

NEW YORK CENTRAL GETS NEW VICE-PRESIDENT.

Charles F. Daly, Who Six Years Ago Was a Telegraph Operator for the Road, Is Now in Charge of Traffic Business of Tremendous System.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] From the position of telegraph operator to that of vice-president in charge of all traffic of the greatest railway system in the world under one management is the phenomenal record which has been achieved by Charles F. Daly of the New York Central lines.

The official announcement that Mr. Daly's jurisdiction as vice-president had been extended over the freight, mail and express traffic of the entire New York Central lines, effective today, was made today.

Mr. Daly's promotion advances him over a number of prominent traffic men who have been in the freight service of the company for a long time. It forms, however, no exception to his remarkable career of the past six years, during which time sheer merit and ability have advanced him in the face of the civil service rules which obtain on the New York Central lines, from the position of chief assistant general passenger agent of the Lake Shore road to his present commanding place. History has few if any parallels of such rapid advancement.

RAILWAY MEN HOLD MEETING.

NEW BRANCH OF FEDERATION HAS BRIEF SESSION.

Adjourns to Convene in Chicago Early Next Year When Serious Work Will Be Taken Up—First Gathering of Building Trades Is Held in Denver.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Nov. 23.—The railway employes' department of the American Federation of Labor, organized in the city last Saturday, held a brief session in this city today, completing its organization and then adjourned to meet in Chicago the second Monday in January at the Kaiserhof Hotel.

H. B. Perham, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, was made permanent president, and P. J. Flannery president of the International Association of Freight Handlers, secretary. The constitution and by-laws were agreed to in part and will be completed at the Chicago meeting.

Meeting for the first time since its organization a year ago at Washington, the building trades department of the American Federation of Labor began consideration of many questions referred to it by the parent organization.

Sixty delegates, representing nineteen trades and about 500,000 workers, were present at the opening session.

President James Kirby of Chicago presided. As a means of removing friction the department promises to prove one of the most efficient divisions of the federation.

The most difficult matters to be solved relate to the jurisdictions of the various trades represented.

One of the first matters which the convention will consider will be the jurisdiction between the steam fitters' trade and the plumbers' trade.

SERVIAN MINISTER RETURNS.

Leaves Italy for Belgrade—Completed His Mission to France and Russia.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

ROME, Nov. 23.—M. Milanovitch, the Servian Minister of Foreign Affairs, left here today for Belgrade, where he will report to King Peter on the result of his mission to London, Paris, and Rome.

The Foreign Minister has now eliminated from the Servian programme every claim that is not in harmony with the interests of those powers upon whom Servia confidently relies, namely Russia and France. Both of these states are interested in preventing the Austro-German advance in the Balkan Peninsula.

Great Britain, it is declared, is determined to prevent Germany from regaining the supremacy she enjoyed at Constantinople before the advent to power of the Young Turks. As for Italy, in spite of the fact that she is a member of the triple alliance, she is opposed to the idea of Austrian expansion on the Adriatic.

FOG CAUSES DEATH.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 23.—Dense fog in this city today resulted in the death of a well known woman artteacher, the serious injury of a prominent business man and several street car accidents. Miss Lillian McKee, supervisor of art in the North Side High School, and W. Bell, a wealthy photographer, were run down by a passenger train at Rosslyn Station, a suburb. Miss McKee was instantly killed and Mr. Bell was seriously injured.

TURKEY WANTS CONFESSION OF MURDERER.

Before Being Hanged Arizona Thug Said to Have Admitted Having Sent an Innocent Turkish Subject to Jail by Perjured Testimony—Consul Seeking Prisoner's Pardon.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 21.—Maurice E. Hall, consular agent for the Turkish government at San Francisco, has written Sheriff Pacheco at Tucson, asking for affidavits covering a confession made by E. W. Hawkins, prior to his hanging here last summer for the murder of A. C. Leonardt.

Hawkins then stated that he had given perjured testimony through which George Deem was convicted of burglary at Vallejo, Cal., and given a sentence of thirteen months. Hawkins took the whole blame for the burglary upon himself. Deem was a Turkish subject, and the consul for his government is taking up the matter, with the hope of securing his pardon from Gov. Gillett.

William Douglas has been convicted of robbing the Southern Pacific depot in Tucson of $312. The Southern Pacific, by civil suit, recovered $200 of the money, which had been deposited in a Benson bank.

The robbery was committed late in the evening, when the night clerk of the depot had stepped out for lunch. Douglas is a notorious criminal and only lately left the Territorial penitentiary, where he had served a sentence for robbing the postoffice at Mesa.

Capt. Harry Wheeler of the Arizona Rangers has just returned from Benson, where he has been investigating the shooting of a young man named Van Vaeler by Ranger Palmer.

Van Vaeler had resisted arrest and had pointed a shotgun at the officer. As a result, he was shot twice, in the side and wrist, though neither wound was serious. He managed to reach his brother's home, which he left just ahead of a visit from officers, and it is presumed he boarded a passing freight train and thus escaped.

The officers state that Van Vaeler has been an incessant reader of dime novels of the lowest type and that his ambition in life is to become a desperado. Though only 26 years old, he has had six encounters with the law.

R. E. Woodmansee, a Southern Pacific fireman, well known in Tucson, is visiting here, following a serious attack of typhoid, for which he was treated in the railroad hospital in El Paso. It was believed at one time that his death was only a matter of minutes, when Dr. Richmond of the hospital staff, as a last resort, proposed transfusion and supplied a pint of his own blood. The effect was all that had been hoped for, and Woodmansee's recovery began from that time.

It is now announced that the new railroad between Nogales and Cananea will be in operation about December 15. The road is about seventy-five miles long, fully twenty miles longer than the distance by the map.

OWEN KILDARE LOCKED UP ON WIFE'S COMPLAINT.

Playwright, Who Had Been in "The Bend Royal," Arrested in New York to Prevent His Spending Large Sums of Money Due Him for Articles.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On complaint of his wife Owen Kildare, the playwright and author, of No. 60 West One Hundred and First street, was taken to J. Hood Wright Hospital a prisoner today. After being locked up in the West One Hundredth street station, he was arraigned in the West Side court.

Shortly after midnight Mrs. Kildare appeared at the station-house and asked Lieut. Coughlan to have her husband arrested, as he had been drinking hard. She said that within a few days he would receive a large sum of money for articles which he had written and that she wanted him in a hospital, where he could not spend it.

Policeman Johnson was sent to the house and Dr. Rubel, who diagnosed the case as alcoholism, had him removed to J. Hood Wright Hospital.

Two hourds later Kildare was taken to the station, where he was locked up charged with intoxication.

The cells at the station recently were whitewashed and the writer succeeded in getting the most of the whitewash off while he was in the cell. When taken to court his clothing was covered with white.

"PLUNGER" LEWIS ARRESTED.

Husband of Original "Fluffy Ruffles" in Oregon Jail for Alleged Embezzlement.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) Nov. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arrested on two charges of forgery in Portland and wanted in New York for embezzlement, Harry Lewis, better known as "Plunger" Lewis, whose wife is the original "Fluffy Ruffles," is in Multnomah County Jail.

Lewis is said to have passed two forged checks in this city, but the charges may not be pressed, and it is likely the prisoner will be taken back to New York. He is charged with having absconded from Gotham with $2500 belonging to the "angel" of a theatrical company in which his wife was star.

Mrs. Lewis, formerly Leila Dell Amen, eighteen months ago captured the prize offered for the best photographic study of "Fluffy Ruffles." The national contest was then held and Mrs. Lennon again won. Dazzled by the fame of Mrs. Lewis went on the stage in a Fluffy Ruffles company, and the alleged embezzlement by Lewis followed.

Lewis has the reputation of having broken the bookies at Emeryville track to the tune of $160,000. His home is at 44 Ashland avenue, West Orange, N. J., two blocks from the home of Thomas A. Edison. Desire to make a big fortune is the reason assigned for Lewis's downfall.

An Iowa man, the head of a large business, retired not long ago, and came to Los Angeles.

Shortly after his arrival, he opened an account with this bank, depositing a considerable sum of money in his own and his wife's name--a joint account--against which either might draw funds.

Close application had impaired this man's health. He had worked too hard--"let go" a little too late.

After a short illness he passed away.

His estate was a difficult one to settle. He had many eastern holdings as well as property acquired here.

All was tied up in court proceedings on account of his death.

But his widow had ample funds to take care of her during the adjustment of his estate.

His forethought in opening a "joint account" provided for this.

The deposit became hers absolutely at his death. So she had no delay or difficulty in securing needed money at once.

A Joint Account may be opened by husband and wife at this bank—subject to the order of either one.

In the event of death of either, the balance belongs absolutely to the survivor.

Moving Picture Machine Explodes and Five Persons Are Hurt in Five-Cent Theater.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—One man will die, and four women are suffering serious injuries as a result of the explosion of a moving picture machine, which resulted in a fire and panic in a 5-cent theater last night. The injured are:

Nick Maros, operator of machine, left arm torn off, and badly burned; Grace Noonan, Agnes Oconnell, Mrs. Jerry Dailey and Pauline Hampton, Maros will die.

The theater was crowded with a large Sunday night audience when a film suddenly took fire and the picture machine exploded. In a moment the entire front of the theater was in flames. Maros, screaming, jumped out of his blazing cage and ran through a crowd of women and children, holding the stump of his bleeding arm.

A general rush for the exits started. Women were thrown down in the crush. Several women fainted and were half dragged, half carried out of the building by men and boys.

MRS. READ GAVE BAD CHECK.

Woman Who Tried to Blackmail Mrs. Phipps Also Attempted to Secure Bonds.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

DENVER, Nov. 22.—Through the medium of a photograph and her writing on the hotel register of the Auditorium Annex in Chicago, Mrs. Allen F. Read, who attempted to blackmail Mrs. Genevieve C. Phipps for $20,000, has been positively identified as the woman who, under the name of Alice Cheney Brown, attempted to secure in Chicago, November 2, from a brokerage firm, $20,000 worth of bonds on a bad check.

The story of Mrs. Read's attempt to defraud the Chicago brokerage firm will doubtless be offered in evidence in the prosecution which will be brought against her on a charge of assault with intent to kill and assault with attempt to rob, which will be pressed as soon as her condition is such that she can appear in court.

The board of control of the Dry Farming Congress, which is to meet in Cheyenne, Wyo., February 23, announces that requests for accommodations are coming from various sources, indicating a widespread belief that the Congress is to be held this month and will be attended by about 1000 delegates. The board is much concerned over the persistence of the announcement of a wrong date.

EVIDENCE?

ACCUSED OF FORGING, CHEWS UP PAPERS.

ESLICK, a young man of prepossessing appearance, who was arrested in El Reno, Okla., on a charge of forgery, chewed up a receipt which might have sent him to the penitentiary, when he was taken about 10:30 o'clock last night to the detectives' office at Union Station. After a struggle which he was choked until he was black in the face, the detectives recovered the receipt, which will be held as evidence. The check could not be declared forged, as the receipt was for dues in the Elks' Lodge at El Reno.

Eslick is said to have received a telegram received last night from Sheriff L. A. Chambers, who was indicted for forgery a number ago. Through a letter to a woman in El Reno, Eslick became known. He was in the Eureka Café, on Main street, where he was singing.

When Eslick was taken he denied his identity. While the detectives were questioning him, he quickly pulled out his pocketbook, and taking out the check and receipt, crumpled them up and thrust them in his mouth. Four detectives jumped on him, and he was throttled and thrown to the floor. Eslick continued chewing until he was exhausted and forced to give up.

He was immediately searched. A number of letters of recommendation were found on him beside the credentials of a Pullman conductor. As near as can be learned from the local offices, Eslick is not a conductor, and these credentials are declared forgeries, which he put to profitable use.

Eslick came here about three weeks ago, the detectives say. He has been singing in the Eureka for several nights, and had a two weeks' engagement.

Sheriff Chambers wired that he will leave immediately with requisition papers. Eslick told the detectives that he will fight extradition.

No imitation of Fels-Naptha can purify anything.

Fels-Naptha soap purifies the clothes.

Which alone is reason enough why you should wash with Fels-Naptha,—even if Fels-Naptha didn't make the clothes look better—even if it didn't save them—even if it didn't cut out half the labor.

Everybody knows that water may look perfectly clear, yet contain endless disease germs. Likewise, it is true that fabrics may be washed till they look perfectly clean, yet not be purified.

Fels-Naptha takes out both the dirt you can see, and the impurities you can't see.

Germ-life cannot exist in a cake of Fels-Naptha. Germs cannot live in the suds of Fels-Naptha, nor survive in clothes soaked for thirty minutes in water containing Fels-Naptha. Yet there is nothing in Fels-Naptha injurious to clothes or hands.

No other soap ever made is anything like Fels-Naptha. Remember, it comes in the red and green wrapper; and, when you wash with it, you are to follow the simple directions printed on the wrapper. Use cold or lukewarm water—never hot. This means, that the clothes are not to be boiled or scalded.

A Family Problem.

Mr. Newly Wed (indignantly)—"I told you to send everything to the laundry. What's the use of getting your hands in that condition? You'll be old before your time!"

Mrs. Newly Wed—"Yes, I know, George, but we can't afford it, and I might just as well do some of the lighter things myself."

Anty Drudge—"What foolishness. Use Fels-Naptha soap and do them all at home. Take Anty's advice. It's putting your hands in hot water that cracks them and the everlasting rubbing on the washboard that causes them to swell. Then, too, Fels-Naptha soap takes all the slavery out of wash-day."

Fels-Naptha users can never be induced to use an imitation the second time.

14-KARAT SOLID GOLD JEWELRY

There is, of course, a great deal of cheap gold jewelry on the market, a great deal of which is hardly worth possessing.

In buying Gold Jewelry, as in buying Diamonds, it is well worth while to buy from a dependable store, a store that is well known to carry reliable goods, and nothing but reliable goods.

It is really better to own a little good Jewelry than to own much of the shoddy articles that are manufactured to sell and that have very little intrinsic worth, and in place of being a source of satisfaction in years to come, only prove a disappointment.

Gifts That Do You Credit

In making gifts to others it is hardly necessary to suggest how important it is to select that which is known to be reliable. An article of Gold Jewelry in a box bearing the name Brock & Feagans is sure to be more appreciated by the recipient, and is absolute assurance to both the purchaser and the one receiving it that it is the best.

It is not possible to buy anywhere else better Gold Jewelry than we sell, and there are few stores in America that handle so complete and carefully selected an assortment.

TIGERS TAKE FINAL GAME.

Occidental Defeats Pomona in Strenuous Contest.

Flukes Cause Excitement in Ranks of Rooters.

Wieman Knocked Unconscious With Broken Rib.

Occidental College, 16; Pomona College, 11.

For the third consecutive time, the men of Pomona College went down to defeat before the Occidental Tigers in their annual football game at Baer Park yesterday afternoon.

Clean, strenuous football, marked with flukes that kept the college partisans in a frenzy of excitement and made the outcome of the game uncertain until the referee's final whistle had pierced the fast-falling gloom, was played by both elevens and the men gave the best they had to uphold the honor of their respective alma maters.

Hard-earned touchdowns by Capt. Wieman and Collins and a tally on a 35-yard run by Fred Thomson, with Conrad running interference, gave Occidental the victory. Touchdowns by Capt. Taylor and Weinland on long runs made possible by a quick grasp of situation, netted Pomona the points with which she held the Tigers to a tie until near the end of the game.

Capt. Wieman of Occidental was carried from the field in the second half, rendered helpless by a broken rib and severe battering. He played a magnificent game for the Tigers, throwing himself into the contest without reserve and gaining long distances by his superior punting.

Nearly 2000 persons surrounded the gridiron. The stands were crowded, and the spectators overflowed onto the field. On the side of the field opposite the bleachers a solid line of automobiles, gaily decorated with college colors, stretched from one goal line to the other. The cheering and yelling were the best that has been heard in the South in years.

From one end to the other, particularly in the middle, where the rooters were gathered, the bleachers were alive with waving pennants and banners. The Occidental black-and-orange hats and the Pomona white-and-blue regalia formed solid banks of color that shone brilliantly in the sunlight and loomed up brightly across the field in the dusk of the closing moments of the contest. Each rooting section was augmented by a band and the singing and cheering never ceased.

GINGERY WEATHER.

The gridiron was in perfect condition, and the chilly air, although making it rather uncomfortable for the spectators, put ginger into the players. A stiff wind blew up the field and favored the team kicking in the same direction. The progress of the ball was shown on a blackboard back of the sidelines, and the spectators were kept posted regarding the number of downs and the yards to be gained.

With the exception of a period of about ten minutes at the beginning of the second half, Occidental outplayed the Claremonters in all departments of the game. The Tigers started off with a rush, and by a series of forward passes and line bucks rushed the ball over Pomona's goal line nine minutes after the game began. Seven minutes later they again pushed the visitors across the line, and the Occidental rooting section went wild with excitement. Pomona seemed powerless to resist the advances of the Tigers, who swept down the field with a bewildering variety of plays.

But on the first play after the kick-off following the Tigers' second tally, an Occidental forward pass was seized by Capt. Taylor of Pomona, and he sprinted twenty yards for a touchdown. The Presbyterians' cheering of their last score had not yet subsided when Taylor made the unexpected score, and the Pomona rooters, who were sinking into despair, jumped up and yelled like madmen. Soon after, when the ball was in the center of the field, and both teams apparently were fighting even, a fumble in the Occidental backfield gave Weinland an opportunity to scoop up the ball and sprint seventy yards for a touchdown.

FORWARD PASSES.

Both elevens resorted frequently to the forward pass, with varying success. Occidental executed a beautiful triple pass early in the first half that put the ball on Pomona's 5-yard line and made possible the Tigers' first tally. The Tigers also gained on fake kicks. However, the teams principally resorted to line attacks, in which Occidental proved far superior to her opponents. Wieman, Carus, Collins and McDermont gaining four times as many yards on line formations as Pomona. Now and then Becker, Metz or Fuller would hit the Presbyterian frontier for substantial distances, but they were unable to rush the ball steadily.

Wieman far outpunted Shutt. The Pomonan frequently booted short, hard drives instead of trying for distance, giving the Pomona ends a good opportunity to recover the ball, but the Tigers usually blocked the ends and the backfield men returned the ball for gains.

Pomona was strong between the tackle positions, but even here the Tigers were able to make long gains at times. The Claremonters twice held Occidental for downs within their 5-yard line, but twice in the same territory the Tigers bucked the ball over for scores.

Occidental lost a touchdown in the second half by the failure of Fred Thomson to observe a simple rule of the game. Mahoney fumbled a punt on Pomona's 30-yard line, and Thomson grabbed the ball and ran behind his opponents' goal posts. He failed to touch the ball to the ground, however, and Lorbeer tackled him, causing the ball to bounce from his hands. A long argument followed, and the referee called the result of the play a touchback.

With the exception of this one misplay, Thomson put up a strong game for the Tigers. He followed the ball closely and used his great strength in every scrimmage, frequently pulling he man with the ball several yards after he had been tackled. When Wieman was taken from the game, Thomson was moved to fullback, and from this position he hit the line for heavy gains.

CONRAD A STAR.

Conrad, the Occidental center, was in every play. He often was down the field faster than the ends, and followed the ball better than any player on the field. Wienland of Pomona played a strong defensive game, and in this respect held his own with Conrad.

Coach Stanten of Pomona used two sets of ends. Parker and Benner started the game, and Lorbeer and Gore relieved them. Benner was the first man to be taken out of the game. In attempting to break the interference on an end run, he was knocked out, and was unable to continue in his position.

Pomona used three men at left halfback. Shutt began the game in the position, but he was handicapped by a wrenched shoulder and only lasted one half. Mahoney took his place, but he was knocked out, and W. Tangeman finished the game. Valle was uncertain in handling punts, but managed the team well on the offense. Fuller, the husky Pomona tackle, hit the line hard on cross-tackle bucks.

Collins and Carus made long distances for Occidental on bucks outside of the tackle positions. Both men got away for several long runs through holes which the linemen opened. Collins was very fast in starting, frequently reaching the line of scrimmage before the Pomona defense had time to shift to meet the play. Carus went through surrounded with good interference.

Thomas, the Occidental quarterback, ran the team well and made several pretty runs in returning punts. Very little fumbling occurred in the Tiger's backfield. Smart, the Occidental giant guard, was up against a tartar in Clarke of Pomona and they had a fierce struggle with honors about even.

THE GAME BEGINS.

The Pomona team came on the field at 2:30 o'clock, followed a few minutes later by the Presbyterian squad. Both teams were greeted with deafening cheers by their supporters. Capt. Taylor of Pomona won the toss, and the visitors chose to defend the west goal with the sun and wind at their backs. At 2:40, Wieman kicked off for Occidental. Shortly after, Occidental got the ball on Pomona's 45-yard line on Valle's fumble. Wieman, Collins, and McDermont gained short distances, and then a beautiful triple-pass, Collins to Carus to Thomas, landed the ball on Pomona's 5-yard line. On the next play, Capt. Wieman went through the line for a touchdown. Wieman kicked the goal. Score, 6 to 0.

The ball remained about the center of the field some time, and then Wieman kicked fifty-five yards over Pomona's goal line. The Occidental captain got Shutt's kickout on Occidental's 50-yard line and returned the ball forty yards by a spectacular run. Collins, Wieman, and Carus smashed through the line for gains and from the 4-yard line Collins took the ball over for the Tigers' second tally. Wieman missed the goal. Score, 11 to 0.

Pomona's first score came two minutes later when Taylor intercepted a forward pass and ran twenty yards across the Tigers' line. Fuller failed to kick the goal. Score, 11 to 5.

The Claremonters' second tally was the result of a seventy-yard run by Weinland. Occidental had the ball on Pomona's 50-yard line and the ball was thrown back for a triple-pass. The play was bungled and Weinland gathered up the ball and sprinted down the field, crossing the Occidental goal line before he was overtaken. Gore kicked the goal. Score, 11 to 11.

Pomona began the second half with better fighting spirit and rushed the Tigers down to their 1-yard line, but Occidental held and Wieman kicked out of danger, and then the Tigers again got the jump on their opponents and Pomona never again got within striking distance of Occidental's goal.

THOMSON'S FLUKE.

Thomson, on a fumble, ran thirty yards across Pomona's line for an easy score, but by failing to touch the ball to the ground, he lost the points for his team. However, he redeemed himself later by scoring what proved to be the winning tally. On another fumble on Pomona's 25-yard line, he ran behind Conrad's interference to the goal line. He failed to kick the goal. Score, 16 to 11.

Darkness rapidly descended upon the field and the spectators could not distinguish the men in the scrimmages. Occidental was again menacing the Pomona goal line through a long run by Collins, when time was called.

The Occidental rooters swarmed down on the field and held a serpentine dance. The long, winding line of students, bedecked in orange and black hats and pennants, whooped and yelled as it circled about the field, presenting a marked contrast to the Pomona rooters who sat silent in the bleachers. The teams attended a theater last night. The line-up:

Length of halves, 35 minutes. Touchdowns, Wieman, Collins, F. Thomson, Wienland, Taylor. Goals from touchdowns, Wieman, Gore. Referee, Drager of U.S.C. Law School; umpire, Reinhard of California; field judge, Wilson of Pasadena High School; linesman, Heath of Chicago; timer, Robb.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Occidental gained nearly four times the ground made by Pomona on straight line bucks, with a total of sixty-two bucks, netting 256 yards, or an average of 4.6 yards.

Pomona bucked twenty times, netting seventy-four yards, or an average of 3.7 yards.

Pomona averaged thirty-one yards on twenty-five punts, netting a total of 785 yards.

Occidental punted seventeen times for a total of 673 yards or an average of thirty-nine yards.

Occidental manipulated the forward pass three times successfully out of ten attempts, gaining an average of 12.3 yards.

Pomona failed four times to negotiate the long pass, making but one good gain of fifteen yards, and two inconsequential gains of one yard on two other attempts.

Coach Stanton of Pomona attributed the defeat of the Claremonters to superior driving power of the Occidental backs. "Occidental deserved to win," said Stanton. "Twice Pomona had the ball on the Presbyterians' five-yard line and our backs hadn't the stamina to push the ball over the line. This condition has been present since the beginning of the season, but I could find no remedy to overcome the deficiency."

Capt. Taylor of Pomona said after the game: "Our fellows put up a hard, gritty fight, but the backfield of our opponents was too strong, and our line could not consistently resist the determined hammering. The element of luck was present throughout the game, but I think Occidental fully shared the advantages gained from this source."

Referee Draper was alone in his decision in calling Occidental's third touchdown a touchback. The two remaining officials declared after the game that the touchdown should have been allowed as Thomson had called "down" after he had crossed the line and before he was tackled.

Draper claimed the touchback on the assertion that the ball was not dead, and as he was the only official holding power to declare a touchdown his decision was final.

President Baer refused to discuss the legality of the decision, but said concerning the outcome of the game: "I am very much pleased with the result, and can start for New York tomorrow feeling that when our football eleven is called on for hard work it can be depended upon to play the game. I am glad the season closed with a victory for Occidental."

Coach Gorton said regarding the game: "It seemed all the luck, both official and unofficial, was with Pomona, and I think the score should have been much larger for Occidental. Our boys played a good game with things breaking against them."

Center Weinland's unexpected fluke in scoring the second touchdown for Pomona was almost a repetition of his feat in tying the score in the Pomona-U.S.C. game at Claremont. Certainly the effect was the same on the bleachers, and pandemonium reigned for several minutes.

Elton and Stone, two Occidental rooters, made a hit in their gaudy clown costumes as official scorers.

The orange pennants of Occidental mingled their bright hues in striking contrast to the long blue and white streamers of Pomona, and the harmony of color was only rendered discordant by the ear-splitting music from the rival bands.

A feature of the Pomona noise fest was the concerted singing of the college boys' glee club, whose well-organized efforts gave great strength to the blue and white singing.

The Pomona rooters are building hopes already for a winning team next year. With the exception of Weinland and Taylor, the members of this season's 'varsity are all enrolled in either the freshmen or sophomore classes, and practically the entire squad of this year will be on hand next season.

SAINTS TUNED UP.

HEMPEL'S TEAM IN SHAPE.

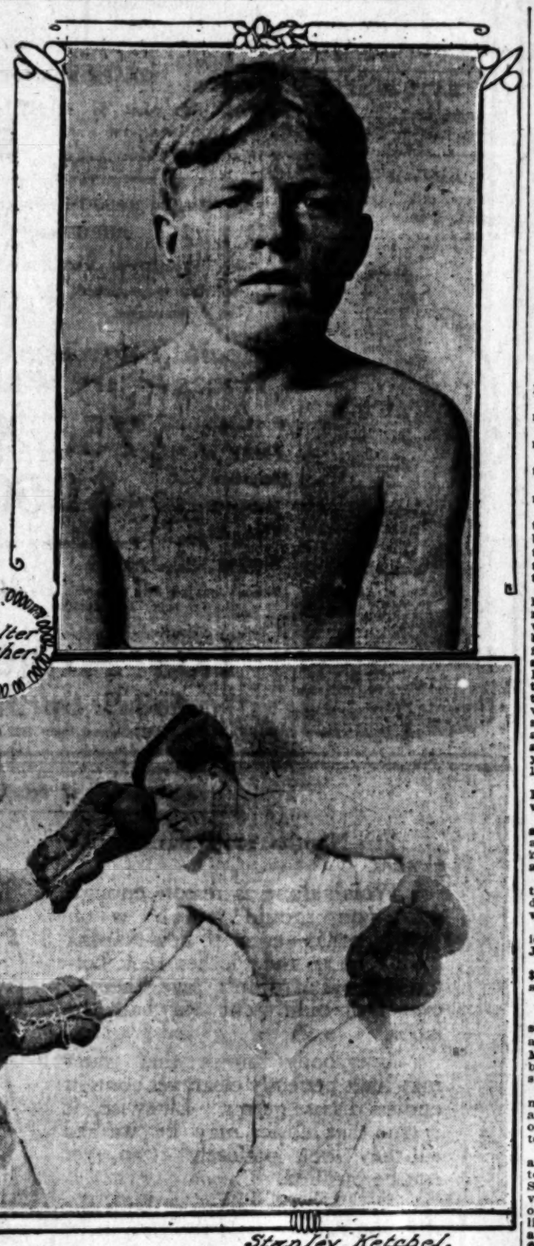
The St. Vincent's football team will hold its last hard practice today before the game with the Indians Thanksgiving Day. Coach Hempel has whipped the eleven into the best possible shape and he believes the men are in condition to play their best game of the season.

The 'varsity lined up against a scrub aggregation composed of twenty-five players last night, and the large number of opponents gave the Saints a good opportunity to test their defensive and offensive powers. The open formations were worked with greater precision than at any other time this season, and Hempel believes his men have fully mastered this department of the game. However, Hempel does not believe that it is safe to rely too much on the open formations and the Saints have been drilled in a large variety of closer plays.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate 6000 persons at the game Thursday. The Indians have always had many supporters in this city and Coach Warner believes the band of Riverside rooters will be strongly augmented by the local friends of the braves.

American Defeated.

MELBOURNE, Nov. 23.—A. F. Wilding of Australia today defeated F. B. Alexander, the American, in the final of the Victorian singles in the tennis championship contests, 4-6, 6-0, 6-2, 6-2.



Walter Fisher

CONSUMPTION COST BILLION

This the Annual Loss to the Nation, Say Experts at the Tuberculosis Congress.

According to Prof. Irving Fisher of Yale, the "Great White Plague" costs over one billion dollars a year. He estimates that consumption kills 138,000 every year in the United States. This is equal to the deaths from typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, appendicitis, meningitis, diabetes, smallpox, and cancer all put together.

Consumption is undoubtedly infectious and, like Pneumonia and Diphtheria, is usually contracted in winter when closed doors and windows cause impure air. Careful ventilation and the use of a reliable disinfectant are the best preventatives. The last thing at night pour into the traps of the closets, wash-basins, sinks, etc., a little Platt's Chlorides. All suspected places should be freely sprinkled with a mixture of one (1) part Platt's Chlorides and ten (10) parts of water. Platt's Chlorides is an odorless, colorless liquid disinfectant which destroys foul odors and disease-germs. It is sold everywhere in full quart bottles, and is prepared only by Henry B. Platt, 42 Cliff St., New York.

FAST BOUTS ON TONIGHT.

McCarey Cards Good Fighters Who Promise Action.

Three Are Good Enough for Main Event Turns.

Welsh Has Hard Time Making Weight for Attell.

The order of the boxing bouts at McCarey's pavilion tonight is:

Arthur Collins and Jim Cameron, six rounds.

Frank Mantell and Roy Page, six rounds.

Walter Fisher and Danny Webster, ten rounds.

Jim Flynn and Battling Johnson, ten rounds.

With one exception this card looks to be the best balanced ever given by Manager McCarey. Roy Page looks to be no match for Frank Mantell if the latter is in any shape at all, but the others are all main events.

Jim Flynn and Battling Johnson have finished training for their ten-round boxing bout at McCarey's pavilion, this evening. The Russian has been working harder than ever before to get in shape and he is perfectly satisfied with his chances to beat Flynn and he declared last evening that he would put Flynn out before the ten rounds were over. Some of those who have witnessed the work of Johnson since he has been at San Pedro are converted to his way of thinking and the steady offerings on Johnson yesterday ran the odds up to 7½ to 10.

Tim McGrath came down from San Francisco to handle Flynn and he is well pleased with his condition.

"Flynn is looking remarkably well and I expect to see him stow Johnson away in this fight; he is strong and has the punch and I am backing him against the Russian."

McGrath was telling what he thought of Johnson's chances, yesterday afternoon, when Jim Gaines came within earshot.

"I guess you'll have to change your idea when the fight is over," said Joanson's manager.

"Why," said McGrath, "I'll bet you $200 to $200 that Jim knocks Johnson out."

COVERS THE BET.

This was too much for Gaines to stand and he drew down the requisite amount and covered McGrath's wager. McGrath offered to double the amount but Gaines declared that this would be sufficient.

Flynn did a little road work in the morning and some light exercise in the afternoon. He weighed 165 at the end of his training and looked much better than when he fought Barry.

The bout between Danny Webster and Walter Fisher is exciting much interest among the fans. Although the San Bernardino boy is a prime favorite at the pavilion there are many of the patrons of the game who believe that he has undertaken too big a contract in trying to down a fast fighter of Webster's class. Fisher, however, is nothing daunted and says he will go after Webster and try to end the battle in the early rounds.

Danny Webster appears to be more confident of beating Fisher than any other fighter he has met in the last six months, and with the defeat at the hands of Wolgast still foremost in his thoughts Webster will try to floor Fisher within the first three rounds for the count. He has shown great improvement in his workouts at East Side while training for this battle, and his following at the camp to a man sees victory ahead for Webster.

Mantell has trained down to good condition, and expects to make short work of Roy Page, who has been presuming enough to face him in a six-round encounter. Page has been training with Jim Cameron.

The first bout will be between Jim Cameron and Arthur Collins. Although placed in the ring as a curtain-raiser it ought to prove one of the best fights of the evening, and both of the dusky fellows will fight for a purpose. Cameron hopes to show class, so as to get on with some of the important heavies, and Collins must whip Cameron decisively in order to stay in the division in which he fights.

ATTELL IS RESTING.

WELSH WORKING HARD.

Abe Attell quit work yesterday afternoon, after a two weeks' training siege, and if he is to be believed, the featherweight champion is in better shape for his meeting with Freddie Welsh tomorrow night than he ever was in his life. Attell tips the beam close to 125 pounds, and expects to add a little to this between now and weighing in time at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Welsh camp was the busier place of the two, and Freddie put in a good afternoon, with the regular apparatus and in boxing with Mike Kutchos and Young Kid McCoy. Freddie is still hovering around the 132-pound mark, and will have to lose some of this in order to scale at 120 or below when called on seven hours before he goes against Attell in Vernon.

At Jack Doyle's Southside club Attell was content to take things easy and the fight bugs who were attracted by news of the final workout had but small chance to see the champion in action. A little boxing with Young Dougherty and some toying with the gymnasium paraphernalia was about all the champion allowed himself, but the bugs were satisfied that his condition cannot be improved upon.

SPORTS DOUBTFUL.

As the time for the battle grows near, the betting is becoming more mixed, and all the money that was in sight a few days ago is now in hiding. This is because most of the sports who favor one man or the other are laying back hoping to beat the price, and not until real fight time will the bank rolls be uncovered. The latest quotations still favor Attell at odds of ten to eight.

Attell's plans from now until the fight call for a bit of amusement on his part. Accompanied by a party of friends, the Hebrew will come to town tonight and take in one of the theaters, and on the return to the Southside club he will try and take all the rest he can. Abie says he was never in better shape, and if he loses it will be because he has underrated Welsh and the latter is faster than was thought.

Welsh plans to do a little work both this morning and in the afternoon. Tomorrow he will come up from the beach early and give himself a test on the scales, and if the 130 pounds is not right at the notch he will visit a bathhouse and "sweat" off what remains by the time he weighs in. The Englishman figures he can do this and not weaken himself, as he has plenty of time between the weight process and ringside to pick up a couple of pounds and also to eat all he cares for.

The preliminary boys are all reported in good shape, and some lively milling is expected from them. Mike Kutchos and Monte Attell are a pair which should put up a fast bout, as the Greek has improved a bit since his last appearance and is tough game for any of them. Hobo Dougherty and Kid Arcy, who open the evening's sport, have plenty of friends and will serve to keep the crowd busy while waiting for the bigger attractions.

Fred Bradley Beaten.

PHILADELPHIA (Pa.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Al Kubisk of Michigan tonight stopped Fred Bradley of Boston in the fourth round of a bout at the West End A. C. It was a slugging match pure and simple. Kubisk knocked Bradley down twice in the third round and the bell saved the Bostonian. In the fourth round Kubisk weakened Bradley with body punches and then dropped him with a right chop to the jaw.

Fight to a Draw.

SAVANNAH (Ga.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Harry Stone of Brooklyn and Al Schumacher of New York fought fifteen rounds to a draw before the Southern Athletic Club tonight. The men met at 130 pounds and both showed gameness and cleverness. Many hard blows were landed and time and again each man was staggered. Both, though, showed fine staying powers, recovering without delay from the damage done.

STEAMSHIP CITY OF SAVANNAH, AT SEA, Nov. 23.—[By Wireless.] An ocean race which is on between the steamships City of Savannah and City of Columbus, has relegated the [illegible] auto race to a place of secondary importance with the passengers of both boats.

The City of Savannah, which has been chartered by the Automobile Club of America, left New York at 10 o'clock Sunday night, six hours later than the Columbus, also bound for Savannah. Soon after the ships left the port clubmen on the Savannah suggested a race and when wireless communication was established, sporting spirits on the Columbus covered all the money that was put up on the club ship. At 3 o'clock tonight the Savannah is less than two hours behind her rival.

SAVANNAH (Ga.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mad with the fever of racing, and watching the racers, persons occupied the grand stands and the automobile course this afternoon to witness the final practice for the fight-car race on Wednesday and the Grand Prize race of Thursday, both under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America.

Besides the thousands there were perhaps as many more scattered about the course, many of them at the turns, to see the dare-devil drivers send their cars hurling over the route. It is at the turns the crowds have found that skidding occurs, and there they congregate, looking for the thrills that are even keener than those in the great bursts of speed shown on the straightaways.

Patriotic hearts swelled today, for the best practice time by both the foreign cars and the light ones was made by American cars and the American drivers. The hope that an American car may yet win out was given impetus, and it is now strong where before it was lagging.

Willie Haupt, in the Chadwick, negotiated the long course, 35.13 miles, in 30:56, was the fastest time, not only of the day, but of the entire series of practice.

The times made for the long course by the big cars were as follows:

Lancaster, in a Fiat, 21:30; Erle, in a Fiat, 21:06; Strang, in a Renault, 22:—; Fetes, in a Renault, 22:43.

All the cars are for both races are here and there is nothing to indicate that they will not start.

HIGH TIDE AT TEN.

Naples Regatta to Start at Early Hour to Get Best Results for the Rowing Events.

Because of tide being at the full height at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, the first two heats of the four-oared race at Naples will be pulled off as soon after that hour as possible. The time heretofore has been given out as 11 o'clock. The two heats will follow each other so as to give the winning crew in each event as much time, and as nearly as possible an equal amount of rest for the final struggle, which will come along about three hours afterward.

George Retzer is sticking to the work for the single gig event, and will be a dangerous man in the struggle for the title of Coast champion at the single sculls. He has been showing remarkable speed in the single shell, and Treloar expresses himself as well pleased with his work.

There will be a single gig event for the championship of the rowing club, between four of the oarsmen not in the crew. All were down practicing this week, and will furnish entertainment for a few minutes. Those who will row are A. K. Clymer, A. P. Lazerous, James G. Stafford and Chester Lawrence. None have been training very much, and the race will be one of a happy-go-lucky character.

HOPEFUL OF WINNING.

SAN DIEGO ENTHUSIASTIC.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 23.—Accompanied by a sprinkling of enthusiastic members of the San Diego Rowing Club, the crew selected to compete for the Thanksgiving trophies in the Naples regatta Thursday will leave Wednesday for Los Angeles.

With several weeks' practice in a new shell specially fitted for the purpose the local crew is in the pink of condition and the veterain trainer, Joe Courtney, expects honors to come to San Diego.

After considerable sifting of material the San Diego crew will be made up of Gerald Baldwin, stroke; Edgar Dodge (Capt.,) No. 3; Lon Hackelman, No. 2; Dick Jessop, bow, and W. Bowler, coxswain.

In addition to the four-oared crew, Harry Vaughan, senior champion sculler of the Coast, will defend his title. He has trained as often and hard as his limited time will allow and is confident that whoever his competitor may be he will be able to outdistance him.

On account of illness Harvey Slocum was forced to give up training and will not defend his title as the junior champion sculler.

DOG MEETING TONIGHT.

Permanent Organization to Be Effected of Protective Association for Dog Owners.

A meeting of all dog owners of the city will be held this evening at the Hollenbeck Hotel to perfect the organization of a dog protective association, the main object of which is to afford dog owners protection from theft and poisoning of animals.

Preliminary steps were taken for a permanent organization at the initial meeting held last week, and judging from the widespread interest manifested by local dog owners in the plan the proposed association will be at work in short order.

What the promoters claim is needed to prevent the frequent cases of theft and poisoning of valuable dogs is some system that will give the owner the protection that it is claimed he is entitled to in return for the revenue he is obliged to pay over to the city administration for special licenses.

It is not the plan of the interested promoters to antagonise the city officials, but the desire is to secure a forceful preventitive that will put a stop to the too frequent cases of poisoning and theft.

NELSON ARRESTED.

SENSATIONAL DOG FIGHT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—Battling Nelson, the prize fighter, was arrested in Burnham today on warrants charging disorderly conduct and resisting an officer.

The charges come as a sequel to a dog fight which was raided at the village of Burnham near Chicago last night. Nelson, it is said, being one of the spectators, escaped while other arrests were being made.

After two bull terriers had torn one another for fifty-six minutes and had been prevented from rushing into a death grapple by the lightweight pugilistic champion, the Trustees of the village of Burnham, with a dozen armed deputies at their back, broke into the City Hall in which the fight was held.

The 500 spectators jumped to their feet and a wild rush for the doors and windows followed. Several shots were fired in the air by the deputies, but they could not stop the stampede.

Though the room in which the fight took place was on the second floor of the building, scores of men did not hesitate to drop from windows, one of the fugitives suffering a broken leg. He was hauled to a waiting buggy by companions and was driven rapidly away.

The other men in the audience, made up for the most part of "followers of the sport," formed flying wedges and charged the Trustees and deputies in approved football style (old rules,) and broke through the ring of officers guarding the exits.

Then began a helter skelter fight from the village, some getting away in carriages, a few in automobiles, and a regular army on foot. The Trustees and deputies, however, managed to capture nine men.

Battling Nelson escaped the same fate by what his followers might call a new exhibition of ring generalship. When the scramble began the battler bethought himself of a deputy's star presented to him by an admirer in O'Baro, Mex., last year. Pinning this on his coat he mingled with the raiders and finally slipped from the place unobserved.

WELSH-M'FARLAND.

GANS MAY BE TAKEN ON.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Freddie Welsh may be the next opponent of Packy McFarland, provided Welsh beats Attell in Los Angeles Thanksgiving. A bout with the Briton, under those conditions, was offered to Manager Harry Gilmore, Jr., by wire today, and he immediately accepted. The only stipulation he makes is that Welsh agrees to 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Gilmore returned from the East today and said he had received offers for Packy to meet Joe Gans in twenty-six rounds or Murphy in a six-round return match. He is willing to take on the latter go, but thinks Gans should agree to a twenty-five-round bout with McFarland.

Sailor Burke and Joe Thomas are carded to meet before the Fairmount Athletic Club of New York next Friday evening.

Manager Gibson has been planning on a McFarland-Murphy go as a succeeding contest, but it has not been definitely arranged.

INJUNCTION CASE.

HEARING TO BE HAD TODAY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—John T. Gleason, manager of the Occidental Athletic Club, applied to Superior Judge Seawell today for an injunction to prevent the Papke-Ketchel prize-fight, scheduled to be held at Coffroth's arena on Thanksgiving Day.

In his application Gleason alleges that Billy Papke and Stanley Ketchel signed an agreement on September 30 last, to fight under the auspices of the Occidental Athletic Club, on the evening of November 25. Subsequent to this, it is alleged, Coffroth persuaded the men to break their agreement and sign a contract to fight before the club controlled by him, on Thanksgiving evening. This, Gleason says, will interfere with his proposed exhibition on the preceding evening, and will cause a loss of $15,000.

Upon representation by James Coffroth, Judge Seawell set the time for hearing at 10 o'clock a.m., tomorrow. Coffroth, in a statement today, said: "The fight will be given Thursday without fail. The Occidental Club cannot bring an action, as it is not legally incorporated. The application for an injunction was made to embarrass me, but the plan will fail. The men will fight as scheduled."

New Fighter Arrives.

Fred Corbett of Illinois reached town yesterday from Goldfield under the managerial wing of Rube Smith, the Denver welterweight fighter, and wants to get on a match with any of the 128 to 130-pound boys. He looks like the real goods and has a good record for one who has only been boxing three years. Smith is matched to fight Larry Gordon at Goldfield, Christmas Day at 145 pounds. The fight was to have taken place earlier, but Smith drew out because of some private trouble he had.

Blackburn a Reacher.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Before the new National Sporting Club of Pittsburgh tonight Jack Blackburn, the colored middleweight of Philadelphia, outpointed Mike Donovan of Rochester, N. Y., in six rounds. The long reach of Blackburn and his fast footwork seemed to bewilder Donovan.

Americans Beat Japs.

TOKIO, Nov. 23.—The American baseball team followed up its victory over the Waseka University nine yesterday, by winning two games today, the first from the Waseka players, by a score of 13 to 1, and the second from the crack team of the Keio University, which was defeated by a score of 6 to 0. There wasa great attendance at the games and much enthusiasm was displayed.

PRESIDENT RECEIVES MESSAGE BY COURIER.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—President Roosevelt at 6:45 o'clock tonight received at the White House, from the hands of Garden Leech, the last boy runner in the relay run from New York to Washington, the silver tube containing a message to the President from Richard C. Morse of the International Y.M.C.A.

Attired in red sweater, tight trousers, and tennis shoes, having finished an exciting tennis game half an hour before, the President was seated in his private office in the executive offices, when Young Leech, clothed in running attire, was ushered in by Rudolph Forster, one of the President's secretaries, and John H. Sleeman of the local Y.M.C.A.

"I believe in athletics as a means to an end, and I see no reason why men should have round shoulders," commented the President in accepting the message.

When told that nearly 1000 speedy boys had handled the message since it left New York Friday afternoon, he manifested great interest. He characterized as particularly praiseworthy the record made by the 200 Washington boys, who brought the message here from Baltimore, a distance of forty miles, in three hours and ten minutes.

The President, after a brief conversation with the young athlete, gave him one of his photographs, bearing his autograph. The President expressed his regret that he could not give one of his photographs to each boy who took part in the run.

Secretary Forster said that the contents of the message would be made public tomorrow, when it is probable the President's reply will be given out.

OVERALL AT GUARD.

TO PLAY WITH ECKERSALL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Big Orvie Overall, the star Cub catcher, will try his hand at football again. He has been signed to play on the Eckersall eleven, which will play the Deans at Minneapolis Thanksgiving Day.

Overall was a star of the gridiron while at Berkeley University. He will play guard on the Eckersall team, and should give the husky Gophers something to think about during the contest.

Overall is in excellent physical condition, and will prove a strong factor in the line Eckersall will send against the northerners.

"TAD" JONES PREACHES.

TALKS OF FOOTBALL GAME.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—"Tad" Jones, one of the stars of the Yale football team last year, appeared in a Boston pulpit yesterday and talked for half an hour to the congregation. He emphatically denied that he is a minister, or that he intends to be one in the future, but he spoke earnestly to the members of the Dudley Street Baptist Church, with temperance as the foundation of his little sermon.

Jones also referred to Saturday's game and after bemoaning his alma mater's defeat, said: "There was sorrow in the Yale camp last night, but this I know. They did not drown their sorrow in much drink, as other teams losing this game in recent years have been known to do."

UNITED STATES IS INCLUDED.

American Sea Power Considered in England's Formula for Increasing Naval Strength.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Since Premier Asquith announced the formula of the two-power standard of naval strength for Great Britain, some of his adherents have intimated that the United States, one of the three strongest naval powers, was excluded from these calculations.

Arthur Lee, Conservative, questioned the Premier on this matter in the House this afternoon and he obtained the definite statement that by the words "two next strongest powers" the Premier meant to include all nations, "wherever situated."

Mr. Asquith added that the dominating consideration was that Great Britain should maintain her superiority at sea, and, as frequently explained, the government regarded the two-power standard as a workable formula to that end.

If you visit Oxford Square you will instantly appreciate the great advantages it possesses over other localities. The surroundings are pleasing. The neighborhood is select. The residences are superior. The wide avenues are graded and curbed under the latest and most stringent regulations. The walks are wide. The parkings are planted with shade and ornamental trees. The street intersections are marked by stone corner pillars, surmounted by handsome electroliers. The street car service is frequent and rapid. Fare is 5 cents, with all transfers. The view from every point is grand and beautiful. In short, it is an ideal home spot, such as you have been dreaming about. IT'S UNEQUALED AS AN INVESTMENT AT THE PRICES AND UNSURPASSED AS A HOME PLACE AT ANY PRICE.

MY MAGAZINE—"INVESTING FOR PROFIT," (which I'll send free,) is worth $10 a copy to any man who intends to invest any money, however small. Who has money to be used unprofitably, or who can save $5 or more per month, but who hasn't learned the art of investing for profit.
It demonstrates the REAL earning power of money—the knowledge financiers and bankers hide from the masses.
It shows how to invest small sums and how to make them grow into fortunes—the actual possibilities of intelligent investments.
It reveals the enormous profits bankers make and shows how one can make the same profits safely. It explains HOW stupendous fortunes are made and WHY they are made—how $5000 grows to $25,000.
To introduce my magazine, write me NOW; mention this paper, and I'll send it six months FREE.

Two Italian Scientists Solve Problem of Independent Communication After Long Experiments.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PARIS, Nov. 23.—Behind the sanction of the French government, two Italian scientists, who, it is said, have been conducting experiments in wireless telegraphy for the past eighteen months on the island of Sardinia, announce they have solved the problem of independent wireless communication.

This result, they say, has been achieved by means of two horizontal aerials fixed at right angles and attached to the apparatus which permit the transmission of messages in all directions.

By a simple law of mechanism the two electro-magnetic forces which produce an electro-magnetic wave, the Hertzian waves are produced in a single vertical plane which are alternated instantly by means of a bobbine device.

The inventors say they have already set up the messages at will from the English wireless station, Poldhu, on the Cornish coast, to ships at sea, and that they have also transmitted messages from Poldhu to Havre and other points, and that the waves being perceived at all stations lying just out of the range of transmission.

TACOMA WANTS COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

City Is Preparing to Adopt Galveston-Des Moines Idea of Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Nov. 23.—[Special dispatch.] Tacoma is preparing to adopt the Galveston-Des Moines plan of governing cities by a commission instead of the present council system, which includes a Mayor and Council. Leading business men advocate the plan. The ward improvement clubs are discussing it.

The Tacoma Commercial Club has appointed a strong committee to investigate the Des Moines and Galveston systems and adapt the best idea in the form of a new charter which is proposed to have the voters, each representing a department of the city's business, choose a lawyer, one the manager of parks and water department, another of police and fire departments, etc. The commission plan will be submitted to Tacoma voters at the next municipal election in March.

The dilatory methods of the present City Council have caused the agitation. It consists of seven members, two from each ward. For the past fifteen months the Council has quibbled over trifles with the Tacoma Pacific, preventing it from expending $4,000,000 here on new terminal station, and the Great Northern, which will spend $2,000,000 here, has been held up until a new station is built.

SCIENCE UNDER DIFFICULTIES

Nevada University Professor Delicate Instrument at the Peak of Bonanza.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 23.—After a week's labor, Prof. J. E. Church of the Nevada University has completed the installation of a seismograph on one of the few weather instruments of the kind in the United States. It is placed in Mackay House, one of the highest buildings in the Sierras.

Rugged country will be encountered to carry the delicate instrument to the top of the mountain on pack mules.

Prof. Ferguson of the United States Weather Bureau is expected here about December 1, to take charge of the new station. Later Prof. Church will be secured a two years' leave of absence from the college, and will go to the mountain.

TO MARKET RAISINS

POOL COMMITTEE NAMED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

FRESNO, Nov. 23.—Representatives of the raisin packers from all over the state met this morning with the Raisin Growers' Association and a committee of five members was appointed to formulate plans for the sale of the pool of 22,000 tons.

As a result of the work of this committee, Smith, of the J. K. Armsby Company; C. H. West of the California Associated Raisin Company, and W. F. Forsyth of the Griffin & Skelley Company, and A. L. Bowles, were appointed a committee to act in conference with the packers and report to them later.

Packers claim that there is a surplus of 2000 tons outside of the pool, but the growers' committee claims that there are not over 2000 tons outside. Packers are anxious to come to some agreement, but there is doubt as to whether a satisfactory price will be reached. The raisin pool will remain in force until contracts.

Gentlemen: I have been a sufferer from hay fever for years and have tried hundreds of different remedies, employing high-priced nose and throat specialists, but did not obtain the slightest relief until I used your Nasal Douche and Throat Gargle.

I have only used the gargle two weeks and yet I appear entirely cured of one of the most violent cases of hay fever imaginable, eyes bloodshot, severe pains in head and constant running at the nose.

I have written to several of my friends in the far East who have been afflicted with this terrible disease, and shall continue to do good by recommending this wonderful remedy. Thanking you, I am named several of them who, he said, did not hold stock in the Standard.

JOHN D. MODEST.

Mr. Kellogg brought out the fact that Amasa Stone, then president of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern Railroad; Stillman W. Witt, a director of the Lake Shore and Big Four roads, and J. P. Handy, also a director of the Big Four, were taken into the Standard Oil Company in the early days.

Mr. Rockefeller said that P. H. Watson seemed to have access to W. H. Vanderbilt, and the witness thought he afterward became president of the Erie Railroad.

"And he was president while he was a stockholder in your company?" asked Mr. Kellogg.

"If so he was not a stockholder for any length of time."

"Then, in the early days you had a president of the New York Central, a president of the Erie, directors of the Lake Shore and all the stockholders of the South Improvement Company, except three, as stockholders of the Standard?"

"My testimony will show."

WHOLESALE ABSORPTION.

From a list read by Mr. Kellogg the witness identified fifteen small companies which Mr. Rockefeller said were purchased by the Standard, and he said he believed twenty to twenty-five concerns were bought in Cleveland.

"How many did you keep in operation?"

"I could not say."

"Were not most of them dismantled?"

"The smaller ones were used in construction and the larger ones were connected with our plants?"

Mr. Kellogg called attention to the purchase of the Porter, Moreland & Co., and Bennett, Warner & Co., together with Easterly & Davis, and John Jackson, and asked Mr. Rockefeller if he did not purchase them.

Witness said the Standard Oil interests bought the property of Porter, Moreland & Co., and Bennett, Warner & Co., and conveyed it to the Acme Oil Company.

"Do you recall Mr. Archbold's testimony in 1879 in this State?"

"No."

Mr. Kellogg then read from Mr. Archbold's testimony, in which he stated the Acme Oil Company was an independent oil company, and not owned, controlled or affiliated with the Standard.

"Was the Acme Oil Company an independent concern in those years?"

"The stock of the Acme was held by several gentlemen."

HELD FOR STANDARD.

"Was the stock of the Acme acquired in the same way as the Standard Oil Company of Pittsburgh?"

"I could not say."

"What became of the stock of the Acme Oil Company on its organization?"

"It was held by individuals, I should say, Mr. Pratt, Mr. Archbold and Mr. Freeman, and held until it was turned over to the trustees, Vilas, Keith and Chester."

"Whom did the individuals hold this Acme stock for?"

"For the benefit of the stockholders of the Standard Oil Company of Ohio, with the exception of some shares for smaller stockholders. I should say that $225,000 out of $300,000 was held for the Standard."

Mr. Rockefeller said the Acme Oil Company undoubtedly was operated as an independent concern until after 1882, and that John D. Archbold managed it for a time. He could not say when Mr. Archbold became a stockholder in the Standard. He had nothing to do with the negotiations for the purchase of the American Lubricating Company and the Mica Axle Grease Company of Cleveland, but thought that none of the members of those companies became stockholders in the Standard.

Whatever stock in the Empire Transportation Company was owned by Stone & Fleming was purchased by the Standard, but Stone & Fleming continued to operate as an independent concern.

PURPOSE OF TRUST.

The witness said he thought the stock of the Camden Consolidated Oil Company was purchased by exchange of stock with the Standard, and stock of the American Transfer Company was obtained from J. A. Bostwick in the same manner. The Standard also secured stock of the United Pipe Line.

The trust agreement of 1879, Mr. Rockefeller said, was made for the purpose of holding those stocks for the benefit of the individuals for whom they had been acquired.

Mr. Kellogg asked whether these stocks were held for the Standard or for individuals and Mr. Rockefeller said he should judge the Standard Oil Company held the certificates. All the companies were managed by their own managers, and each was doing an independent business.

"The agreement provides that the trustees shall distribute the stock to the individual owners," said Mr. Kellogg.

"It turned them over to the Standard Oil trustees," replied Mr. Rockefeller.

"Who got up this Standard Oil trust?"

"I should say that H. M. Flagler and S. C. T. Dodd should have the credit. I am sure it was not I. I am not so learned in legal matters. I don't claim any credit, for Mr. Flagler and Mr. Dodd should have full credit."

Mr. Rockefeller said the various companies in the Standard Oil trust agreement which was made in 1883, were managed as separate and independent corporations.

Recess was then declared, and one of the reporters handed to Mr. Rockefeller the following written question:

"Do you think you should receive immunity from prosecution because of your testimony in case proceedings are brought later?"

Mr. Rockefeller leaned over as if to whisper to the reporters, and said in a loud tone:

"Please tell them I am not in."

"Are you tired of the examination?" he was asked.

"It does not pay to complain. One will live longer and better if he does not."

After the recess, Mr. Kellogg began questioning Mr. Rockefeller about the trust agreement of 1882, and about the ownership of the stocks held by this trust.

TOTAL VALUE OF TRUST.

Mr. Rockefeller said the total value of the thirty-nine corporations included in the trust was approximately $70,000,000, and that each of the stockholders named in the trust agreement received certificates for the amount of stock of subsidiary companies which he owned.

Mr. Kellogg said that efforts were made by the government last year to secure possession of the books, showing how these certificates were distributed, and asked Mr. Rockefeller to make a search for them, and also for the stock ledger showing transfers of stocks.

Mr. Rockefeller replied that he would do anything he could but that he did not know where the books are. He said the Standard Oil trust was dissolved in 1892 in obedience to an order of the Ohio courts. A majority of the stock held by the trust was distributed to the individual stockholders, but the trustees continued to hold a large number of shares which were not liquidated at first.

BONAPARTE STILL AFTER LANDIS FINE.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Atty.-Gen. Bonaparte filed today a petition for a writ of certiorari in the Supreme Court of the United States, urging that court to issue a writ of certiorari to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit, to review the judgment of that court reversing the rulings of Judge Landis in the case in which the Standard Oil Company was fined $29,240,000 on charges of violating the anti-trust law.

The Attorney-General takes the position that the Court of Appeals was without jurisdiction when it reversed Judge Landis's decision.

Much attention is also given to the original right of the defendant to appeal from Judge Landis's decision to the Court of Appeals.

"Originally," says the petition, "when the defendant was tried and convicted, that was the end of it. In giving him the right of appeal, the law never intended that the appellate tribunal should interfere with the sole discretion of the trial court in regard to the character or amount of the punishment imposed. To do so is to interfere with the discretion of the lower court, on the one hand, and with the pardon power on the other hand."

SANTA FE CASE CITED.

The wording of the government's petition indicates that the Department of Justice is fully aware of the court's practice of denying such petitions. The court grants these petitions only when constitutional questions are involved, and the Attorney-General makes a strong effort to have it appear that the present case falls within this group.

Much of the petition is devoted to arguing reasons why the court should review the controversy.

The fact is set forth that other cases charging the same defendant with similar violations of the law in various parts of the country are involved. It mentions the case of the Santa Fé Railway Company, convicted in the Southern District of California of violations of this statute and sentenced to pay a fine of $330,000, which case is now pending in the Circuit Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit and raises the questions of what constitutes a separate offense and the proper amount of fine.

OTHER CASES PENDING.

"There are," says the petition, "other cases pending in different Federal courts and awaiting the final and conclusive determination of the law by this court."

In conclusion the Attorney-General gives attention to the fact that he appears merely as the representative of the whole people and he says that his only purpose is to suggest to the court that the case is of such a nature that in the interest of the country it should be authoritatively reviewed by the highest court. It is understood the petition formally will be presented to the court when it reconvenes next Monday, but it probably will not be acted on for some time thereafter.

If the petition is granted the entire case will be reviewed by the Supreme Court. If it is denied the decision of the Court of Appeals will stand.

STANDARD OIL PAPERS MYSTERIOUSLY MISSING.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND (O.) Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] County Clerk Charles P. Saier, subpoened to produce at the Standard Oil hearing in New York valuable legal papers wanted by the prosecution, found today that the documents have mysteriously disappeared. They had been locked in his safe four years.

Among the missing files are a dozen affidavits made by Standard Oil chiefs, including one by John D. Rockefeller. A petition filed here in 1880, by which the Standard Oil sought to eliminate William Schofield, a Cleveland refiner, is also gone. It was wanted by the prosecution in the government's present case.

The missing paper is believed to have been signed by Mr. Rockefeller under oath and might serve to throw valuable light upon the complaint against the Schofield people, while Rockefeller's affidavit made before a jury would supplement the evidence as given in New York.

CATTLE QUARANTINED.

Outbreak of Disease Will Bar Stock from International Show in Chicago.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Cattle breeders of Pennsylvania and New York will not be permitted to exhibit any cattle at the International Stock Show to be held at Chicago, owing to the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in those States.

This decision was reached today at a conference held at the White House between President Roosevelt and Willett M. Hayes, assistant secretary of agriculture, and Dr. Alonzo D. Melvin, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry. The decision includes sheep, swine and goats.

PHILADELPHIA WORRIED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23.—The discovery in this city of the presence of the foot and mouth disease among cattle is causing much anxiety.

The health officials declare the situation here is under control.

NEW JERSEY UNDER BAN.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

OTTAWA (Ont.) Nov. 23.—The Canadian quarantine against live stock has been extended to animals and hides originated in New Jersey. New York and Pennsylvania were placed under the ban last week on account of the foot and mouth disease.

LONDON CAUTIOUS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LONDON, Nov. 23.—Special orders were issued by the board of agriculture today, giving the proper officials full power to deal with the cargoes of seven steamers that cleared New York and Philadelphia after the board issued its order prohibiting the landing of cattle or fodder from Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey because of the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease.

Sir Edward Stechey, speaking for the board of agriculture in the House of Commons today, said that according to the board's latest information there appeared no necessity for the present, at least, to extend the restrictions to the United States generally.

MANILA TO FETE FLEET.

MANILA, Nov. 24.—Reassured by the reports that the cholera has completely disappeared from Manila, Rear-Admiral Sperry has altered his determination not to permit the men of the Atlantic battleship fleet to land and has notified Gov.-Gen. Smith that the fleet is prepared to accept the reception originally planned by the city, and that he will endeavor to carry out such portions of the programme as possible before the departure of the fleet for the Mediterranean.

The Reception Committee, composed of representatives of the insular government, the city and the army, will confer with Capt. Grant, aide to the commander-in-chief, on the flagship today to settle the details of the programme, which includes athletic sports, boat races, a grand military hippodrome and receptions and entertainments for the officers and enlisted men.

NEW THEATER GEM SETTING.

Representative Audience at the Majestic.

Opening of Playhouse With "Land of Nod."

Brilliant Affair Credit to All Concerned.

The large representative audience that went to the opening of Hamburger's Majestic Theater last night, for the production of "The Land of Nod," got more than the usual theater crowd gets, even on an opening night. For the audience not only saw something new and vivacious on the stage, but it saw something newer and more beautiful in the cosy playhouse.

Cosy is the best way to term it. And yet it has size, seating, as it does, nearly 1700, and it looks big. But the coziness comes from the fact that its construction gives such a perfect sightline to the whole stage, its unsupported gallery and balcony present no obstruction to view and the roominess of the seats is an invitation to return.

A more representative audience has not assembled in a Los Angeles theater in a long time than that which witnessed the house-warming show. And the company, that did not let this audience have a dull moment, has not played to a better audience or in a handsomer theater. It was a case of sight seeing from stage as well as auditorium last night, and the "Nod" company seemed just as pleased with the crowd and the building as the audience with the building and the company.

A color scheme of soft dark green, rose and gold, which under the indirect system of lighting gives the whole auditorium a peculiar glamour, was intensified last night by similar costuming by the company. It was, of course, an accident, but was received as a good augury.

FINISHED ON TIME.

Those who saw the theater at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon wondered how it would ever be opened with a finished performance. There were then two hundred workmen hurrying with all the finishing touches. The mahogany doors that opened on the foyer, the great crown chandeliers that hung in the foyer, the carpets on the aisles and on the foyer floor, the seats and the electrical connections were incomplete. Scaffolding, litter and debris were everywhere.

But there was a mind that had calculated the fractions of the minutes in the finishing work, and when 7 o'clock struck it found everything in place, the carpets just as if they had been there a week, the seats all set and cleaned and the whole theater as inviting as if weeks had been spent in preparing for the opening. It was Manager Oliver Morosco who planned the finish, and it was he who stood by and spurred it on.

By reason of this the "Nod" company was able to open on time, and the performance was without the slightest delay or disturbance, which is not always a characteristic of opening nights. But it seemed that everybody and everything felt at home in the cosy building, and that is why there was no friction, even in the new pulleys and the new ropes in the flies. Such a happy, smooth, complete triumph of a new house in its first night is rare.

It is hard to determine which the audience looked at with most delight, the unique musical spectacle that comes from the authors of "The Time, the Place and the Girl," or the interior, which combines all the skill of the stucco artist and the genius of a decorator like Antoon Molkenboer, whose canvas of beautiful figures over the proscenium arch represents "The Casts of Progress." It is an interesting allegorical group in complete harmony with the rest of the decorations.

BEAUTY AND COMFORT.

But the most conspicuous feature of the interior is that the gallery and balcony spans, each 78 feet, are maintained without supporting columns and from each the view of the stage is as clear as if no other floor existed. This is true of the main floor. Another feature is that the ten proscenium boxes project from the walls over the orchestra circle and are without canopies, except such as the bottoms of the upper boxes make for the lower and where the lighting is from a beautiful glass lambrequin.

Another feature noticed by all, but perhaps not understood by all, was the roominess of the seats. Manager Morosco has a sympathy for the fat man, and perhaps the architect did, too, after he regarded the Hamburgers, whose public spirit furnished the $300,000 that made last night's enjoyment possible. But whether it was sympathy or stoutness or not, the seats have a clear capacity of 21¾ inches and there is never a sense of crowding. This, perhaps, sacrificed many a dollar.

Rushing Work on Hamburger's Majestic Theater for Opening Last Night.

The upper picture shows one side of the stage and part of the beautiful proscenium arch, and the lower the busy scene at the entrance yesterday afternoon. Five hundred men were engaged in the building.

STARTLING CLASH.

ON EVE OF SUICIDE BUNCH MADE WILL.

STARTLING developments came up yesterday in the case of the late J. Newton Bunch, who committed suicide at Hermosa Beach on October 24, while under bond on a felony charge. Today a olographic will, written the night before he killed himself, will be filed in court, and at the same time an action will be commenced to recover three pieces of property, deeded away by Mrs. Mary A. Rogers, who had held them in trust.

Mrs. Mattie Bunch, the widow, has retained Attorney P. F. Benson to defend her title to the property left to her through this will. According to Benson, an attorney named Rogers Watson has filed a petition for letters of administration, alleging that due and diligent search has been made for a will, and that there is none in existence.

The document, in possession of the widow since, was written by Bunch on the night before he took the morphine, with which he first tried to take his life, and was mailed to Mrs. Bunch at that time. She received it the following Monday morning, twenty-four hours after her husband's second and successful attempt to kill himself. The last time he took strychnine. The first of it is written in ink and apparently with the fountain pen Bunch carried, but the last three pages are written in lead pencil.

STRANGE DOCUMENT.

He had then gone over it and underlined certain parts with the pencil, following is a copy of the strange document:

"MANHATTAN BEACH, Oct. 24.

"Dear Mattie Bunch:

"When this reaches you I will be in the Great Unknown. I go the Morphine route. Forgive me. When I saw Mr. Donahue this A.M. at 10 o'clock he was altogether a different man and he wanted me to go and give myself up to the Constable. This I could not do, for I was so intimate with every transaction that I would have to implicate others who are not the guilty parties. This I would be compelled to do if I saved myself, you will note from my contract with Mr. Alexander that as far as I am personally concerned, I am innocent. I also wish to state that all the women including Mrs. Rogers are innocent. The latter put her good money into that land and her every act was the act of a child, and still how could I prove it without implicating others? Thus you see where I stand, I would rather pass into the great unknown than to be the means of causing another to suffer disgrace and scandal you are loving and true Sorrow not for you are Holy, Just and Good. It seems that fate is against me all my land investments have been failures and got me into trouble. You will get my life insurance all O. K. I am a member of Golden State Camp, I am also an Odd Fellow in good standing I am a member of Trinity Lodge 495 Springfield Mo. the Odd Fellows will bury me. There is a funeral benefit provided by the lodge. This morning I had a deed made to three pieces of property that are held in Trust by an old friend of mine, I had this deed made to Mr. Donahue and was going to let him hold it as security for his act of kindness.

"You may arrainge with him to file the deed and then dispose of the property and turn the net results over to you. This is my will I thought by deeding it to him he would help me secure an attorney for the right man would cost me $1000. But as I said Mr. Donahue was a changed man this morning and I was actually afraid to surrender for I have no money to employ counsel and if these two men have gone back on me I am forever disgraced for innocent people will suffer.

"Inclosed you will find a check for about all my little bal. in the bank, I don't know the exact amount but I know I have that much and I think about five dollars more.

"Everything is yours dear, Yes 'Darling' and it is on your account that I do this. The equities in the three houses which I have deeded to Mr. Donahue are well worth $4000. This with the $2000 Life Insurance will clear your little home and leave you a little bal. There are $2500 Wabash bonds in my desk drawer and a lawyer in Columbus Ohio has $1000 Bond. This makes $3500 with accrued interest will amount to about $10,000 and they may be worth the whole amount and they may be worthless you will find the correspondence in an envelope with the bonds. You will find contracts

WANT 'EM.

BOND BIDDERS SHOWER GOLD.

Premium of Secret Sale Is Swallowed Up.

Financiers After Securities for Good Roads.

Supervisors Open High Bids; Defer Action.

With the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles heading the list by an offer of $139,000 premium for the entire $3,500,000 issue of good roads bonds, twelve bidders put in proposals to purchase the bonds yesterday. At the private sale to James H. Adams & Co. and the Los Angeles Trust Company, the county realized one-quarter per cent. premium, while yesterday offers ran up to about 4 per cent.

Sixteen different proposals of purchase were made by the twelve bidders, who offered to take lots ranging from $70,000 to the entire issue.

The Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank, with $139,000 premium; Fisk & Robinson, Chicago, $132,010 premium; N. W. Harris & Co., with associates, $134,000 premium; J. H. Adams & Co., $126,050 premium, and the W. R. Staats Co., $110,705 premium, were the principal offers made.

When the time for opening the bids arrived yesterday afternoon, the Supervisors' room was crowded by representatives of all the bond houses bidding, while many other financial institutions of the city were also represented. By order of the Supervisors, the bids were opened in the order in which they were filed, and in each case certified checks as required by the terms of the advertisement were enclosed in the letters. The crowd listened in silence to the reading of the different offers and many notes were made.

WILL FIGURE OUT PROFITS.

Almost as soon as the reading of proposals was finished, Supervisor Wilson put a motion which was unanimously carried, that further consideration of the offers be deferred until next Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Some one suggested that bidders, who felt themselves to be outclassed, should have the right to withdraw their proposals before that time, if they wish. This privilege was granted, but no one availed himself of it. Meanwhile the bids will be analyzed by the Supervisors, after clerks have tabulated the various offers to make evident what will be the best terms for the county.

None of the Supervisors had anything to say yesterday as to what action would be taken Monday. They expressed their satisfaction with the offers made, but said that it was too early to speak about the terms of the various offers.

All bids were conditioned upon the approval by legal counsel of the regularity and validity of the bond issue. In the order in which they were opened, the bids made were as follows, each bidder offering par and accrued interest to date of delivery:

BIDS AS MADE.

O'Connor and Kahler, New York, offered 102.223 per cent. premium, or $112,805 premium for the entire issue, with the option of taking the entire issue in advance of times of delivery specified in the advertisement.

The Equitable Savings Bank of Los Angeles offered to purchase $106,000 worth of the bonds at $2050 premium.

The National Bank of California offered to buy $70,000 worth at $2913 premium; $70,000 worth at $2513 premium; $70,000 worth at $2813 premium, with the option of calling for delivery of the entire lot by or before March 1, 1909.

The Commercial National Bank of Chicago, William Solomon & Co., New York, and Wodin McNeir & Moore, New York, acting together, offered to buy $700,000 worth at $21,490 premium, first two deliveries as advertised, and $350,000 worth more at $10,745 premium.

The Fielding J. Stilson Company, $350,000 worth at $15 premium, interest to be made 4 per cent., and payable semi-annually.

The William R. Staats Company, offered to take the entire issue with option for immediate delivery, at $110,705 premium. This concern also offered to take $700,000 worth at $15,239 premium.

E. H. Rollins & Sons, San Francisco, offered $50,137 premium for $1,050,000 worth, delivery to be made when bonds are ready.

A syndicate composed of N. W. Halsey & Co., N. W. Harris & Co., Merchants' Loan and Trust Company, and First Trust and Savings Company, all of Chicago, offered to take the entire issue at $134,000 premium or any part not less than $1,050,000, at a premium in proportion to this offer. This syndicate also offers to furnish blank bonds free to the county, delivery of the bonds to be made by February, 1909.

A. M. Chaffey, Los Angeles, offered $3015 premium for $70,000 lot, and $2215 premium for another $70,000 lot; deliveries to be made by March 1, 1909.

RAISE THEIR ANTE.

James H. Adams & Co., Los Angeles, offered to take the whole issue at $126,050 premium, deliveries to be according to the advertisement. They also offered to take $700,000 worth as soon as deliveries can be made, at $32,500 premium.

Fisk & Robinson, Chicago, offered to take the whole issue, with option for delivery as desired, for $132,010 premium.

The Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles offered to take the whole issue at $139,000 premium, and to pay for the bond engraving, which is to be done by one of three houses approved by bond exchanges. Deliveries are to be, according to this offer, $350,000 by December 1, 1908; the same amount by February, 1909; $700,000 by November, 1909; the same amount by July, 1910; the same amount by January, 1911, and a further lot of $700,000 by July 1, 1911. These deliveries are in accord with the terms of the Supervisors' advertisement calling for offers on the bonds.

Speaking last evening of their bid for $350,000 worth of the good roads bonds at 4 per cent., instead of at 4½ per cent., as the bonds now call for, Fielding J. Stilson of the Fielding J. Stilson Company, stated that to reduce the bonds to a 4 per cent. basis would save the county money. He added that there are no better bonds in the country than these of Los Angeles county, and there would be no trouble in disposing of them, and the county would be an enormous gainer.

DEAD GIRL UNIDENTIFIED.

Mystery of Mangled Body Found on Railroad Near Alhambra Remains Unsolved.

Many persons viewed the remains of the young woman who was killed, supposedly by a railroad train near Alhambra, Sunday, but none of them could identify her. The Coroner was so busy yesterday that he could not hold an inquest. The body still lies on a slab at the Alhambra Furniture Company, where it will remain until after the inquest this afternoon.

The officials of the Southern Pacific Company who are working on the case have made a close examination of the train that is supposed to have killed her, but have not been able to find blood.

A theory of murder that was advanced has been abandoned, as there is no proof upon which to base it.

Constable Parker of Alhambra is of the opinion that she was killed by the train which left San Pedro for Pasadena at 5 o'clock Saturday evening. At this time the fog was thick, and the condition of the body when found bears out the statement that she had been dead several hours.

Several persons saw a woman answering her description walking south along the track, about dark, Saturday evening.

Most of those who went to see the remains are from Alhambra, and as it is very probable that she did not live there, no headway could be made in the way of identification. The Coroner wants to hear from any one who knows anything about a woman leaving Pasadena, or one of the other valley towns, who has not returned.

LAUNDRIES IN GLAD RAG WAR.

WHITE FLAGS FLYING WHERE LINENS ARE DRYING.

But Prices Are Decapitated and No One Will Surrender, While Rooming-house Keepers Give an Extra Clean Sheet With Every Seven Sleeps—Collars Still Up.

One of the biggest rate fights in laundry history in Los Angeles has begun. This explains why all at once keepers of cheap rooming-houses and hotels are giving two sheets a week to their beds instead of dropping the top sheet to the bottom and inserting one clean sheet.

It commenced two weeks ago. The California, Quality, Home and White Swan laundries were allowing their customers a regular discount when their managements decided that more profit in the purse of those doing their distributing work and for the hotel-keepers would not be inappropriate, and gave them all a 5 per cent. increase. The Munger, Empire and Diamond laundries felt assured that this was the proper thing to do and so also increased their discounts; in fact, allowed 10 per cent. more than their competitors.

Carrying the war along, the three companies announced yesterday that for a limited time—the limit being open to the discretion of the various managements—they will give a reduction of 60 per cent. on the quoted prices. This was carrying the fight further than the other laundries could stand, their limit so far having stopped at a 25 per cent. reduction. They are now debating the next move, but fear if they meet the 60 per cent. reduction, the competitors will do work absolutely free of charge, bringing a veritable millennial dawn to the hotel proprietors.

The older laundries here, the Troy, Sanitary and Excelsior, have remained entirely neutral, taking sides with neither faction. They have met none of the reductions and feel so assured of safety in holding their old customers, that according to one of the officials, they will make no such inducements under any consideration.

LETTER TELLS COURT GOSSIP.

LOS ANGELES MAN HEARS HOW DUKE LOST LOVE.

Mother Writes About Opposition of Queen of Italy to Marriage of Abruzzi to Miss Elkins—Were on Friendly Terms in Royal Castle Before Match Was Broken.

Interesting and authentic details of the stand taken by Queen Margherita of Italy in connection with the long-rumored-confirmed-and-denied engagement of the Duke of the Abruzzi to Miss Katherine Elkins, were received in this city yesterday. They came in the form of a letter from Signora Josephina Buzzi, widow of the late Governor of the royal castle at Spupinigi to her son, Signor Pietro Buzzi, No. 668½ South Alvarado street.

Signor Buzzi last night revealed the secrets of the royal household entrusted to him by his mother because, he said, the Abruzzi-Elkins affair is a closed incident.

"My mother wrote the letter to me during the time that Queen Margherita and the young Duke were staying at the castle," said he. "She says that the affair was the gossip of the hour before the arrival of the Queen, ten days before she wrote, but that her announcements soon allayed all fear that there would be any alliance between royal blood and the Elkins family.

"The Queen made no attempt to conceal her feelings against any proposed engagement between the Duke and Miss Elkins, and denied that such an engagement already existed. She was often with the young Abruzzi, and they seemed on the most friendly terms. My mother adds that he is the idol of his people, and that for a time they expressed considerable alarm over the idea of his going to America for a wife.

"Later, when they were assured that all the rumors were false, they gave vent to exclamations of satisfaction over what they termed the excellent judgment of the Duke.

"The castle at Spupinigi, which is five miles from Turin, is the oldest in Italy. It is here that all the royal children, with the exception of the present King, have been born for hundreds of years. This is also the castle to which the royal family retires to consider matters of serious interest."

The father of Signor Buzzi was governor of Spupinigi castle under King Victor Emmanuel, and his widow is still a member of the court.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council and Library Board have clashed over the charter appropriation for library maintenance; the Council proposes to cut out the charter provision; the Library Board proposes as an alternative to erect half-million dollar library building and defray all expenses from the annual library appropriation.

Firemen and policemen joined yesterday in an appeal to the Council to have their salaries fixed by charter. They asked for an increase in pay averaging 25 per cent.

The charter amendment discussions have become so acute that the Council has decided to frame the amendments at executive conferences.

The Supervisors yesterday apportioned the bonded school indebtedness of the new school district of Belmont Heights, and heard protests from Hollywood citizens against the establishment of a powder factory in Miller's Cañon.

On grounds of desertion, non-support, and intemperance, Mrs. Mary A. Taylor sued Dr. Frank N. Taylor for divorce.

AT THE CITY HALL.

NEW BUILDING FOR LIBRARY.

BOARD PLANS HALF-MILLION-DOLLAR STRUCTURE.

Say Whole Cost Can Be Defrayed from Library Appropriation—Council Is Doubtful—Firemen and Policemen Make Play for Increases, But Lose by One Vote.

Charter tinkering has become an acute disease at the City Hall; the legislators appear to have a severe attack and indications yesterday were to the effect that it is spreading to all the city departments. The police, fire, park, playground and library commissions are now involved.

Yesterday the policemen and firemen tried to take a hand but they were shooed aside by a resolution that no salary amendments will be considered except those affecting the heads of departments.

This does not include the Councilmen themselves, and they have prepared an amendment in their own behalf giving to each a salary of $250 a month. But a minor matter like a Council rule will not keep this recommendation from going to the people in the shape of a charter amendment.

There will be a secret conference in the Attorney's office this morning and afternoon. Wednesday morning the Council will make another attempt to agree in the open as to what amendments shall be submitted at the special charter revision election.

A clash has come between the Council and the library board over the library appropriation of 4 cents on each dollar of taxes collected for current revenue. This rate is fixed by the charter. The Council is considering a charter amendment taking the library appropriation out of the charter entirely; the library board has proposed as a substitute a plan by which a $500,000 library building may be erected in Central Park and the total cost be provided for out of the library appropriation.

Working in the dark the Council had agreed to propose a charter amendment cutting out the library appropriation; but some one gave away the secret. Yesterday a committee from the library board went before the Council to protest against cutting out the 4-cent appropriation. Library Commissioner Marschutz submitted the following alternative:

"If the Council will amend the charter so as to make provision for calling a bond election for a library building we will arrange so that the total interest and sinking fund payments shall be made out of the library appropriation.

"At the present time we are paying about $15,000 a year in rent; if bonds are voted for a $500,000 building the average yearly payment on a forty-year redemption plan will be $22,500. By practicing strict economy we can pay this sum out of the library appropriation, which now amounts to a little more than $100,000 a year. The result will be that when the bonds are all redeemed the city will be ahead just that library building."

President Dockweiler of the Library Board and former Commissioner O'Melveny spoke along similar lines. O'Melveny said that to restore the 4-cent appropriation from the charter would mean to put the library into politics again. He said the people will not consent to this, that such an amendment will never carry.

The questions asked by the Council revealed that the legislators had about agreed among themselves to submit an amendment cutting out the charter appropriation and placing the library on the same basis as the police, park and fire departments.

After the session the legislators agreed to take up for reconsideration the proposed library legislation. The consensus of opinion appears to be in favor of accepting the proposal of the Library Board for the new library building. The Councilmen expressed surprise to learn that on an average 5000 people visit the library daily.

The Sixth Ward Central Improvement Association sent a communication to the Council protesting against holding a charter revision election at the present time. The attorneys of the association take issue with the opinion of the City Attorney that it is mandatory on the Council to call the election. These say that when the City Clerk passed on the petition from the Municipal League and found it insufficient to call an election, that petition was dead.

The outside attorneys say that there is no legal warrant for adding the names on the rejected petition to the petitions submitted later. The resolution offered by the Central Association are as follows:

Resolved that this association is not in favor of tinkering with the city charter in regard to a new form of city government at the present time.

Second—That we view with alarm the readiness with which interested, meddlesome and inexperienced persons are able to force their views upon the chosen representatives of this city by petitions secured by paid canvassers demanding elections at a large expense to the city at a most inopportune time.

Third—That while in the near future it may possibly be wise to increase the number of wards in this city, especially by division of the Fifth and Sixth Wards, whose population is so rapidly increasing, thus adding to the number of Councilmen, they are decidedly opposed to the election of "Councilmen-at-large," whose duties would be largely devoted to drawing salaries.

Fourth—That they favor the increase of salaries of Councilmen who pledges themselves to give their whole time to the duties of their office, recognizing that a laborer is worthy of his hire, and that the citizens can hardly expect the best service from underpaid officials.

Fifth—That the City Council be urged to pursue a conservative course in regard to ordering elections on petitions for charter amendments, and that none should be held except at the regular city elections.

[Signed] W. S. GIBBONS, secretary.

Councilman Healy said that a number of outside attorneys have expressed the opinion that the Municipal League petition is insufficient to force the Council to call an election. Healy offered to call these attorneys before the Council.

The legislators checked the discussion at this point by filing all petitions and resolutions and agreeing to consider them at an executive session with the City Attorney this morning. The charter amendment discussion has evidently become too acrid to be pursued further outside the star chamber sessions.

A committee representing the police department presented a salary schedule for the subordinate officers and patrolmen, and asked that it be included in a charter amendment. The salaries proposed average more than 25 per cent. higher than those which the department sought to have incorporated in the charter six years ago.

Healy, Lyon and Clampitt sought to have the salary amendment drawn to include these proposed rises, but the proposal lost by a vote of five to four.

A similar petition was presented from the fire department.

In order to protect themselves from other salary hunters, the Council passed a resolution to the effect that no salaries shall be considered in preparing charter amendments except those for heads of departments.

NORTH END SUBWAY.

MAY PIERCE COURT STREET.

A strong petition went to the Council yesterday afternoon, asking that the city shall drive a tunnel through Court-street hill from Broadway to Figueroa street. The petitioners desire that this tunnel shall be kept exclusively for a public roadway, and that no railway franchise shall ever be granted there. On motion of Councilman Clampitt, the petitions were referred to the Board of Public Works for favorable consideration.

The arguments set forth by the property owners in favor of building a municipal tunnel through Court-street hill are as follows:

The undersigned property owners respectfully ask you to order the building of a tunnel from North Broadway to Figueroa street under Court street, for teams and passengers.

The tunnel would prove of immense benefit and utility to the whole city, it being the only way for the whole of the north portion of the city to reach Broadway on a level grade. The necessity, utility and value to the city at large is demonstrated by the wonderful increase of taxable property on West Third street following the construction of the Third-street tunnel.

The tunnel would cross the Hill-street subway, now under construction, probably under or over, not as a grade crossing, and therefore could now be constructed at a great saving to the city, if ordered before the Hill-street tunnel is completed. On account of the great necessity, value and immense utility of this tunnel to the city at large the undersigned property owners respectfully ask you to take immediate action and order the City Engineer to make plans and estimates of cost of this new tunnel.

At present the whole north portion of the city has no direct road on level grade to reach the city, avoiding the hills. With this new tunnel in operation the cost of it would be saved in every year to the city in the decreased cost of delivery of goods by the downtown merchants.

Council Miscellany.

The Council denied the protests yesterday against the opening of Grand avenue, between Temple and California streets, and confirmed the assessment for defraying the costs of the improvement. A number of property owners in the assessment district, a majority, it is asserted, are protesting against the opening because they consider the awards of damages to be excessive. These will probably institute court proceedings to stop the improvement.

Property owners on North Los Angeles street filed a majority protest yesterday against paving that thoroughfare with asphalt from Ferguson alley to Arcadia street. This made it mandatory on the Council to pass an ordinance abandoning the proceedings.

City Attorney Hewitt rendered an opinion yesterday afternoon to the effect that the field forces in the engineering department are not entitled to extra pay for working Saturday afternoons. The chain men asked for extra pay, because the offices in the City Hall close at noon on Saturdays, and the clerks all receive a half-holiday.

BANKRUPTCY PETITIONS.

W. A. Luce and E. R. Beach, doing business as "Beach," a millinery shop on South Broadway, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy, in the United States District Court yesterday. The liabilities are scheduled at $7647 and assets, $3664. Most of the debts are for goods bought in the East, but there are small amounts owing local concerns. Creditors of the Union Brick and Tile Company of Santa Monica, filed an involuntary petition in the same court yesterday. They state that the concern owes over $1000 and is in effect insolvent. They ask that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the assets. The petitioning creditors are W. H. Mullins, Tobin Morrison, S. J. Morrison and E. E. Morrison of Santa Monica.

CROOK?

VENERABLE LOOKS MAY BE DECEPTIVE.

INVESTIGATION into the past career of William Rufus Harvey, to be examined before the United States Commissioner this afternoon on the charge of impersonating a government officer, convinces the secret service operators that he is an accomplished confidence man.

Harvey is past 70 years of age, and presents a venerable appearance. The subscription lists found on his person show that he has collected hundreds of dollars from residents of this city, Pasadena, Lamanda Park and Dolgeville, for the ostensible purpose of sending a worthy woman back to her home in Omaha.

When arrested by a Lamanda Park officer in pursuance of instructions from United States Secret Service Operator Hazen, the old man was profuse in his explanations and volunteered to accompany him to the residence of the woman he claimed he was befriending. Unfortunately for him, he could not locate her boarding place, and then "recollected" that she had gone East.

The Federal officials are confident that the whole story was a fabrication of the wily old man. Yesterday John W. Stockett of Santa Barbara informed Secret Service Operator Hazen that Harvey defrauded him in 1906. According to his story, the old man showed him a check for $1200, which purported to be signed by some railroad official. He borrowed $15 from Sockett, on the plea that he had lost his safe deposit key. A little later, Stockett said, he "loaned" him $100 additional.

About that time Harvey had a raffle coming off with a lot alleged to be owned by him as the prize. Apparently unwilling to be exposed in what appeared to be a swindle, Harvey suddenly disappeared, leaving a number of mourning creditors.

Stockett said he had been looking for Harvey ever since, but had heard nothing of him until he read the account of his arrest in The Times.

Hazen believes Harvey has a checkered record back of him that will come to light. He says the old man appears familiar with jail life, and apparently took up the subscription swindle in order to raise a little money for temporary needs.

William R. Harvey, to be examined by Federal authorities today on charge of impersonating Secret Service officer.

A lot of cheap business cards were confiscated, which read, "Capt. Harvey, U.S.S.S." The prisoner explained that the initials stand for a secret benevolent organization of which he is a member, but he doesn't explain anything about it.

"We shall prosecute Harvey on the charge of obtaining money through his impersonation of a secret service officer," said Hazen. "Although old and apparently feeble, I am inclined to believe that he has been a clever confidence man in his day. His papers show that he imposed on a number of shrewd business men and used a G.A.R. button and an Odd Fellows' emblem to gain attention.

"He was unable to give any details about his army life, and I believe his pretensions in that regard are absolutely false. He evidently worked other swindling games in Santa Barbara, and probably has made his living by his wits for years."

SCHOOL DEBTS ARE DIVIDED.

SUPERVISORS AWARD SHARE TO TWO CITIES.

Boards of Education of Long Beach and Belmont Heights Get Satisfaction—Emphatic Protest by Hollywood Citizens Against Powder Factory Near That City.

The Boards of Education of Long Beach and Belmont Heights appeared before the Supervisors yesterday that action might be taken on the pro rata apportionment of the $181,000 bonded indebtedness of the school district now divided between these cities.

Belmont Heights district has taken over the East Fourth street school and the Alamitos Heights school. These were said by the Long Beach delegation to be worth $4000 and $4400 respectively. After hearing evidence, the Supervisors decided to apportion to the new school district of Belmont Heights $4000 of the bonded indebtedness as its proper share of the total.

A protest against the establishment of the United Powder Company's factory on an eighty-acre tract in Miller's Cañon, about 300 feet from the northeast city limits of Hollywood, was presented by a committee of six from the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, and a committee of five appointed at a public meeting.

Attorneys A. E. Merrill and T. P. Higgins, and City Attorney Young of Hollywood, with A. Z. Taft, W. W. Phelps and other Hollywood citizens, explained to the Supervisors that the establishment of the factory meets with emphatic opposition. They said that valuable tracts of realty in that neighborhood will be rendered unsaleable if the factory is built, that it will be a menace to lives and property, and will permanently check the development of Hollywood as a residence city. They asked that the Supervisors give them protection by passing an ordinance that will prohibit the establishment of factories dangerous to life and property or a nuisance to residents, within a safe zone about cities in the county.

Attorney W. P. Doyle, representing the United Powder Company, and C. C. Miller, a chemist in its employ, informed the Supervisors that their concern expects to erect a powder plant employing about 100 men in the manufacture of "satanite," a powerful patent explosive. They said that the powder is absolutely non-explosive, except when it is discharged by a regulation cap, that it cannot be exploded by electric sparks or by combustion, and that absolutely no menace to life or property will result from the placing of the factory in Miller's Cañon.

The Supervisors agreed to inspect the site of the powder factory next Wednesday morning, when they will go to the place with representatives of the concern and of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce. At that time a test of the explosive powder will be made on the ground.

BLAMES LIQUOR.

TELLS MANY TROUBLES.

Alleging that Dr. Frank N. Taylor has been a habitual drunkard almost from the time he married her in Denver, August, 1895, Mrs. Mary A. Taylor appeared before Judge Bledsoe in the Superior Court yesterday to testify in her suit for divorce.

Mrs. Taylor was actively interested in Colorado politics before she removed to California a few years ago She held a position in the County Treasurer's office at Denver, and since coming to California has so prospered in business that, according to Taylor, she now holds over $40,000 worth of property, one-half of which he claims as his community share. About two years ago Taylor brought an action for divorce on grounds of desertion, and Judge Bordwell, in January, 1906, refused him a decree. Mrs. Taylor did not then ask a separation.

Attorney H. H. Roser was Taylor's counsel at that time. Roser has since filed a suit in the Justice Court against Taylor for $300 attorney's fees, alleged due for service in that litigation. Mrs. Eloisa C. de Samman is also made a defendant in the suit, as Roser says Taylor hired hkn as counsel to secure for Mrs. de Samman a divorce from C. F. de Samman. This was granted on grounds of desertion in Department Seven, last February.

Mrs. Taylor testified yesterday that she never knew that Taylor was addicted to liquor until after her marriage. She denied that she ever drank with him until after her marriage, and said that about three months after that event he first came home drunk. She said that since that time Taylor has given himself over to habitual drinking, that he was obliged to leave Colorado for that reason, and that she supplied him with funds to start again in California, where he promised to reform.

The witness said that after buying a medical business for Taylor in Los Angeles, she found that he neglected it from the start. Finally she was obliged to sell it out. Since then he has engaged in various lines of work, principally medical, but has come home month after month drunk every night. That she finally left him in November, 1905, after he had caused her to be locked out of their home at Ocean Beach.

Taylor denied that he had failed to provide for his wife, had caused her suffering by his habits, or had indulged in liquor to the extent complained of. He said that his wife knew his habits before she married him and that she drank to excess herself.

In his cross-complaint, asking for a decree on grounds of cruelty and desertion, he said that Mrs. Taylor was so hilarious in Denver one night that she tore the sign from an Episcopal church, despite his protests, and caused a disturbance on the street. He also charged that she was asked to resign her position with the County Treasurer because she took from the office two warrants belonging to the Rocky Mountain News Publishing Company. These charges were denied by the plaintiff.

HOPES FOR CHANGE.

COURT COMMENTS ON LAW.

A fervent hope that the next Legislature will raise the age of consent to 18 years was expressed by Judge Wilbur yesterday in dismissing a charge of rape against W. E. Shaughnessy on motion of Deputy District Attorney North, in the Superior Court. A jury disagreed, standing ten to two for conviction, at Shaughnessy's trial three weeks ago. Mr. North presented physicians' certificates stating that both Mrs. Moots and her 16-year-old daughter, Lena, whom Shaughnessy was alleged to have led astray last July at Long Beach, were too ill to appear and testify at a second trial.

"I believe Shaughnessy technically guilty," said the court, "but I think Mr. North has done his full duty in the prosecution of Shaughnessy, who displayed a contemptible point of view during his testimony at his trial. The evidence indicated that the fellow induced the girl to come to Los Angeles with him on a promise to marry her, and that after his refusal to keep his promise, she was so remorseful that she contemplated suicide. He has shown no shame for his conduct, and unless he mends his ways, he will soon get into trouble again.

"I hope to see the next Legislature raise the age of consent to 18 years, for the conduct of men like Shaughnessy leads to murder. Fathers who feel that there is no redress in the law take the law into their own hands and kill the men who have debauched their daughters."

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

INJUNCTION. L. Saunders yesterday filed in the Superior Court an injunction suit against the City of Belmont Heights and others to restrain the holding of an election, called for November 27, to decide upon the incorporation as a part of Belmont Heights, of a narrow strip of territory about two miles long at the northeast side of the city. The plaintiff asserts that a property owner his rights will be materially prejudiced by the proposed annexation, and declares that the call for the election was not issued according to statutory requirements.

MINE LEASE. The Seal of Gold Mining Company yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit against R. B. Slater to set aside a deed to its mining property. The plaintiff asserts that at an illegal and void director's meeting last September, the execution of a lease to Slater was authorized. The court is asked to set aside this lease on the ground that it is without proper and adequate consideration and that Slater is not financially liable in case of damage to the plaintiff's property.

VOTING TWICE. As Assistant District Attorney C. C. McComas, is ill, Judge Jamison yesterday continued until December 1 the trial of Robert Mitchell, accused of voting twice at the primary election last August.

DECLARE TRUST. Caroline Shaffer yesterday filed suit in the Superior Court against John Shaffer to establish a trust in $20,000 worth of property bequeathed to Shaffer by his uncle, John Shaffer, who died in Los Angeles last July. The plaintiff asserts that she is the widow of the dead man, and that she married him on the expressed understanding that he was to leave her his property at his death. She says that he suddenly changed his will after she had left him with his consent, to recuperate from ill health caused by her sedulous attention to her husband in his declining years.

GETS BADGE. County Game Warden W. B. Morgan has been presented with a handsome gold badge of office by his twenty-seven deputies. Chief Deputy B. Harrington made the presentation speech at Mr. Morgan's home Sunday afternoon. Short speeches were also made by other deputies, whose beautiful gift took Mr. Morgan completely by surprise.

GRAND JURY. The grand jury held morning and afternoon sessions yesterday. The witnesses examined yesterday morning were Capt. Paul Flammer, Attorneys W. E. Dunn, E. O. Edgerton and Walter J. Horgan, and Dr. A. D. Houghton, John Sasso, Henry Siefe, secretary of the City Board of Health; John Flammer, city meat inspector, and Bert Williams. The grand jury will meet again tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

BLIND PIG. A. C. Parsons, manager of the Pompeian Café at Naples, paid $200 fine for two of his employés in the Pasadena Justice Court yesterday. The men were arrested for selling liquor without a license. A complaint was lodged against Parsons, but was withdrawn, as he stated that the liquor had been sold contrary to his orders.

CRUELTY. The jury trial of Frank Proffitt, charged with cruelty to horses, began in Justice Selph's court yesterday and will continue today. It is charged that the horses were worked while sick.

Why 96 Hours?

It requires 96 hours to turn white wheat into Mapl-Flake. Yet flaked foods can be made in one-fourth of that time. Why do we employ so expensive a process?

Simply to make every atom digestible—to create a food that's all food.

Wheat is largely starch. And starch, to be digestible, must be made soluble. The particles of the starch must be separated so the digestive juices can get to them.

To break up the starch granules requires a high heat, long continued. With half-way methods, only half the starch will digest. The balance ferments and breeds germs in the stomach.

Our wheat is steam-cooked for six hours, then cured. Then each separate berry is flaked so thin that the full heat of our ovens attacks every atom. Then the flakes are toasted, for 30 minutes, in a heat of 400 degrees.

We do that because we know it is necessary. We aim at a perfect food, not a cheap food. For the cheapest food, after all, is the food that supplies the most nourishment.

Mapl-Flake is cooked in pure maple syrup. The reason for that is—deliciousness.

Children like maple sugar better than anything else that is good for them. And this is the children's food.

The price is 15 cents per package. It requires no more cream than a 10-cent food, so the real difference in cost is a trifle. The difference in food value is greater by far.

So don't go without the food that you like best—the food with the maple flavor. For Mapl-Flake costs less than cheap foods when you measure by nourishment.

The only food served in individual packages in hotels, clubs, cafes, and on dining cars.

Albert Hickman, president of the Success Mining Company at Quartzite, Ariz., is at the Hollenbeck and is smiling over the returns from a high-grade shipment to the El Paso smelter.

Dr. R. A. Kirkpatrick and Dr. Henry Macauley registered at the Hollenbeck from Culiacan, Mex. They are interested in the mining department of the Epes Randolph properties.

C. L. Bergery, connected with the Detroit Copper Company at Morenci, Ariz., is stopping at the Hollenbeck.

J. E. Harper, located at the big milling point, Millers, Nev., is here looking up machinery for some of the properties in which he is interested. His headquarters are at the Hollenbeck.

G. R. Kiddie, heavily interested in property in the region about Morenci, Ariz., has rooms at the Hollenbeck.

M. Z. Graves and family of Philadelphia have apartments at the Alexandria for an indefinite stay. Mr. Graves is one of the heaviest stockholders in the Tecopa Consolidated Mining Company in Inyo county. His business here concerns the future working of that fine old wealth producer.

John Ryan, general manager of the Tonopah & Tidewater Railroad, was in town yesterday on his way to Oakland. He reports a very large increase in freight traffic, due to the big revival in mining at Goldfield, Tonopah, Rhyolite, Beatty and other Nevada camps, which are largely supplied from Los Angeles with machinery as well as with the necessaries of life. He states also that an increased demand has recently been in evidence for borax, which is largely supplied from the famous Lila C. mine in Inyo county. More ore has recently been found in this mine than was known heretofore to be there. A full force is employed, numbering close to 100 men, and the mill and roaster, which treats only the low-grade product, is running constantly. The high percentage Colemanite is shipped to the refinery at Bayonne, N. J.

Finger Print Expert Shows Detectives A, B, C of Capillary Biography on Thumbs.

For more than an hour yesterday afternoon, Captain of Detectives Flammer and the officers of the Bertillon bureau, were given a demonstration in the "Finger Print and Bertillon systems for the identification of criminals."

P. A. Flak, finger-print expert, who represents the Library Bureau of San Francisco, conducted the demonstration. The officers secured impressions of various fingers and within twenty minutes were so adept in the new system that they could identify the various imprints.

The finger-print system may be installed in the Los Angeles police department as well as in Sheriff Hammel's office. Many cities of the Coast have already taken in the "finger-print" as a means of identifying criminals.

"The system is not so difficult as one might suppose," said Mr. Flak, yesterday. "I have seen it used with great success in England, India and other countries. The United States is taking to it rapidly. The finger prints have been divided into 1024 classes. Each class is labeled and each finger print has its characteristics which make its identity certain. For instance, many fingers are marked with circular ridges on the skin, others with loop ridges. Now the various kinds of loop ridges will be put under that class, but each individual imprint has its minor markings which are never alike on any two fingers.

"We expect to install the system in police departments throughout the United States and our work is progressing rapidly."

TWICE TRIES TO DIE.

Laborer Spends All His Money for Drink, Then Resorts to Poison and Knife.

After inviting several friends to take a drink with him in Humphrey's saloon at No. 122 North Main street, yesterday afternoon and wishing them good luck, James Helley, a laborer, aged 21 years, poured carbolic acid into his glass and attempted to swallow it. The glass was dashed from his hand by George Conroy, the bartender, before Helley could swallow any of the poison. His friends took him into a back room and then called for the police. While Helley was left unguarded for a moment he drew his pocket-knife and attempted to cut his throat. He inflicted a slight wound on the right side of his neck before the weapon was taken away from him.

When he was examined at the Receiving Hospital, the physicians said that he was suffering from delirium tremens. His wound was dressed and he was detained in the hospital ward. According to his friends, Helley has been drinking for several days. He purchased the poison yesterday afternoon and treated his friends with his last dollar after squandering his month's wages for liquor.

BANQUET TO FRIENDS.

Commissioner-General of Foreign Exhibits, Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, Entertains.

Signor Carlo Marchetti, recently appointed commissioner-general of foreign exhibits, representing the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition, entertained with a banquet last night at his home, Eighteenth and Griffith streets, on the eve of his departure for Europe.

An ovation was tendered the commissioner by more than a hundred of the foremost men of the Italian colony of Los Angeles. Mrs. Marchetti, the Countess De Rudio, and others of the beautiful and accomplished women of Italy, whose homes are now in Southern California, were present. The Conti De Rudio, famous Italian patriot, was one of the honored guests of the occasion.

Signor Marchetti will tell of the beauties of Southern California during his trip abroad. He has already cabled many of the foreign princes of his intended visit and expects to secure a wonderful exhibition for the Coast exposition.

While in Italy Signor Marchetti expects to be granted an audience with the King, under whose father he served as an officer of the Italian army.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

WATER SYSTEM FOR MIDWAY.

Elmer E. Jones Has Plan for Permanent Relief.

Five-Year Five-Cent Agreements Demanded.

New Company in Kern River and Ventura.

Elmer E. Jones has submitted to the Midway producers a proposal for the permanent relief of the water situation in that field by installing a complete system to bring water from the outside. He declined yesterday to give details as to where he expects to get it, but says he is certain of getting the needed supply and that he has the money assured, provided the producers will all sign a five-year agreement to take all they use from his company. The split has been on the question of price. He asks 5 cents a barrel, they want it for 3 cents, but most of them have agreed to 4 cents if they can get what they want. Mr. Jones is firm for the higher figure.

The Midway conditions are still far from ideal as to water. The Stratton wells are believed to be capable of supplying a large quantity, many believe enough for all demands, but the constant breakdowns of the old machinery have occasioned skepticism as to the final result. The new compressor is on the ground about to be installed and its work will be watched with much interest. The Southern Pacific has done something to relieve matters by hauling water in cars from Bakersfield and it is distributed by the plant put in by Mr. Jones at Siding No. 2.

Mr. Jones says that the needed system will cost $150,000 and capital can be had only when assured a substantial return such as will come from a five-year contract. To put in a costly plant and then have water found in the field and lose all customers would be ruinous. The Southern Pacific is delivering at Siding No. 2 for 3 cents, but it is contended that when the water reaches the point of consumption its price has reached more than 5 cents.

New Company Comes in.

The five acres on 8-29-28 in the south end of Kern River, belonging to the Golden Rod Oil Company of this city, have been sold to the Kern Ojai, a new corporation owning also 2700 acres of undeveloped lands in Santa Paula Cañon, just nogth of the town of Santa Paula, Ventura county. A number of Golden Rod stockholders take shares in the new company.

There are two wells of about 1000 feet on the Golden Rod, drilled during the boom and since then have been very little pumped. When they were, they produced large quantities of oil, it is understood. The old Vulcan well, just west of them, has been cleaned out and is being pumped very satisfactorily by W. S. Morton, the lessee. The wells are on the north line of the section just south of the San Joaquin, but quite a little distance from the latter's actual development, which is on the northern part of 5, but on the east the California-Kern has ten acres adjoining with two or three good wells and just beyond the Junction has a very excellent property. A third well is to be drilled very shortly.

The Ventura land adjoins that of the Union, Bard and Capitol Companies. No wells have been drilled yet, although the owners have had the ground several years.

The Golden Rod was a Los Angeles and Omaha, Neb., company, of which James G. Cortelyou of this city was president. He is interested in the new company. A. G. Gibbs is in charge of the Kern Ojai's affairs here at present.

There are quite a number of small properties like the Golden Rod's along the north line of Section 8 that should pay to pump and develop at present prices, that failed to make good when oil was 15 cents.

Pioneer's Opinion of South.

A. G. Newton, a pioneer of Kern River, who has operated extensively in Texas and elsewhere, is in the city and is much interested in the great oil revival. He has disposed of his holdings at Kern, except two tracts on 8-29-28, one of twenty acres, just west of the Vulcan Oil & Refining Company, now leased by W. S. Norton, and the other of about five acres a little further west of the first and southwest of the California-Kern. There is one well on the northeast corner of the first tract, which he says is a good producer if put in condition again. Both tracts are on the northwest 1-4 of the northwest 1-4 of 8.

Mr. Newton was president of the Grace Oil Company, now out of business, which sold the land along the north line of this section to the smaller companies now occupying it. He says there is a serious misapprehension abroad as to the value of the section for oil, inasmuch as maps have been published and statements made giving the idea that there is no oil there. According to him there is oil in the portion lying between the railroad and the Beardsley canal, which has been left undeveloped. There is oil along the northern part beyond any shadow of doubt. Wells are producing there now. Mr. Morton says the Vulcan shows very good.

"In the well drilled by the Grace, just north of the Beardsley canal we found over 100 feet of rich oil sand," said Mr. Newton. "Our well was pumped and we produced and sold 100 barrels a day for a time until oil went down to 15 cents and then we quit, as it was a losing game. We had another well a little to the northeast that made good also. Later the land was leased to others who attempted deeper drilling, going 3200 feet in one. The wells were spoiled and the lease ran out. That is why the Grace quit business, not because of the land being non-productive. I believe it is as good as any, so far as what can be developed is concerned. With better prices it ought to be developed. I am holding my lands at a stiff figure and expect to get it."

Mr. Newton is very sanguine as to the future of oil and of the Kern River field. He is of the opinion that the river is not the southern boundary of the entire field. He believes oil may yet be developed to the south, an interesting theory, important indeed, if proven true by actual drilling. There are others who have advanced similar views.

Espee Will Not Lease.

That the Southern Pacific intends to develop all its west side lands is confirmed by its refusal to sell or lease a foot of all its probably oil-bearing tracts and it has turned down some very good offers. In both Kern River and Coalinga the railroad leased and sold large areas of oil lands and has never ceased to regret its action taken when the value of oil was not nearly so well appreciated as it is now.

Knob Hills Resumes Work.

The Knob Hill, that made one of the first strikes that started the rush to Midway flat, has resumed drilling on the first well in which it found light oil. Three other rigs are to be erected at once.

The Santa Fé, which has taken over the Cunningham claim to Section 10, has a rig on the southeast quarter. Elmer E. Jones, the opposing claimant, has four rigs up. No drilling has been done so far. On Section 9, the same claims are made and in dispute. Mr. Jones has had a rig up for some time and the Santa Fé is getting material in for one. Drilling will start soon.

HIS LIBERTY SPRINT.

Prisoner Strikes Deputy Constable and Jumps from Buggy, But Is Captured After Race.

While being taken to the County Jail yesterday afternoon on the charge of embezzlement, Henry Chaves, a negro, struck Deputy Constable J. L. Varder in the face and then leaped from the buggy in which he and the constable were riding, at Aliso and Los Angeles streets. Without tying his horse, Varder jumped out and pursued his prisoner. Chaves ran south along Los Angeles street and before he was captured by Patrolman Pursell at First street, about seventy-five had joined in the chase.

In the complaint on which Chaves was arrested it is charged that he stole a cow from Albert Martin of No. 1665 Echo Park Road and sold it to A. E. Franklin, near Ascot Park. When Martin found his cow in Franklin's back yard a few days ago he attempted to take it, but Franklin showed a bill of sale, and Martin applied for a warrant for Chavez's arrest.

COURT OF APPEAL FINDINGS.

The appeal of J. J. Keith of Santa Ana, from a judgment rendered by the City Recorder, was denied yesterday, by the Second District Court of Appeal. Keith was found guilty of violating a city ordinance, which he claimed was defective and invalid. The Appellate Court states that there does not appear to be any error in the record, and therefore affirms the judgment. In the case of the Lompoc Valley Bank against H. S. Stephenson and others, the Appellate Court reversed judgment in favor of the plaintiff and orders a new trial in the Superior Court of Santa Barbara county. The action was against the guarantors of a note, and the reversal was on technical grounds.

Five passengers and two trainmen were injured when an incoming Southern Pacific train from New Orleans collided with a switch engine pulling a number of loaded cars in the Houston (Tex.) yards night before last.

A Whitley Watch A Worthy Gift

The very nature of a watch—the character of its service—makes it one of the worthiest of all gifts. And particularly so if it comes from "Whitley's," for then the reliability of its service will be assured. And in a watch reliability is practically everything — for what could be more annoying than a misleading watch?

Every Whitley watch is guaranteed. The reputation of this house is too precious—it has cost too much to jeopardize by selling any watch that we could not guarantee.

We have good watches for both men and women for as little as $10.00, and from that up as high as one cares to pay.

The celebrated E. Howard watches for men start at $35.00. This is for an open face model, 14-kt, 25-yr. filled. In hunting case it costs $37.50.

Chatelaine watches are very popular gifts for women. We have a beautiful line of them — high-grade models, exclusive designs, set with diamonds, rubies, sapphires and other precious jewels.

We invite you to come and see this splendid watch display — come whether you are ready to buy or not. Though we must say —that now is really the most advantageous time to buy. But we'll be glad to serve you when you're ready.

ANDREW HALF RIGHT.

The tariff holds the boards on the great American stage, these current weeks, and will do so until the new tariff bill, which will probably be brought in early in March, becomes enacted, maybe in June of next year. All sorts and conditions of men are interested in this subject. In the view of all men of all opinions, the new schedules will affect business adversely or favorably, as the case may be.

But widely divergent as opinions are on the abstract questions of protection and free trade in this specified instance, there is easier ground for opposing views to come together upon than perhaps ever before. The pith of each party platform was that the tariff stood in need of revision. The Republican platform was pronounced in its adherence to the general principle of protection. The Democratic platform was not pronounced in its contention for free trade; it declared for a tariff for revenue, and left it to be inferred that the secondary object, incidental protection to American industries (as supported by the Democratic party at almost all times from the days of Jefferson to those of Cleveland) would be acceptable as such.

The latest man of affairs to speak on the subject is Andrew Carnegie, the greatest figure in the iron business, the most generally and the most heavily protected of all American interests. Mr. Carnegie's views command respect solely because of his technical experience. In the realms of abstract reasoning he holds no conspicuous place in the world. His expressed opinions are often not clear, not logical, do not command generally great respect among thinkers. He never went to the fundamental strata of thought, nor studied political matters deeply. He is a practical man, a very brainy man, with a natural bias toward free trade, and a protectionist in the past only because that policy brought him large gains.

But still, the views of this great business man on a topic with which he is so conversant as this, must be respected. He is now, according to his most recently expressed sentiments, on the very borderland where free traders dwell, and about ready to cast in his lot with them. Few free traders would, in the abstract, care to go farther than Mr. Carnegie goes, as he is reported in the dispatches of Monday morning. He thinks we have progressed to a point where, generally speaking, protection is no longer necessary. He argues that the protective features of the duties might well be removed. Those who read carefully and who know the trend of the speaker's attempts at reasoning will not fail to observe that Mr. Carnegie generalizes on very insufficient facts. His talk runs generally as to the absence of any necessity for protection to American industries; his specific statements apply to the steel industry and to no other. If he were subjected to rigid cross-examination, no doubt it would be brought out that the former ironmaster was very poorly informed as to our industries generally, and therefore not qualified to pass judgment on any branch outside of his own specialty. Even there his information might be found to be limited to iron products in their coarser, less finished shapes, such as structural steel and railroad iron.

But taking him at full face value, Mr. Carnegie's views should be a warning to many who are in profound ignorance about the subject of tariff. Treading as he is on the very borders of free trade territory, this man of large experience states plainly that he is not ready to cross over. Indeed, he warns the general public of the evil effects sure to follow any radical change in the tariff schedules. For those who give the subject thought there will be no difficulty in understanding the solid wisdom which underlies his views. He points out, as The Times has been doing for months past, the two sufficient reasons why the existing schedules should generally be maintained at the present time. Within a week we have called attention to the fact that the government receipts are now below its expenditures. With lessened internal revenue likely to continue insufficient indefinitely, and with increasing expenditures, the receipts are likely to show a deficit for some time to come. Great enterprises lie before us demanding prompt attention and calling for large sums of money. High tariffs will not much more than meet these demands.

Mr. Carnegie's second reason why there should be no radical change in the tariff is a general one, and it is fundamental. He says, as we have repeatedly pointed out, that any such radical change in our tariff laws must disastrously affect general business. Even the iron business, which he says needs no longer any protection, should not be upset by any sudden change in the duty, he declares. Such changes should be made with great caution, and gradually.

Here is a rapprochement between the most advanced tariff reformers and the extreme stand-patters, which leaves the ground of contention so narrow that we should all be able to agree. Both sides say revise the tariff as soon as possible; but both sides say make no radical changes, and make no changes at all without the most careful consideration and the most thorough study.

It is extremely gratifying to The Times to have its contentions so generally found sound, and to see a prospect of getting a new tariff act which will satisfy all sides to the controversy.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

On Monday morning we reprinted from the Washington Post an article on the changes taking place in the United States Senate. The expert writer sets forth, with the illuminating power of a 5000-candle arc light, the revolution going on in this august and influential body. Yet this article, dealing as it does with facts as they appear on the surface, and not seeking the underlying principles, gives us, after all, only half the truth.

The facts in the concrete show the elimination from the Senate of the type of statesman represented by Hale, Aldrich, Platt of Connecticut, Allison, Spooner and Frye of our own immediate day, and of Webster, Benton, Fessenden, Frelinghuysen and Blaine of a remoter day, such men as Dolph of Oregon, Booth of California, Jones of Nevada and Davis of Minnesota of the day just passed. Men of these types are replaced by La Follette, Tillman and Davis, and will be replaced by Cummins, Bristow, Crawford and Jones.

Speaking of the voluntary retirement of Senator Spooner of Wisconsin, the Washington writer says that this able man sought private life because he foresaw that the Senate was becoming so revolutionized that there would be left no place for men of his temperament, views and manners. The Tillman, La Follette, Jeff Davis type was getting control and he would be reduced to a cipher in the Senate.

That seems to be all true. But it is not the whole truth. Spooner was deliberately forced into retirement by La Follette and his machine. Direct war was made on the Republican organization in Wisconsin to put Spooner and his kind out of control of the party. The cry was "reform," and the attack was made on the "machine." Wisconsin Democrats forsook their own alliances and joined the La Follette forces to defeat the Spooner wing of the Republican party. Mr. W. J. Bryan, a citizen of Nebraska, gave all the help he could to La Follette in order to overthrow the Spooner people.

It is by going beneath the surface and getting at these inner springs of the movement that we find the thread of the motives which have led to this revolution in the Senate. The superficial observer will dwell upon the staid, conservative, somewhat obstructive policy followed by the old type of Senator, and will rejoice with unbounded joy at the change. He will hail it as a necessary and beneficial reform in the Senate, which, to him, will promise great things. We will not deny that the Senate was a slow-moving body, or that "Senatorial courtesy" was made sometimes to cover great sins, and that change in the ponderous body was desirable.

But more than reform is about to take place in the Senate, unless the movement is checked. If the present trend works out, the Senate will be revolutionized, and the revolution will be radical. This matter touches all Americans, and will be looked upon with satisfaction by some, with misgivings by others. The Republican party is particularly concerned in the movement. In proportion to the success achieved, not only will the Senate undergo revolution, but the party will be in danger of the same transformation. Why did Mr. Bryan and his followers aid Senator La Follette to destroy the Spooner influence in the Republican party in Wisconsin? Do not imagine it was merely for the purpose of splitting the party. That, no doubt, was part of the game. But the real purpose was to inject into the party leaven which, in the end, would make Wisconsin so like Oklahoma in Populism that a microscopical inspection would not reveal any important difference. If the Senate becomes La Folletteized the leaven will be put into the whole lump of Republicanism in the United States.

Senator La Follette and his followers are in almost exact accord with the people of Oklahoma on tariff, on finances, in hostility to trusts, in radical control of corporations, and for quasi-public control of public utilities as fast as these things can be brought about. We are justly gratified to note the small figure cut in the recent election by the Socialists. The people have shied away in fear from dangerous doctrines so subversive to our progress and prosperity. In the insidious form of Populism, however, this cult has become more seductive than ever to a large number of our people. Had it not been for the powerful influence of the President, half the West would have gone to Bryan the other day. As it was, glorious as the triumph was, the Republican majorities were cut to pieces in some Western States.

This revolution in the Senate is indicative of more than appears on the surface. It is not "Senatorial courtesy" that is attacked. It is not the alleged fossilism in the Senate that is to be removed. That will not satisfy the La Follette type of statesman. A thorough revolution is to be wrought there, and that revolution is to extend to the Republican party in the United States.

The movement is formidable. It may seem to some to be gravely menacing. But it will not succeed. Its strength is in the West. Its check will come from the East. Its seat is among the farmers and small shop-keepers. It will be stayed by a combination between the great business interests and the wage-earners.

Two facts in the election of November 3 point to where the defeat of La Folletteism may be looked for. New York City, for the second time since the war, cast a majority of its ballots for the Republican ticket. The wage-earner's vote never went so nearly solidly Republican. Going back a little farther, note that New Jersey and Connecticut, usually strongly Democratic, have been set against Bryanism in every campaign. Note that Maryland and Delaware are Republican States, and Kentucky and Missouri sure to become steady in their allegiance to the party. Whenever it comes to a question of turning the United States over to the type of people who govern Oklahoma, count on half a dozen Southern States going Republican.

The La Follette type of statesman is having his day just now, but the day will not be long. Not many years hence he will be as absolutely repudiated in politics by the American people as are Ida Tarbell, Upton Sinclair, Link Steffins and the other muck-rakers today in our literature.

"SEE HIM GET STUNG!"

DOES HE SEE CLEARLY?

A San Diego clergyman has suppressed a woman section in the choir of his church, and as one reason for this act he says that wearing the white garment by choir girls is contrary to the history of the church.

The clergyman does many things differently from the prescriptions of the history of the church, if he takes history in all its broad expanse. He wears broadcloth nether garments. St. Paul never had such a garment on his person. The San Diego man wears a Derby, wide-awake or high hat. St. Peter would look queer in the chancel window in such a rig. The choir girls wear high-heeled shoes in the choir, and the early Christians were mostly barefoot.

Nearly all the details of worship today are different from what they were at some time in the history of the church. Some rector or other had to make an innovation now and again. Otherwise all services would be still said in cellars, because the early Christians at Rome said their prayers in the catacombs.

The choir girls at San Diego should read the rubrics in their prayer books, and the XXXIX article, which deals with ceremonies, to their rector. We believe that this plank in the Episcopal platform says that ceremonies, traditions and such things vary, and says that any method of performing the service is all right if it is done decently and in order.

NOBLE TITLES, THEIR ORIGIN.

Whence come these titles for which American heiresses strive so eagerly? Some from sources none too good, for even when the ancestral founder had brains or ability, he was, perhaps, a rascal, while others were rascals without the brains. There are, or have been, among the British nobility, some whose sole claim to distinction was descent from the illegitimate children of that notorious rake, King Charles the Second.

Here is how the Duke of Marlborough, Consuelo Vanderbilt's husband, received his title. His family name is Churchill. In the reign of Charles the Second, the Churchill family was one of the very poor gentry, a sort of shabby gentility too common in all ages, with nothing to commend them and no future apparent until a daughter of the house, Arabella, attracted the attention of the Duke of York, brother of the King, became his mistress, and bore him a son, who became prominent as Duke of Berwick. The family made no objection, and was rather pleased at the chance to advance themselves through the Duke's influence. John Churchill, her brother, became the Duke's boon companion, and was advanced from an obscure nobody to place after place of prominence and trust.

King Charles died without legitimate issue, and the Duke of York become King James the Second. Then John Churchill became a Baron, and was made commander-in-chief of the army. Everything apparently that he could wish was his; new honors came to him; and what was even more, money, for then, as now, the "aristocracy" loved money despite the fashion of pretending to look down upon it, and Churchill was as avaricious as any man, high or low.

Soon it became apparent that King James's policy was unpopular, and that it was doubtful if he could continue his hold on the throne. John Churchill was no man to support a tottering cause. That he owed everything to the King mattered not the least. He was one of the first to enter into the conspiracy to bring over from Holland, Mary, the daughter of James, who had turned against her father, and her husband, William of Orange. His wife was the most intimate friend of Anne, the future Queen, and through her influence the Princess, whose mind was none too strong, was readily induced to become a party to her father's undoing.

When the Dutch landed in England, it was with the full knowledge that they had a friend in command of the English army. Churchill was loud in his protestations of devoted loyalty; he spoke with great horror of the conspirators, his companions in treason, until the moment that he could best accomplish his purpose, when he basely deserted to William's camp, taking with him a number of his partners, after using his influence to undermine the King with the army.

As a result, James's army, abandoned by its chief, made no resistance to William, who occupied London, while James became a fugitive in France. For his treason Churchill was created Duke of Marlborough. He retained his command of the army, and he proved himself a military genius at a time when most of the important posts in the army had to be filled by foreign mercenaries.

With all this, however, the traitor was unable to rest content, and he hatched another conspiracy, the object of which was ostensibly the restoration of James, whom he persuaded that he was heartbroken over his past conduct; but it is generally thought that his real purpose was to place Anne on the throne, and through the influence of his wife to become ruler of Great Britain. His plot failed, but he was too powerful to be punished, except by dismissal from power, and later he regained his post. With the wars on the continent under Queen Anne he added glory to the arms of England, and Blenheim Castle became his reward.

It is as a great commander that his name has come down to us, and, as it has been well said, "in the glory of the Duke of Marlborough has been forgotten the infamy of John Churchill," the man who rose to power on a sister's shame and then betrayed his benefactor and King.

If Consuelo ever thinks of all this she must be proud of her title. None of Marlborough's descendants have done anything worthy of note, and their sole distinction is in their relationship to him.

lar for the box office in one way, but the public likes comfort as well as amusement and it will undoubtedly be a source of profit in the long run.

The foyer, though incomplete, gave an adequate idea of what it will be when the workmen have completed their task in the next few days. Entering from Broadway through a lobby of white marble and red marble and granite columns with green side walls and a highly ornamented stucco ceiling, the visitor turns into a reception room sixty feet wide, at either end of which the stairways lead to the balcony. This is the foyer, maintaining the scheme of color rigidly and artistically, and above which the crown chandeliers suffuse soft light. Entrance to the auditorium is from either side and is arranged particularly to accelerate the distribution of the audience. Probably no adequate conception of the entire beauty of the interior may be gained until all the embellishments have been added and this opportunity will come as the week progresses.

HEART-WINNING SCENES.

As the handsomely attired audience arrived early it had ample opportunity to admire the play-house before the company was ready to go ahead with its extravaganza. "The Land of Nod" is built on the dream of a child. In her sleep she sees the Card Castle of the King of Hearts, whose son, the Jack of Hearts, woos and wins her, and the Man in the Moon, April Fool, the Telephone Man, who knows it all, the Welsh Rarebit, who is a rare bit, the Weather Man, who rules the Land of Nod, and the Chorus Girl, who, as she said herself, is the backbone of the theatrical business. Out of such a fantastic group it is possible for Adams and Hough to devise the most comical and spectacular scenes, and the whole show has been illuminated by the characteristic music of Joseph E. Howard.

There is not a dull moment in it. There is not a minute when there is a quiet stage scene. The genius of the stage director seems to have been exhausted by the action of the chorus and the costumer has been completely robbed in the novelty of the designs. The dash of everything, the piquancy of the chorus, the continuity of the scenes and the elaborate stage dressing make the "Land of Nod" rank as a top-notcher in its class.

Much was expected of Dorothy Webb as Bonnie, and Knox Wilson as April Fool. But not too much. It would be hard to expect too much, for the repeated encores of each found them prepared with such facility that the encores might not have stopped. Wilson has an exclusive style of fun making, and has mannerisms that remind one of Joe Cauthorne, especially when Wilson appeared with his concertina, the instrument that was the basis of Cauthorne's stage life. Miss Webb must have been created for the part. Winsome, child-like and elfin in her sprightliness, she won the hearts of all.

RIGHT IN LINE.

It would hardly do to ignore such a taking character as the Chorus Girl, as Miss Adelaide Hariand depicts her. Miss Harland seems to know. She is the business member of the fantastic group, and shares her honors with the Man in the Moon, Maurice Darcy, whose sweet singing of the "Same Old Moon" brought many encores; the Welsh Rarebit, W. C. Welp, a clever comedian, and April Fool.

Miss Grace Drew, as Jack of Hearts, sustained the only role that did not cater to the humors, and her beauty of form and face as well as her magnificent lyric soprano, were indispensible to the success of the performance. Her singing of "Mandy Lane," with the full chorus in action, was the particularly artistic feat of the night. It was followed by Knox Wilson's inimitable saxaphone solo and dance, a creation out of his own oddities.

"The Land of Nod," with its gorgeous scenery, its sensuous music and its vivacity, is engaging, and it was only when The Alarm Clock (C. F. Carpenter) appeared and overthrew the dominion of the Sandman (W. E. Morgan,) that the audience cast off the spell of the beautiful, quaint fairy show and realized that a new theater and a new play had completed their introduction to the Los Angeles theater-goers.

The Majestic has opened with a tremendous advance sale for the week. The "Nod" company is to occupy the entire week, and will give matinées tomorrow, Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) and Saturday. Next week George Ade's "Just Out of College," one of his best comedies, is to be the attraction.

The Rare Metals.

There are five rare metals in the so-called platinum group—rhodium, osmium, palladium, iridium and ruthenium. Rhodium resists the action of chemicals remarkably, acids that dissolve gold and platinum having no effect upon it. It is used for crucibles. Osmium is the heaviest of the metals, one-sixth heavier than gold. Iridium is one of the hardest of metals and is extensively used in the making of points for gold pens. All these rare and costly metals are obtained merely as by-products in the refining of platinum, and the world-supply is controlled by one firm in London.

Dumpling First, Grief Second.

Back in the ridges of Tennessee two mountaineers got into an argument. Words led to blows, and in the fight that followed one of the men was killed. A neighbor rode on ahead to the dead man's cabin to prepare his wife. He found her seated at a table eating apple dumplings. He broke the sad news to her as gently as he could. She listened quietly, with a dumpling poised in the air half-way to her mouth. When the neighbor paused she stuffed the dumpling into her mouth and said: "You jest wait 'til I finish this hyer dumplin' an' then you all 'll hear hellerin'."—[Harper's Monthly.

DOUBLES IN FIVE YEARS.

Small Hotel Property on East Fifth Street Sells for Ninety Thousand Dollars.

The Earl-Roy Hotel, at Nos. 233-39 East Fifth street, was sold yesterday for $90,000 by W. B. Merwin & Co. The grantor is W. R. Arnold, and the grantee Isaac Milbank, both of this city. The property consists of a lot 70x80 feet, on the north side of the street, improved with a three-story brick building, Class C type. There are four stores on the street level and rooms and apartments above. The building rents for $576 a month.

Five years ago this lot was purchased by Mr. Arnold from W. D. Woolwine for $18,500. The building was erected about three and one-half years ago for $25,000. This shows an increase of $46,500 over the original cost of the entire property, or about 107 per cent. in five years.

Mr. Merwin says he has had a number of inquiries for important downtown locations. This property he has just sold is within five minutes' walk of the business center, just east of Los Angeles street, and is considered close in.

Couldn't Stop Him.

A young advocate was engaged in his first case. Before he had proceeded ten minutes, with full forensic force, the judge had decided the case in his favor, and had told him so. Despite this, the young man would not stop. Finally the judge leaned forward, and, in a politest of tones, said: "Mr. B——, notwithstanding your arguments, the court has concluded to decide this case in your favor."—[Philadelphia Inquirer.

Soon See the Blaze.

A man who died recently in the north of England and had been living a dishonest life under the cloak of religion, wishing to pose as a good man to the last, said to those around him: "All is bright before me."

"Aye," said one of those present, whom he had swindled out of a sum of money, "an' in about ten minutes thee'll be near enough to see the blaze!"—[Exchange.

Ormsby of Tucson, Grand Treasurer. Mrs. Rosalie Clark of Flagstaff was elected Grand Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star, and Harriet Oliver of Prescott, Grand Secretary.

There are twenty subordinate Masonic lodges in Arizona and the Grand Lodge has grown accordingly. Financially the Grand Lodge is in excellent condition, having more than $22,000 in the treasury.

During the session of the Grand Lodge in Prescott was dedicated the new temple of the local lodge.

MUNICIPAL WOE.

A couple of years ago the city of Prescott tried to install a municipal lighting plant and, in order to build the necessary electric lines around the city, accepted advance payments from a number of the business houses.

The Prescott Electric Company fought the ordinance at every phase of the new scheme and finally succeeded in having it blocked by injunction, on the ground that the city had reached the limit of indebtedness established by Congress and therefore was not privileged to go into debt any further for any purpose. After this a Los Angeles firm sued the city for material furnished, and now Henry Brinkmeyer and others are suing for the recovery of $1718, advanced toward the installation of the municipal lighting plant.

SOLDIER FIGHTS ROBBERS.

A daring attempt was made Wednesday night to rob the commissary building at Ft. Whipple. This building is down in a little valley, at some distance from the main part of the post.

Private Matthews of Troop L of the Fifth Cavalry, on guard in the early morning, saw a man near the building. The stranger failed to halt when commanded and advanced on the guard, who fired at him. Almost the moment the shot was fired Matthews was knocked to the ground by a terrific blow across the back, a confederate of the robber having jumped from behind the concealment of a box car.

Matthews still had strength enough to shout "Guard, number two." The guard failed to find the sentry, who had fallen unconscious under the commissary porch. The entire command at the post was called out immediately and the neighborhood and hills were scoured, but the robbers could not be located. It is believed that there were three of them. They had forced one of the doors of the commissary when discovered by Matthews. The sentry was found about daylight under the porch and taken to the hospital. It is believed he will recover, though internally injured. A trail of blood showed he had wounded the man he aimed at.

HOBSON RAPS PRESIDENT.

Demands That He Rescind His Order Taking Atlantic Fleet Out of the Pacific.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

AKRON (Ohio) Nov. 23.—Congressman Richmond P. Hobson, who was here today, has sent a letter to President Roosevelt demanding that he rescind his orders recalling the United States fleet from the Pacific. In his letter he scored President Roosevelt for his interfering in the Japanese troubles in California, saying:

"Our Presidents have invariably refused to interfere in local matters, even when foreign subjects were being assassinated, but in this case, Mr. President, you did interfere where foreign subjects were not being harmed. If you were justified then in calling on the people of San Francisco to surrender, you are not justified in now withdrawing the fleet and again placing them and their neighbors on the whole coast in precisely the same defenseless position. It would be a national and international calamity to withdraw the fleet."

One German workman and thirty Chinese were killed yesterday as the result of an accident in the works of a German mining company near Hung Shan, China.

Battle for Bulk Rate Upon Large Shipments.

Local Shippers Raising Fund for Legal Fight.

Wells, Fargo & Company Puts Rates Away Up.

Local merchants will enter the fight begun by San Francisco business men against the announced increase in express rates over the lines controlled by Wells, Fargo & Co. The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has unanimously indorsed the movement and will help raise the fund, which is to be used in the legal battle that promises to be long and expensive.

Some time ago the San Francisco merchants formed an association for the purpose of consolidating express shipments from New York. Wells, Fargo & Co. refused to apply the carload rates, stating that all such shipments would be a violation of its bulked shipment rule.

The association brought the matter before the Interstate Commerce Commission and got a decision in its favor. The ruling was to become effective on October 1, but the express company secured an extension of sixty days, presumably for the purpose of bringing injunction proceedings to restrain the commission from putting its decision into effect.

The association believes that it has a good chance to win its contention, and if necessary will carry the case to the United States Supreme Court. The members are paying the full tariff of 13½ cents a pound under protest. With each payment, a protest is entered, and a claim filed for the difference between the full rate and the rate applicable to bulked shipments, which average about five thousand pounds.

HOPE FOR VICTORY.

By the consolidation and delivery method of shipments, about two days time is lost across the continent and the present cost to the association would be deemed unbusinesslike if it were not for the hope of an ultimate victory.

To counteract the efforts of the merchants, Wells, Fargo & Co. has just filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a petition for leave to withdrew all rates lower than 13½ cents a pound on merchandise from New York to California terminals reached exclusively by its lines. This new schedule is to become effective December 16, and this move has called forth additional efforts on the part of the shippers.

Now that they are to have the aid of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of this city, the hopes of the shippers in the North have greatly risen.

"San Francisco and Los Angeles are the two cities in the State to be affected by the proposed raise in express rates," said Secretary F. J. Zeehandelaar yesterday. "The California Commercial Association was formed for the purpose of consolidating express shipments from the East. A central depot was established in New York, and the individual members of the association could thus get the benefit of rates on carload lots of 7 cents a pound, as compared with 13½ cents for smaller shipments.

COMPANY'S MONOPOLY.

"The express company, which has no competition in either city, appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, but that body decided in favor of the merchants. I understand that the petition for rehearing will come up before Commissioner Franklin K. Lane at San Francisco, December 5.

"Our association took the matter up with the view of effecting an organization here on the lines carried out by the San Francisco association. I went to San Francisco to investigate conditions and made a report upon my return.

"Apparently in retaliation, Wells, Fargo & Co. has filed a new tariff sheet calling for a flat rate of 13½ cents on all express shipments, irrespective of the quantity shipped. In some cases, the change will mean an increase of from 40 to 90 per cent. I have made an investigation of local conditions and find that Los Angeles merchants contribute over $250,000 a year for express charges. We are raising a fund to show the San Francisco merchants that they have our moral and financial support. We will stay with them in the fight.

"According to the information I have received, the case will sooner or later be taken before the United States Supreme Court for final decision. It is asserted that the railroads have combined with Wells, Fargo & Co. to fight against the consolidated express shipments."

QUANTITY RATES.

The California Commercial Association, now joined by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association of this city, has secured able counsel, who will associate with a traffic expert for the purpose of framing a proper protest to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. It will make a determined effort to prevent the withdrawal of the quantity rates, which at present are as follows: Twenty thousands pounds, up, 7 cents; 10,000 to 20,000, 8 cents; 5000 to 10,000, 9 cents; 2000 to 5000, 10 cents; 1000 to 2000, 11 cents; 500 to 1000, 12 cents and 100 to 500, 13½ cents.

The shippers assert that the withdrawal of the quantity rates will result in a great loss to all California merchants, who depend upon quick shipments of commodities from the East.

The local merchants appear eager to join the contest, for they say that their interests are at stake in the controversy and that the proposed flat rate would be a great detriment to their trade.

The express-rate question is an important one and the merchants are willing to leave the matter of a fair rate to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The merchants in this city and San Francisco do the bulk of their shipping by express to save time.

COMPANY'S VIEW.

On the other hand, the express company states that the bulk rate can only be available when the shipments are owned by one shipper. It contends that the consolidation of shipments is a violation of this rule and accordingly has violated the rule by forming an association for joint shipments to the Coast.

In compliance with the Interstate Commerce regulations, Wells Fargo & Co. has posted the following notice in its offices:

"Hereafter merchandise in shipments of 100 pounds and over, between eastern offices and Pacific Coast terminals reached exclusively by Wells Fargo & Co. must be charged for at the regular rate per 100 pounds as shown in the official tariff of merchandise rates, I. C. C. No. 10, and supplements thereto, effective, December 16, 1908."

COMPANY'S VIEW.

On the other hand, the express company states that the bulk rate can only be available when the shipments are received by one shipper. In compliance with the Interstate Commerce regulations, Wells Fargo & Co. has posted the following notice in its offices:

C. C. No. 18, and supplements thereto, effective December 10, 1908."

The regular merchandise rate referred to as shown by the general tariff, is $13.50 on the 100 pounds. The increase in rates will only affect the larger shippers, as the rates on small parcels will remain as before. The increase will amount to 90 per cent. on large shipments, and will grade down to about 40 per cent. on medium shipments.

The express company claims that it is not profitable to allow the California shippers to consolidate on their shipments from the East on account of the long haul. The low rate was made, it asserts, for the purpose of making it easier for the individual shipper, when his importations from Europe and New York reached carload lots.

TERRORIZED.

WOMEN FEARING HOBO ATTACKS.

COMPLAIN TO POLICE AGAINST NIGHT PROWLERS.

In Sparsely Settled District of West Side Tramps, Unusually Bold, Try to Break Into Houses—Little Girl in Danger, But Bites Man's Hand and Escapes.

Tramps and night prowlers are terrorising residents of the West Side, in the neighborhood of Sunset boulevard and Fanning street, by a series of depredations, and the women in the vicinity are afraid to venture out of the house after dark without an escort.

Tramps last week visited the homes of R. B. Frizell and G. M. Palmer on Occidental avenue, and M. E. McKee on Bryan street, near Sunset boulevard. They were in every instance drunk and insolent, and made themselves obnoxious. They tried to force their way into the home of McKee, but were repulsed by Mrs. McKee.

They were noticed later to be loitering in the neighborhood, and Monday night some one attempted to force an entrance into the McKee house. They were driven off by neighbors, who responded to Mrs. McKee's telephoned appeal for aid. The police were notified, and officers were sent to the scene, but the prowlers made their escape.

Other depredations are reported. Fruit and shade trees have been destroyed, and the wives of several residents in the neighborhood complain of insult and insolence from these tramps.

The women were thoroughly frightened at the culmination of these outrages on Saturday night about 8 o'clock, when an unknown man made an attack upon Frances White, the twelve-year-old niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dun, No. 930 Fanning street. The attack was made while the little girl was waiting for a Hollywood car at the corner of Sunset boulevard and Fanning streets, within a few steps of her home.

There is an electric light on this corner, but for a block between Fanning street and Coronado street, there is a long unoccupied stretch of ground. There is here a deep gully, partially filled up with rock and trees, and overgrown with shrubbery. Frances had left her home to join friends on the car, with whom she was going to the theater. They were not on the car and she started to return to the house, when a man stepped from the high weeds in the vacant lot and accosted her.

"Where are you going little girl?" he said. "Come with me, I won't hurt you," continued the man, and he grabbed her roughly by the arm.

Frightened, but retaining her presence of mind, the girl bit the hand which was holding her, and with an oath the man jerked his hand away, exclaiming: "What are you doing, you little devil?"

When he released his hold the girl fled. The man pursued her for some distance, but becoming alarmed at the approach of a Hollywood car, suddenly turned and disappeared in the dense shrubbery of the vacant lot.

The girl continued her flight until she came to the store at the corner of Casco and Sunset boulevard, and later returned to her home, where she related her experience. Complaint was made yesterday to the police, says Mrs. McKee, who states that as the section is but sparsely settled, and the beat of the patrolman a long one, the women are afraid to be out after dark alone.

BUNCH MADE WILL.

Sell the desk, typewriter and chairs maps etc. they are yours everything you may find belonging to me is yours. This is my last will and testament. Think of me kindly. The hour of my departure is at hand. I am writing this from under Peck's Pavillion. Yours devotedly,

[Signed] "J. NEWTON BUNCH."

CONTENDS IT IS LEGAL.

The ground upon which Attorney Benson contends that this will is valid is "a decision in which the Superior Court has held that a letter written to the wife of a man on the eve of a contemplated suicide, in which he bequeaths her his property, constitutes a valid will.

"Had I been here at the time Bunch was charged with a felony, he never need have killed himself," said Attorney Benson, yesterday. I have gone over the complaint and am satisfied that it fails to allege any criminal action on his part. I am borne out in this by the fact that the case against Mrs. Bunch was dismissed on the 12th inst., on my demurrer based on this allegation.

"The first case I ever defended in California in 1883 was for Bunch. That was in San Francisco, and I have known him ever since. I do not take outside cases now, as all my time is taken up with my own business, but I have taken this affair in hand just for old memory's sake.

"The three pieces of property mentioned in the will as deeded to Donahue were held in trust before that by Mrs. Rogers. Bunch had a power of attorney for her, and as she merely held them in trust for him, he deeded them to Donahue, for the reason stated.

"After Bunch committed suicide, Mrs. Rogers stampeded and gave away deeds to everyone who claimed that they had been swindled, and in the hubbub, was frightened into giving deeds for these three pieces of property, that no longer stood in her name. This forms a portion of the estate and we will recover it with or without legal action as the case may be.

"I was away at San Francisco when these charges were filed against my old friend, and the day he was released on bond he came here to my office. He told my stenographer to wire to me to return and get him out of trouble. According to her, he was very agitated, and offered to pay me $1000 to intercede for him, as he had no faith in his attorney. At the same time he was loud in his protestations of innocence."

PROVIDED FOR CHILDREN.

In the application for probation, which will be filed today, another chapter in the life of the late real estate agent is revealed. He had four children by his first wife, and prior to his marriage with the present Mrs. Bunch, he had provided for all of them by dividing among them all his property, except a small home. These children are Fred Bunch of San Francisco, and Miss Lillian Bunch and two minors living in San Diego.

The fact that Bunch had provided for these will be used as an argument to show that all of the property he has accumulated since that time should go to Mrs. Bunch No. 2. According to Attorney Benson, Mrs. Bunch No. 1, has been married again, to a man named Marston and now resides in San Diego.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS.

Main Point of the Meeting of the Commission on Country Life Tomorrow Evening.

About fifty representative agriculturists and economists will meet with the Federal Commission on Country Life tomorrow night at Assembly Hall, Chamber of Commerce. Secretary Wiggins has sent out invitations to all the commercial bodies of Southern California to send delegates. The meeting will be entirely informal, and will consist in the main of queries put by members of the commission and answers by those in attendance. The party consists of the following: Prof. L. H. Bailey of the New York State College of Agriculture; Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College; Henry Wallace of Des Moines, Iowa; Gifford Pinchot, Chief Forester; Walter H. Pafe, editor of World's Work; Charles S. Barrett of Union City, Ga., and W. A. Beard of Sacramento.

The party will arrive here tomorrow afternoon. The Chamber will probably take the members around the city in automobiles, and possibly arrange for some public function Thursday.

CROKER'S BIRTHDAY.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Richard Croker will celebrate his sixty-seventh birthday tomorrow. When reminded of his birthday, he paused to reflect on his splendid health. Mr. Croker said he had not yet decided when he will leave New York, nor where he will spend the remainder of the winter. He will, however, go either to Florida or California.

CROOK MOORE BEHIND BARS.

Preying "General" Accused by Woman Victim.

Notorious Charity Grafter in Ugly Trouble.

Ex-Convict Arrested After Pitiful Story.

"Gen." A. W. Moore, who, in the guise of a worker in behalf of the poor and destitute, has been conducting a fake rescue mission at No. 234½ East Fourth street for more than a year, was arrested yesterday by Detective Busse after Mrs. Mary Chesney had complained that the ex-convict had criminally assaulted her.

Mrs. Mary Chesney, a frail young widow, answered one of Moore's advertisements. She was told to solicit subscriptions for "charity" (Moore) and she would be well paid in commissions.

The young woman and her three-month-old baby were given a room in the house, and the woman's mother was also housed there. She remained one day. Sunday night Moore made the statement that there was no room for the mother in the "home" and sent her to a near-by lodging-house.

The story told by the younger woman to Deputy District Attorney Ford yesterday was pitiful.

PITIFUL CASE.

"The woman was in a highly nervous condition when she complained to me this morning," said Attorney Ford. "She told me of this outrage. She said that she had answered Moore's advertisement for some one to solicit charitable contributions for him. She was taken into the lodging-house and on the second day her mother was sent away under the pretext that there was not enough room for her in the house. When the mother had been removed, Mrs. Chesney was told to take Moore's room. This is on one side of the house, entirely apart from the sleeping quarters of the men who lodge there, so far removed in fact that the woman's screams could not be heard.

"Mrs. Chesney stated that when Moore returned from taking her mother away he entered the room with a pass key. She was not aware of his presence until he sprang toward her, muttering that his wife was far away, and that he had a longing for her.

"The woman stated that she screamed and cried out, but none came to her. Her shoulders are black and blue from the bruises which she said Moore inflicted upon her. When he had accomplished his purpose he announced that he guessed she wouldn't have to work any more for awhile, that he thought he could get enough charitable subscriptions to keep her well dressed.

"The woman left the house as quickly as she could, according to her statement. I have sent her to a physician for examination."

Moore was arrested immediately after the woman had made complaint. He followed the officer to the Police Station and made a mild denial of the charge. He was dressed in a long frock coat of blue and wore "rescue army" straps on his shoulders. His black slouch hat was encircled with a silver-braid cord.

Yesterday afternoon the complaining witness in the case, probably too ill to do so, failed to appear at the time appointed, and police have been sent in search of her. Moore is held in jail until the woman can appear.

KEEPS ON PREYING.

The "general," according to the police records, had been the subject of complaints for many months, but thus far he has continued his depredations with impunity, preying on the public.

On the witness stand in Justice Pierce's court, some time ago, Moore, under oath, admitted that he had been convicted of a felony. Justice Pierce stated then that a man of his kind ought to be taken out and shot. Moore has worked his graft with impunity, hiding, smug-faced, behind the guise of Christianity, and using his "rescue home" as a place to entrap destitute women and induce them to get money for him by imposing on merchants.

The writ was then given to Deputy Constable Jack Adams, a very little man of hostile demeanor, who landed upon Moore at the first show of resistance and threw him downstairs. Adams then went to the roof, where Moore had piled the furniture, and threw the stuff into the street.

Not more than two months ago complaints were made to Deputy City Prosecuting Attorney Guy Eddie by women who accused Moore of having hired them to solicit subscriptions. They stated that Moore had first made improper proposals to them, and then attempted to force them. They managed to beat him off.

Secretary Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association has issued more than one warning to the merchants regarding the grafting game of Moore.

"This man is a rank faker," said the secretary of the association yesterday. "He advertises for women to act as solicitors for him. He then sends them to the merchants to ask for charity. I have had it reported to me that when the women turn in their reports he abuses them because they do not make false entries opposite the names of the subscribers.

"He desires these entries to be used as bait for other subscriptions. For instance, if a merchant subscribes 25 cents he places $2 before the entry, making it $2.25, so that the next merchant will subscribe a larger amount than he ordinarily would.

"He has conducted this fake scheme for some time, and we have sent warnings throughout the city regarding him. It seems to me that he ought to be arrested and prosecuted on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses."

A TIP.

LOS ANGELES PETS IN THEIR GLORY.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Let me give you an honest tip—if you get within street car, subway, taxicab or talking distance of Billie Burke this year—see her. You will not be disappointed. The adorable deliciousness-in-the-bud with which she so charmed us last spring, in "My Wife," has not yet expanded into full-grown sophistication, but on the contrary, it has become even more convincingly innocent, more childishly pretty, more frankly unafraid.

Charles Frohman, who has one of the longest heads in a row of long heads on Broadway, has wisely picked Billie Burke for stellar honors—and stellar honors she is carrying, bearing them well on her dainty schoolgirl's shoulders, and facing the responsibilities of a truly independent actress very bravely and very successfully.

Great plays do not spring from the ground, any more than bushes growing clusters of Billie Burkes, hence the Burke play is not altogether the thing this year. In fact, it would not be much of anything without Billie Burke. It is called "Love Watches," and is by R. De Flers and G. Caillavet, with the adaption by Gladys Unger. The title doesn't strike one as being either apt or inapt. The play has a pretty little story, one which seems almost made for Billie Burke.

Jacqueline, a dainty, self-willed little girl, is discovered pouting over the not-at-all-villainous endeavors of her family to ally her with a man whom she does not love.

She does not love Count Andre de Luvigny.

Though the name hath a decided Bonifacian Castellane flavor, Count Andre is not such a one, but a modest and able French youth, broad of shoulder, red of blood, kind of heart, with a modest speech and the general bearing of a real man.

And it is this Count Andre whom Jacqueline, in a golden-haired whirlwind of darting, throwing metaphoric somersault by declaration of love.

Andre is fully as crazy Jacqueline, but his nerve w to the working point, silent until she spe tells him, among oth when she first saw hi through the wood, wi little nook under a tr "You were so dign and haughty," says fairly hated you. ould love—and laugh came tumbling down ny feet. And your and you fell—Oh, so a loved you!"

So far, things are del And Jacqueline has al through the years fro of babyhood, by one birds, a sweet soul, lonely little fortune, never given speeches, immersed for the be the time in his library, in the but not of it, one very much o romantic oddity in a crowd of ordinary men. one for And Count Andre has been wooed, awful secret in a light-hearted way, by a veritable locked Merry Widow. And his qualms are not relieved by Andre's threats of dire vengeance upon the despoiler of his happiness.

The kindergarten plot thickens!

Presently impetuous little Jacqueline, discovering some evidences of the widow's attention to her young husband, flies into a fit of jealousy, and when there is proof that she of the weeds has been pursuing her campaign within Jacqueline's four little sanctified walls, little Jacqueline becomes a queen of tragedy.

She believes it the proper thing for an outraged woman to fly somewhere, and as her wings are not big enough for long-distance flights, she flies to Ernest, first having penned him a distractingly melodramatic note.

Ernest, as may be imagined, is overwhelmed.

He comes out of his shell for the first time in a decade, dusts his brains and endeavors to wind up his long-unused faculty for authoritative masculine action.

He, however, is as badly frightened as she, and attempts little more than an effusion of rhapsodic utterances.

When he tries to kiss her—a sort of parchment, grandmother's kiss—she bristles up like a tempestuous little kitten, and rushes to the top of his fairy-ladder, where she knocks off —and discovers

The following is a quaint idea for providing funds for picnics and social evenings. It is carried on with much success at an Ashton-on-Mersey inn. A "knocking club" is connected with the inn, and when a customer calls for refreshment he is expected to knock on the table or counter before drinking. If he fails to do this he is fined one penny. Any one who wrongfully accuses another of breaking this unique rule is also fined. The money thus obtained provides funds for many enjoyable outings and pleasant evenings during the course of the year.

At another hotel, known as the Old Hundred, customers are allowed only one drink. If one is not sufficient to quench their thirst they are obliged to go out of the hotel and take a walk before they are allowed to have another.

Till recently the proprietor of an old-time hotel in Warwickshire used to invite all his customers to accompany him and his wife to the service at the parish church on Sunday mornings, which was situated on the opposite side of the road, the house being closed while they were away. On returning each customer was invited to partake of refreshments offered by the hospitable landlord free of charge. Visitors to a certain hotel in Aberdeenshire who wear brown boots must remember to keep them in their room overnight. Otherwise the boots will be blacked, regardless of the original color of the same. In one of the rooms of a Dumfries public house is an old armchair which is said to have been frequently used by the poet Burns. All who sit in this chair are expected to treat every one who is in the room at the time, and often the immortal memory of the famous Scottish national poet is drunk.

A small hotel in Wales until quite recently was used by the Catholics as a place of worship on Sundays, and the police court proceedings were held on the premises during the week.

Very Effective for Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatic Sufferers.

The function of the kidneys is to filter and strain the impurities from the blood, and these pass from the system in the form of urine. Pains in the urinary region and the small of the back indicate that the kidneys are sick and need treatment. Neglecting such symptoms brings rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy and heart trouble, while a simple home treatment will restore and keep the kidneys in fine working order. Being a mild, balmy, healing tonic, old and young can use with perfect safety. One-half oz. fluid extract Buchu; compound fluid Balmwort, one oz.; compound syrup Sarsaparilla, two ozs.; mix in a bottle. Take a teaspoonful before each meal. At night take another dose, drinking plenty of water.

A local druggist advises it and says he fills it frequently for the best physicians. Buchu, alone, is excellent, but aided by Balmwort and Sarsaparilla, it astonishes all who use it by its quick effectiveness.

LOCAL RAILROADS.

STORY OF GRAB NOT BELIEVED.

DENIED HARRIMAN IN CONTROL OF PAN-AMERICAN.

Yarn Is an Old One and Crops Up Every Little While—New York Bankers Have Option on Tropical Line and Mexican Government Owns All Connections.

The report from San Francisco that Harriman has obtained control of the Pan-American Railroad, built by Los Angeles and St. Louis capitalists, from San Geronimo on the Tehuantepec line to the Guatemalan frontier of Mexico, is not credited among those well informed as to Pan-American affairs. It is an old story revived again and again and as often denied.

If the railroad is sold it is believed that the purchaser will be the Mexican government, although just what will happen to the portion planned to penetrate the Central American States to the south is not explained. The route is now about the longest in actual operation in the republic not owned by the government. The longest will be the Harriman Coast line, now under construction to Guadalajara.

The Pan-American's connections are all government-owned. The Tehuantepec, with which it has a conjunction at San Geronimo, has but two stockholders sufficient to be considered, viz.: the Mexican government and the firm of Pearson & Son, while the Vera Cruz and Pacific, over which passengers come to the isthmus from Cordova, to which point they come from the capital on the British line to Vera Cruz, is a part of the government system.

The road has been under option to some New York bankers for a long time, and it is the general opinion that the government is back of the latter. The line appears to be well worth purchasing. It taps a very fine country in the heart of the tropics, is without competition and without any practical danger of any by land in the future.

Want Daylight Train.

From up the valley comes the news that the orange growers around Porterville, Exeter and Lindsay are petitioning the Southern Pacific to run its Los Angeles-Fresno daylight over that line instead of by Delano, Tipton and Tulare. If this should be done the train would turn off at Famosa, just north of Bakersfield, and run over the line that parallels the old main route, and pass through the heart of the Tulare county orange belt. At Exeter it would turn onto the short line running through Visalia to Goshen Junction and thence up the main line to Fresno as now. By this route the change at Goshen for Visalia would be eliminated.

Thus three towns would be given connections that are now without them except by the night trains; on the other hand, Delano, Tipton and Tulare would be cut off from the daylight run, unless a connecting train be arranged either from Goshen or Famosa.

Cars Robbed in Yards.

The Southern Pacific is having a number of cars robbed in the yards at Bakersfield by tramps, it is supposed. Articles taken are generally of small value, although in the aggregate they amount to considerable. In one case a large quantity of clothing, such as coats and overcoats—some handsome and valuable—shirts and other articles were carried off. The thieves are still at large. In another case the robbers made away with a lot of liquor and again with cans of eatables.

Nine Hours in Espee Shops.

The Southern Pacific has just put into effect a nine-hour day in its shops at Sparks, Nev., instead of eight. The monthly addition to the pay roll thereby is said to be about $10,000. The nine-hour day was adopted in the Los Angeles shops some weeks ago, and makes a very substantial increase in the earnings of the men. The force is nearly, if not quite, up to the number employed before the recent reduction.

SAYS MRS. GUNNESS LIVES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAPORTE (Ind.) Nov. 23.—Efforts are being made to learn the identity of the person who sent to Attorney Worden today, from Michigan City, a letter signed "Mrs. Belle Gunness." According to the author Mrs. Gunness would be found at a Michigan City address.

The communication concludes: "If you attempt to have me arrested, I will kill you. Come at 10:30 o'clock. Come at once. Call for Mrs. McConnell."

The defense in the trial of Ray Lamphere, for the alleged murder of Mrs. Gunness and her three children, began today the introduction of the final bits of evidence in behalf of the prisoner, the explanation being that the defense would rest its case tonight.

Evidence intended to prove that an automobile was seen to go down the Gunness road the morning of the burning of the home of Mrs. Gunness, and also to show that the fire had been seen as early as 3 o'clock, was offered today. The defense contends that the fire was started before 3 o'clock and that, admitting that Lamphere left the Smith house at 3:30 o'clock, as claimed by the State, he could not possibly have fired the house.

Louise Gackle testified she saw an automobile on Park street, coming from the Gunness road, at 3:30 o'clock on the morning of the fire. The defense intimates that this machine might have contained Mrs. Gunness fleeing from the fire, after killing the children and firing the house.

John Ball testified to seeing a skull removed from a vault on the Gunness place. The lower jaw was missing. The skull was introduced in evidence by the defense, the purpose being to tend to show it to be the missing head of Mrs. Gunness.

In order to cast doubt upon the genuineness of the theory offered by the State, the defense, through the testimony of Joseph Maxson and "Peck" Algrever, tried to show that the first time that the teeth were seen was when Miner Louis Schultz removed them from his pocket, and remarked to the two witnesses, "we have found what we were looking for."

W. H. Ladwig, who said he had worked in a crematory in Los Angeles, testified that it required from 2000 to 3000 deg. of heat to cremate a body and that the skull is the last part of the body to be destroyed.

Mrs. Rachael Lyon testified she saw the fire from her house at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Court adjourned until tomorrow afternoon because of the inability of Dr. Haines to get here until then. The defense has finished its case, excepting for Dr. Haines's testimony.

QUEER FOREIGN CUSTOMS.

Hotel Guests Fined for Swearing. Can Buy Only One Drink at a Time.

A curious custom prevails at an Edinburgh hotel. Whenever a customer is heard to swear he is required ot place a penny in a box on the bar counter. It is not a matter for surprise, says Tit-Bits, that the landlord hears much less bad language than some of his fellow-publicans in the capital of Scotland.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY

Nearly one thousand persons took advantage of the opportunity to pay their respects to this progressive firm on the occasion of its formal opening, last Saturday, at its new location at 342 So. Broadway. The event proved a most pleasurable one for the participants, who, while enjoying the hospitality of the hosts, had an opportunity to note the extensive preparations for increased trade deemed necessary by an optimistic company, in view of the new era of prosperity which, they believe, has already dawned.

Stepping from the elevator at the second floor and entering the door displaying the firm's armorial bearing, the vista opening upon the vision was indeed a revelation. To right and left stretched away areas comprising the 4500 square feet of floor space which the growing business of the firm necessitates. Looking toward the front, the eye was charmed with the beautiful and harmonious devices by which art has enhanced the beauties of a naturally favorable location. Divided into two sections by the employment of different colorings in the walls and fixtures, the effect, in the main part, of a green room, and, in the offset, of a red room, is produced. The walls, paneled in antique oak, with a background of burlap above, and of lincrusta below, in dark red and green, respectively, blended with the dark, rich hues of the cemented floor, which showed beyond numerous rugs, effectively disposed upon its surface. Pictures reminiscent of the hunt, of manly sport and of romantic meetings, adorned the walls. Imported woolens, of firmest weave and latest design filled spacious wall cases and were draped artistically from stands arranged about the room. A most pleasing feature appeared in the elegant light fixtures, beautiful in their massive chains and rods of polished brass and shades of stained art glass, depending from the beamed ceilings, the light filtering through fringes of emerald and ruby hue.

Elegant and generous in its provision for the admission of sunlight, as in every other detail, this room possessed a front of immense glass plates, set, some in solid, and some in revolving frames, through which wandering breezes, entering, stirred frond of fern and leaf of potted plant. Truly a most satisfactory place in which to tarry, to restfully deliberate upon the pattern and design of a prospective suit, to leisurely determine the style in which it is to be cut, and, having made the decision, to feel that environment has materially aided in the making of a wise selection.

Imagining himself a prospective purchaser who has made his decision, the visitor turns toward the domain of the artist who is to cause the flat folds of the raw material to assume the form and character most suited to the emphasizing of the strong points of his individual makeup. This genius of the shears presides beyond a buttressed arch, flanked on either side by smaller arches, from which swing hanging baskets, bright with living green, contrasting most agreeably with the glistening white of their supports. Grillwork, above and between the arches, supplies the needed finish for the whole.

Extending across the rear of this room is seen a long oaken desk, behind which is a partial partition. Passing beyond the portier which screens the entrance, the guest finds himself in a long corridor, flanked, on either side, by commodious dressing rooms. These are seen to be supplied with most comfortable furnishings, mirrors and everything necessary for the wants of the most fastidious patron. Putting aside another portier, the visitor finds himself in the third, and last, division of this immense establishment. In this room a number of tailors are engaged in the mechanical work of assembling the materials prepared by the cutter. The room is large and airy. The windows, constructed upon the same generous plan as those in the front of the building, not only allow an abundance of sunlight to enter, but permit the air to sweep through the entire establishment.

Upon the whole, the visitor feels that from such an ideal location, so wisely improved, nothing but the best work can be expected. This, taken in connection with the fact that the second floor location has the added advantage of lower rents, and consequent lowering of prices, causes him to decide that his next order, and many a succeeding one, shall be placed here.

LIKE A MIRACLE SAYS SKIN SUFFERER

For eczema and other skin troubles of a similar nature, certainly none equal in the world could be simpler than the formula for D. D. D. Prescription (oil of wintergreen compound in liquid form) now recognized as the most successful remedy.

This wonderful remedy is used principally of common oil of wintergreen, carefully combined with well known healing and soothing substances as thymol, glycerine, etc.

Read this letter:

"About December, 1904, I wrote you for a sample bottle of your remedy, stating that I had a case of eczema of five years' standing. After trying it, I ordered through my druggist, Mr. E. P. Griffin, six bottles of your remedy. I showed him where I was afflicted. The disease first appeared my limbs, part of my body, and began breaking out on my face.

"I began using D. D. D. Prescription according to your directions, used five bottles and was cured entirely and well. I showed my druggist my limbs and he was surprised. Said it looked almost like a miracle to him.

"That has been almost a year ago, and I see no signs of its ever coming back or wanted to see whether it would come back or not, before writing you for my everlasting thanks for such a wonderful remedy.

"My skin is just as soft and smooth as it ever was."

D. P. MILLER.

Such a wonderful experience as this needs no comment. The record of cures speaks for itself.

A TIP.

LOS ANGELES PETS IN THEIR GLORY.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Let me give you an honest tip—if you get within street car, subway, taxicab or talking distance of Billie Burke this year—see her. You will not be disappointed. The adorable deliciousness-in-the-bud with which she so charmed us last spring, in "My Wife," has not yet expanded into full-grown sophistication, but on the contrary, it has become even more convincingly innocent, more childishly pretty, more frankly unfearing.

Charles Frohman, who has one of the longest heads in a row of long heads on Broadway, has wisely picked Miss Burke for stellar honors—and stellar honors she is carrying, bearing them well on her dainty schoolgirl's shoulders, and facing the responsibilities of a truly independent actress very bravely and very successfully.

Great plays do not spring from the ground, any more than bushes growing clusters of Billie Burkes, hence the Burke play is not altogether the thing this year. In fact, it would not be much of anything without Billie Burke. It is called "Love Watches," and is by R. De Fiers and G. Caillavet, with the adaption by Gladys Unger. The title doesn't strike one as being either apt or inapt. The play has a pretty little story, one which seems almost made for Billie Burke.

She does not love Count Andre de Luvigny.

Though the name hath a decided Bonl e Castellane flavor, Count Andre is not such a one, but a modest and able French youth, broad of shoulder, red of blood, kind of heart, with a modest speech and the general bearing of a real man.

And it is this Count Andre whom Jacqueline, in a golden-haired little whirlwind of daring, throws into a metaphoric somersault by her sudden declaration of love.

Andre is fully as crazy about Jacqueline, but his nerve won't crank up to the working point, so he remains silent until she speaks. Jacqueline tells him, among other things, that when she first saw him he was riding through the wood, while she sat in a little nook under a tree.

"You were so dignified and stately and haughty," says Jacqueline, "that I fairly hated you. But I thought I could love—and laugh at you—if you came tumbling down in the mud at my feet. And your horse stumbled, and you fell—Oh, so awkwardly! And I loved you!"

So far, things are delightful.

And Jacqueline has also been loved, through the years from her threshold of babyhood, by one Ernest Aubrede, a sweet soul, lonely, but with a little fortune, never given to loud speeches, immersed for the most of the time in his library, in the world, but not of it, one very much of an oddity in a crowd of ordinary men.

And Count Andre has been wooed, in a light-hearted way, by a veritable Merry Widow.

Presently impetuous little Jacqueline, discovering some evidences of the widow's attention to her young husband, flies into a fit of jealousy, and when there is proof that she of the weeds has been pursuing her campaign with-

Billie Burke,
as Jacqueline, in "Love Watches."

er all her heart is very, very full of Count Andre.

Ernest now feels just as badly about it as does Jacqueline, and Jacqueline feels just as badly as Ernest.

They have both been very, very naughty.

This is not Jacqueline's first touch at naughtiness, but it is a premiere attempt for Ernest, and he is completely demoralized.

Andre, upon his side, is really alarmed lest something has happened to Jacqueline, and the meeting between him and Ernest, Andre not knowing anything of the other's romantic position, is a deeply serious one for that person. He has an awful secret locked in his bosom. And his qualms are not relieved by Andre's threats of dire vengeance upon the despoiler of his happiness.

At length, however, Ernest resolves to be a martyr to the truth, and, his legs almost refusing to support him, he gasps out:

"Where?" howls Andre, in an inquisitorial bellow that nearly finishes the poor book-worm.

"Here," peeps the tottering one, in a dying voice.

Andre laughs loud, long, and thoroughly in the manner of a man intensely relieved.

The laugh kills the last spark of self-respect in the bosom of poor Ernest. He might have been cut down in a secluded grove at dawn with his unworldly smile ineffaced, but to be laughed at, annihilation!

And almost immediately thereafter naughty little Jacqueline is metaphorically spanked, and is then shown, to her entire satisfaction, that the Merry Widow has no serious intentions.

Whereat, this little bird's nest episode being thus concluded, the audience retires to its flats, or to Rector's, Shanley's, Martin's or Jack's, if it has the price.

There is the humorously interesting little episode upon which the authors have built their play. It is a charming little Billie Burke plot, and though the construction raised thereon is never great, it is in several places clever, and is at very few moments tiresome.

I shan't attempt to describe Jacqueline, who is just Billie Burke. And I shall not set down anything at length, either, concerning Billie Burke, because if you were wise last spring you already know her very well indeed. And knowing her cupid's-bow smile, her lithe young figure, her frank little voice, her innocence-wide eyes, and her roguishingly tumbling pile of copper-tinted hair, you realize how utterly futile is any typewriter reproduction of these.

Frohman has cast the play excellently, and the general effectiveness of the whole reminds me much of the superb companies Fiske sends occasionally to the Coast. Cyril Keightley, a charmingly natural and unactorified young man, plays Count Andre, and Ernest Lawford, a character actor whom we have had on the Coast, is a humorously truthful Ernest.

The play seems settled for a season-long run in the cosy Lyceum Theater, which is as tiny and comfortable as any playhouse I have entered in New York. Margaret Illington sat in a box last night, with a retinue. She seemed to fill, not only the box, but the whole theater. Her sophistication was greatly accentuated when placed directly in contrast with the fresh ingenuousness of little Billie Burke.

Rosemary Glosz of Los Angeles has just started West, heading the "Merry Widow" company. I am told in Mr. Savage's offices that to people who have seen the productions of Lehar's musical play in Europe she is the only American attempting the role who approximates the original Austrian idea of the part, whatever that may mean.

as the Merry Widow. Miss Glosz is a young Los Angeles woman, and will head the company visiting us. She has made a great success in New York, and is now on the western road.

in Jacqueline's four little sanctified walls, little Jacqueline becomes a queen of tragedy.

She believes it the proper thing for an outraged woman to fly somewhere, and as her wings are not big enough for long-distance flights, she flies to Ernest, first having penned him a distractingly melodramatic note.

Ernest, as may be imagined, is overwhelmed.

He comes out of his shell for the first time in a decade, dusts his brains and endeavors to wind up his long-unused faculty for authoritative masculine action.

He, however, is as badly frightened as she, and attempts little more than an effusion of rhapsodic utterances.

Where Sherry Comes from.

About the busiest tourist bar in Spain, some travelers say, is that in the railroad station of Jerez de la Frontera, on the road from Cadiz to Seville. It is from Jerez that the name of sherry comes, and the town of Jerez de la Frontera is the genuine sherry wine place.

Most tourists know that and when the slow moving railroad train rumbles reluctantly into the town the foreigners who are aboard generally get off to look at the place.

Naturally every one wants to have a drink of sherry in the town where it comes from, much as one would drink port in Oporto, and for that reason the little bar does a big business. It would do more, of course, if Jerez was on the main traveled line, but as it is the Very Effective for Kidney, Bladder and Rheumatic Sufferers.

The function of the kidneys is to filter and strain the impurities from the blood, and these pass from the system in the form of urine. Pains in the urinary region and the small of the back indicate that the kidneys are sick and need treatment. Neglecting such symptoms brings rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy and heart trouble, while a simple home treatment will restore and keep the kidneys in fine working order. Being a mild, balmy, healing tonic, old and young can use with perfect safety. One-half oz. fluid extract Buchu; compound fluid Balmwort, one oz.; compound syrup Sarsaparilla, two ozs.; mix in a bottle. Take a teaspoonful before each meal. At night take another dose, drinking plenty of water.

A local druggist advises it and says he fills it frequently for the best physicians. Buchu, alone, is excellent, but aided by Balmwort and Sarsaparilla, it astonishes all who use it by its quick effectiveness.

STORY OF GRAB NOT BELIEVED.

Yarn Is an Old One and Crops Up Every Little While—New York Bankers Have Option on Tropical Line and Mexican Government Owns All Connections.

The report from San Francisco that Harriman has obtained control of the Pan-American Railroad, built by Los Angeles and St. Louis capitalists, from San Geronimo on the Tehuantepec line to the Guatemalan frontier of Mexico, is not credited among those well informed as to Pan-American affairs. It is an old story revived again and again and as often denied.

If the railroad is sold it is believed that the purchaser will be the Mexican government, although just what will then happen to the portion planned to penetrate the Central American States to the south is not explained. The route is now about the longest in actual operation in the republic not owned by the government. The longest will be the Harriman Coast line, now under construction to Guadalajara.

The Pan-American's connections are all government-owned. The Tehuantepec, with which it has a conjunction at San Geronimo, has but two stockholders sufficient to be considered, viz.: the Mexican government and the firm of Pearson & Son, while the Vera Cruz and Pacific, over which passengers come to the isthmus from Cordova, to which point they come from the capital on the British line to Vera Cruz, is a part of the government system.

The road has been under option to some New York bankers for a long time, and it is the general opinion that the government is back of the latter. The line appears to be well worth purchasing. It taps a very fine country in the heart of the tropics, is without competition and without any practical danger of any by land in the future.

Want Daylight Train.

From up the valley comes the news that the orange growers around Porterville, Exeter and Lindsay are petitioning the Southern Pacific to run its Los Angeles-Fresno daylight over that line instead of by Delano, Tipton and Tulare. If this should be done the train would turn off at Famosa, just north of Bakersfield, and run over the line that parallels the old main route, and pass through the heart of the Tulare county orange belt. At Exeter it would turn onto the short line running through Visalia to Goshen Junction and thence up the main line to Fresno as now. By this route the change at Goshen for Visalia would be eliminated.

Thus three towns would be given connections that are now without them except by the night trains; on the other hand, Delano, Tipton and Tulare would be cut off from the daylight run, unless a connecting train be arranged either from Goshen or Famosa.

Cars Robbed in Yards.

The Southern Pacific is having a number of cars robbed in the yards at Bakersfield by tramps, it is supposed. Articles taken are generally of small value, although in the aggregate they amount to considerable. In one case a large quantity of clothing, such as coats and overcoats—some handsome and valuable—shirts and other articles were carried off. The thieves are still at large. In another ca[illegible] the robbers made away with a lot of liquor and again with cans of eatables.

Nine Hours in Espee Shops.

The Southern Pacific has just put into effect a nine-hour day in its shops at Sparks, Nev., instead of eight. The monthly addition to the pay roll thereby is said to be about $10,000. The nine-hour day was adopted in the Los Angeles shops some weeks ago, and makes a very substantial increase in the earnings of the men. The force is nearly, if not quite, up to the number employed before the recent reduction.

SAYS MRS. GUNNESS LIVES.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

LAPORTE (Ind.) Nov. 23.—Efforts are being made to learn the identity of the person who sent to Attorney Worden today, from Michigan City, a letter signed "Mrs. Belle Gunness." According to the author Mrs. Gunness would be found at a Michigan City address.

The communication concludes: "If you attempt to have me arrested, I will kill you. Come at 10:30 o'clock. Come at once. Call for Mrs. McConnell."

The defense in the trial of Ray Lamphere, for the alleged murder of Mrs. Gunness and her three children, began today the introduction of the final bits of evidence in behalf of the prisoner, the explanation being that the defense would rest its case tonight.

Evidence intended to prove that an automobile was seen to go down the Gunness road the morning of the burning of the home of Mrs. Gunness, and also to show that the fire had been seen as early as 3 o'clock, was offered today. The defense contends that the fire was started before 3 o'clock and that, admitting that Lamphere left the Smith house at 3:30 o'clock, as claimed by the State, he could not possibly have fired the house.

Louise Gackle testified she saw an automobile on Park street, coming from the Gunness road, at 3:30 o'clock on the morning of the fire. The defense intimates that this machine might have contained Mrs. Gunness fleeing from the fire, after killing the children and firing the house.

John Ball testified to seeing a skull removed from a vault on the Gunness place. The lower jaw was missing. The skull was introduced in evidence by the defense, the purpose being to tend to show it to be the missing head of Mrs. Gunness.

In order to cast doubt upon the genuineness of the theory offered by the State, the defense, through the testimony of Joseph Maxson and "Peck" Algrever, tried to show that the first time that the teeth were seen was when Miner Louis Schultz removed them from his pocket, and remarked to the two witnesses, "we have found what we were looking for."

W. H. Ludwig, who said he had worked in a crematory in Los Angeles, testified that it required from 2000 to 3000 deg. of heat to cremate a body and that the skull is the last part of the body to be destroyed.

Mrs. Rachael Lyon testified she saw the fire from her house at 3 o'clock in the morning.

Court adjourned until tomorrow afternoon because of the inability of Dr. Haines to get here until then. The defense has finished its case, excepting for Dr. Haines's testimony.

QUEER FOREIGN CUSTOMS.

Hotel Guests Fined for Swearing. Can Buy Only One Drink at a Time.

A curious custom prevails at an Edinburgh hotel. Whenever a customer is heard to swear he is required ot place a penny in a box on the bar counter. It is not a matter for surprise, says Tit-Bits, that the landlord hears much less bad language than some of his fellow-publicans in the capital of Scotland.

The following is a quaint idea for providing funds for picnics and social evenings. It is carried on with much success at an Ashton-on-Mersey inn. A "knocking club" is connected with the inn, and when a customer calls for refreshment he is expected to knock on the table or counter before drinking. If he fails to do this he is fined one penny. Any one who wrongfully accuses another of breaking this unique rule is also fined. The money thus obtained provides funds for many enjoyable outings and pleasant evenings during the course of the year.

At another hotel, known as the Old Hundred, customers are allowed only one drink. If one is not sufficient to quench their thirst they are obliged to go out of the hotel and take a walk before they are allowed to have another.

Till recently the proprietor of an old-time hotel in Warwickshire used to invite all his customers to accompany him and his wife to the service at the parish church on Sunday mornings, which was situated on the opposite side of the road, the house being closed while they were away. On returning each customer was invited to partake of refreshments offered by the hospitable landlord free of charge. Visitors to a certain hotel in Aberdeenshire who wear brown boots must remember to keep them in their room overnight. Otherwise the boots will be blacked, regardless of the original color of the same. In one of the rooms of a Dumfries public house is an old armchair which is said to have been frequently used by the poet Burns. All who sit in this chair are expected to treat every one who is in the room at the time, and often the immortal memory of the famous Scottish national poet is drunk.

A small hotel in Wales until quite recently was used by the Catholics as a place of worship on Sundays, and the police court proceedings were held on the premises during the week.

GRAND OPENING

Nearly one thousand persons took advantage of the opportunity to pay their respects to this progressive firm on the occasion of its formal opening, last Saturday, at its new location at 342 So. Broadway. The event proved a most pleasurable one for the participants, who, while enjoying the hospitality of the hosts, had an opportunity to note the extensive preparations for increased trade deemed necessary by an optimistic company, in view of the new era of prosperity which, they believe, has already dawned.

Stepping from the elevator at the second floor and entering the door displaying the firm's armorial bearing, the vista opening upon the vision was indeed a revelation. To right and left stretched away areas comprising the 4500 square feet of floor space which the growing business of the firm necessitates. Looking toward the front, the eye was charmed with the beautiful and harmonious devices by which art has enhanced the beauties of a naturally favorable location. Divided into two sections by the employment of different colorings in the walls and fixtures, the effect, in the main part, of a green room, and, in the offset, of a red room, is produced. The walls, paneled in antique oak, with a background of burlap above, and of linerusta below, in dark red and green, respectively, blended with the dark, rich hues of the cemented floor, which showed beyond numerous rugs, effectively disposed upon its surface. Pictures reminiscent of the hunt, of manly sport and of romantic meetings, adorned the walls. Imported woolens, of firmest weave and latest design filled spacious wall cases and were draped artistically from stands arranged about the room. A most pleasing feature appeared in the elegant light fixtures, beautiful in their massive chains and rods of polished brass and shades of stained art glass, depending from the beamed ceilings, the light filtering through fringes of emerald and ruby hue.

Elegant and generous in its provision for the admission of sunlight, as in every other detail, this room possessed a front of immense glass plates, set, some in solid, and some in revolving frames, through which wandering breezes, entering, stirred frond of fern and leaf of potted plant. Truly a most satisfactory place in which to tarry, to restfully deliberate upon the pattern and design of a prospective suit, to leisurely determine the style in which it is to be cut, and, having made the decision, to feel that environment has materially aided in the making of a wise selection.

Imagining himself a prospective purchaser who has made his decision, the visitor turns toward the domain of the artist who is to cause the flat folds of the raw material to assume the form and character most suited to the emphasizing of the strong points of his individual makeup. This genius of the shears presides beyond a buttressed arch, flanked on either side by smaller arches, from which swing hanging baskets, bright with living green, contrasting most agreeably with the glistening white of their supports. Grillwork, above and between the arches, supplies the needed finish for the whole.

Seated opposite the table of the cutter, who, the visitor is informed, hails from New York, the Manager preserves his records and attends to business details.

Extending across the rear of this room is seen a long oaken desk, behind which is a partial partition. Passing beyond the portier which screens the entrance, the guest finds himself in a long corridor, flanked, on either side, by commodious dressing rooms. These are seen to be supplied with most comfortable furnishings, mirrors and everything necessary for the wants of the most fastidious patron. Putting aside another portier, the visitor finds himself in the third, and last, division of this immense establishment. In this room a number of tailors are engaged in the mechanical work of assembling the materials prepared by the cutter. The room is large and airy. The windows, constructed upon the same generous plan as those in the front of the building, not only allow an abundance of sunlight to enter, but permit the air to sweep through the entire establishment.

Upon the whole, the visitor feels that from such an ideal location, so wisely improved, nothing but the best work can be expected. This, taken in connection with the fact that the second floor location has the added advantage of lower rents, and consequent lowering of prices, causes him to decide that his next order, and many a succeeding one, shall be placed here.

For eczema and other skin diseases of a similar nature, certainly the best in the world could be simpler than the formula for D. D. D. Prescription (a form of wintergreen compound in pill form) now recognised as the remedy.

This wonderful remedy is effective principally of common oil of wintergreen, carefully combined with well known healing and soothing substances as thymol, glycerine, etc.

Read this letter:

"About December, 1906, I wrote you for a sample bottle of your remedy, stating that I had a case of eczema of five years' standing. After trying it, I ordered through my druggist, Mr. E. P. Griffin, six bottles of your remedy. I showed him where I was afflicted. The disease had covered my limbs, part of my body and began breaking out on my face.

"I began using D. D. D. Prescription according to your directions. After five bottles and was cured entirely well. I showed my druggist my face and he was surprised. Said it looked almost like a miracle to him.

"That has been almost a year ago and I see no signs of its return. If you wanted to see whether it would come back or not, before writing you this everlasting thanks for such a wonderful remedy.

D. P. MILLER,
R. F. D. 2. Smithville, Texas.

Such a wonderful experience as this feel speaks for itself.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Paradox Before the Ebell.

Behold a paradox; Louis James, the man who stands before the world for the personification of Ibsen's "Peer Gynt," confesses that he has no ideas on the subject, and is dumb before a woman's club; while a young member of his company, Richard I. Scott, who is playing a minor role, acts as deputy to the star, and gives the members of the Ebell Club some rare glints into the make-up of this great dramatic poem, and the character portrayed by Mr. James.

"No, I haven't any ideas about it. I only play it," said Mr. James at the close of the talk. "This is a very fine club; delightful, delightful," and the lion was hurried out of the auditorium into the tearoom, where a reception was held so that members might become better acquainted with the actor and his fascinating wife, Aphie James, who is his leading lady in "Peer Gynt," as well as in private life.

This slender sprite, whose dark eyes sparkled from under a huge black velvet Corday hat, had been seated on the platform, probably her first experience. "Did I behave all right?" she asked in her quick, impulsive manner after the ordeal was over. "Well, you know, I was worried about my husband; he is always nervous with so many ladies about."

Besides having Louis James and his wife, the Ebell was fortunate in entertaining another guest, the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. James B. Hume of Berkeley, president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, who spoke on "The Bible as Literature." She was introduced by Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, and Mrs. Josiah Evans Cowles, and she presented the Book of Books to the members, its pages illumined as some ancient missal is illumined by a loving poet priest.

As a clever transition from the Bible to the stage, Mrs. Willitts J. Hole, the president of the Ebell, introduced the next speaker, Richard I. Scott, as the Aaron to James's Moses. Mr. Scott prefaced his talk on "Peer Gynt," by telling of Ibsen's early life, which contains, he said, much of the explanation of Ibsen's works. That insistent note of individualism which runs through Ibsen's plays and poems, the note which is so puzzling in its application to the average individual, was explained to a certain extent in his talk. "Calculating selfishness," he said, "is the annihilation of real self. 'Peer Gynt' is entirely built upon the problem of being yourself. Here it becomes clear that being oneself is the very antithesis of selfishness, for Peer, after practicing every kind of self-indulgence, finds that he is merely a bundle of impulse with no personality at the close.

"'To be oneself,' the button-molder tells him, 'is to lose oneself,' and, he adds for better understanding, 'to be oneself is to stand forth everywhere with the Master's intention hung out like a signboard.' It is easy for us to find out what God meant us for, if we face facts; it is easy to find refuge from facts in self-deception, and in self-sufficiency, but if we choose to do these easy things we will always get around our difficulties, but we will never get through them."

"The hero," said Mr. Scott, "he represents, as the very apotheosis of selfish vanity and is presented as the type of one who sets at defiance his own life design. Everything that Peer does is incomplete; he destroys with one hand the work of the other and so into the melting pot he must go, he has not been himself, merely sufficient unto himself."

The nearest approach to a justification of the problem is near the close when thoughts and watchwords, songs and tears assail the aged Peer with their reproaches.

"In Peer Gynt," continued the speaker, "written at different times and in different moods, we find an incoherency consistent with the inconsistency of all real life. And here I should like to say that Ibsen himself, has warned us against reading into this drama much of the symbol, and mysticism which so many critics have seen fit to invest it with, for Ibsen says 'why can they not read the book as a poem, for as such I wrote it.' Granting this, there is still an under current of ethical and satirical meaning in the play which has reference particularly to the Norwegian people, but this must not cloud or mar our appreciation of the play as a purely poetic invention and character creation.

"A masterpiece is not a flawless piece of work but one which has sufficient vitality to live down its faults, until we no longer heed and almost forget them. Peer Gynt is a masterpiece," he concluded.

FIRST MAGNITUDE STARS.

Bethlehem Institution Now Reaping Substantial Returns from the Sale of the Red Twinklers.

Bethlehem Star Day was a success, but just how great is not yet known, as very few of the precincts made returns yesterday. D. K. Edwards, member of the Bethlehem Benevolent Board, with Mrs. L. M. Culver and Mrs. H. K. W. Bent of the Star Day Committee, were at headquarters in the old bank at Second and Spring streets all day yesterday.

"About $3800 has been turned in so far," said Mr. Edwards last night, "but we have had reports from only a few of the outlying stations, so can give no estimate of the entire proceeds. Pasadena and Claremont are yet to be heard from, as well as most of the churches and schools in this city, from which only partial returns have come in."

The winners of the short article contest on the subject, "Why Should Bethlehem Receive the Support of Citizens," are Burton Holmes and Miss Louise H. Rhodabeck, who will be awarded, respectively, the prizes of $10 and $5 given by a friend of Bethlehem. Two proud little fellows are Evans Terrill, 11 and Charley Ellsworth, 10, of the Temple street school, who sold $50 worth of stars on Saturday. The newsboys did not turn back a single star.

The present headquarters of the Star Day Committee will be kept open until Wednesday night. It is the hope of those managing the campaign to raise $10,000 for the Bethlehem Institute, that there will be some large individual contributions to make up the total required to carry on the work.

Rev. Dana Bartlett and family were called to San Bernardino Sunday on account of the death of a sister of Mrs. Bartlett, who lived there.

BURIAL OF MRS. HUTCHISON.

A sweet and solemn service was conducted yesterday afternoon by Dr. Hugh K. Walker over the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hutchison at her late residence, No. 421 North Belmont avenue. The large company of sorrowing friends and neighbors and the quantities of exquisite flowers spoke eloquently of the genuine worth of this lovely and gentle woman, who had endeared herself to all who knew her. Rev. Will A. Logan assisted at the service, and the burial was at Evergreen. Mrs. Hutchison leaves an only daughter, Miss Irene Hutchison, who is a teacher in the Union-avenue school. A devoted nephew, W. R. Morrison, was also a member of the family circle. Mrs. Hutchison came here from Pittsburgh ten years ago, and had been a resident of Los Angeles since. She was a faithful member of Immanuel Church and had a large circle of friends.

PROSPERITY WEEK'S WAKE.

The Chamber of Commerce is arranging to begin active preparations for its exhibit at the Seattle Exposition. Plans are also under way for the annual banquet in February, and a lot of work is under way on the various publications issued by the chamber. "We made a good guess about Taft's election, when we planned for 'Prosperity Week,'" said Frank Wiggins, yesterday. "We are making ready to give the members of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce a rousing reception when they come here, December 10. They want to see the wonderful growth of the South and get a few points on boosting. The party will include representative business men and we want to give them a good time."

TOURIST DELUGE AT HOTEL.

"If this is not a good foundation upon which to base a prediction of an almost unparalleled tourist season I am very much mistaken," said Manager Thomas Potter last night, as he ruefully told his clerks that every room in the Van Nuys was filled. The California Limited brought a deluge of Eastern people yesterday afternoon. From almost every city of importance east of the Mississippi they came. "It is a significant fact that every one of them demanded about the best rooms we had," added the hotel manager. People were turned away.

TROUBLE OVER SUNDAY GAMES.

TROUBLE WILL COME TO HEAD AT COUNCIL MEETING.

Opening of Winter Season at Annandale Country Club Will Be Marked by Golf Tournament, Banquet, Ball and Reception—Crown City Notes.

Office of The Times, No. 36 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Nov. 23.—It is expected that advocates for and against Sunday baseball will meet in a final struggle before the City Council this evening. Dr. Albert Hatcher Smith, pastor of the First Baptist Church and president of the Ministerial Union, said last night that that body would not be represented as it has taken no action as to Sunday baseball, but there would no doubt be several ministers present to voice their sentiments. The question came up recently on the proposal to close Ipswich street, a cut-off between Marengo avenue and Glenarm street. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company last week asked that the street be closed and the first reading of an ordinance to that effect was passed. It will come up for second reading today and if agreed to the street will be closed. Councilmen Cattell and Mersereau oppose the ordinance on the ground that the means welcoming Sunday baseball to the city. Manager Dexter of the Pasadena club, in defending Sunday ball, says the grounds are not near a thickly-settled neighborhood and that in the past his team has always played gentlemanly games, and no rowdyism has been permitted. He takes exception to the statement made by Rev. Matthew Hughes, that Sunday baseball brings "rowdies" into town.

GOLF TOURNAMENT.

One of the greatest days of the year will be next Saturday for the members of Annandale Country Club. An eighteen-hole handicap tournament will be played in the afternoon, and at 6 o'clock dinner will be served at the clubhouse. In the evening a grand opening ball and reception will be held. Samuel Hines, F. W. Hawks and William N. Garland compose the reception Committees. The membership has reached 425 persons, 170 additions having been made in the past four weeks. There is talk of making the membership limit 500.

Albert Naylor, one of the leading golf experts of Chicago, is in charge of the San Gabriel Valley club here. He said yesterday that he expects a great number for golf in Southern California. Scores at the first tournament play of the winter at San Gabriel club are:

BIG STAR SALES.

Mrs. Mary M. Coman, manager of the Bethlehem star sale in this city, reports the total receipts from the Pasadena field will be $700. This is a record for anything of the kind in this city.

AUTO VEHICLE ORDERED.

Although there was a difference of opinion over the specifications for the apparatus for the new Hurlburt-street fire-engine house, the Fire Commissioners decided yesterday to ask the City Council to purchase an auto-chemical engine instead of a auto-combination chemical and hose wagon. The change was made at the proposal of Chief Clifford. It will probably be nearly a year before the vehicle arrives, and the house is completed. The station is expected to cost between $4000 and $5000.

SCIENTIST FINED.

Prof. George E. Hale, head of the Mt. Wilson Observatory, paid a fine of $10 in Justice McDonald's Court yesterday morning for exceeding the speed limit on his motorcycle. He explained that when he saw the motorcycle police approaching, he thought they wanted a race and in an effort to beat them he sent his machine off at a rate of forty-three miles an hour.

RUN OF FISH IN THE RAIN.

Redondo Anglers Crowd Three Piers and Catch Many Mackerel.

REDONDO, Nov. 23.—Local fishermen enjoyed an unprecedented run of mackerel here today. Large numbers of the Spanish variety were taken, as well as the larger kind, called by fishermen "corn-fed," some of which measured over twenty inches. Notwithstanding the drizzling rain which prevailed during the earlier part of the day, as soon as the word got around that the mackerel were on a visit, the three piers were crowded. They remained so until late in the afternoon, and everybody went away well supplied with this splendid food fish.

AVALON.

WARDEN GETS REAL SURPRISE.

SEEKING AMBUSH, RUNS INTO JAP LAWBREAKERS.

Yellow Takers of Undersized Abalone Make So Much Racket in Getting Away That Party of Whites Officer Is After Are Given Warning of His Approach.

AVALON, Nov. 23.—While seeking an ambush in Little Harbor last evening with the hope of capturing a party of quail hunters, Deputy Game Warden Gardner surprised a boatload of Japanese abalone fishermen who have for sometime been engaged in diving for undersized abalone, which they have taken to the mainland. Owing to the fact that the deputy warden was on horseback he was unable to give chase to lawbreakers, who took to the water. In their haste to leave, one of the party was left upon the rocks and was compelled to swim out to the launch, a distance of half a mile. A huge pile of shells which had been left upon the beach told the exasperated officer that the haul had not been a very small one. The boats used by the Japanese in the abalone industry are made without any forward keel. This allows the operator of the craft to run clear up on to the beach.

The noise made by the man left upon the rocks alarmed the party of quail hunters who, seeing the officer, "planted" their birds before approaching him.

At the Congregational Church last evening, Rev. W. Thayer of New York gave an eloquent address from the subject, "Why We Fail." At the Catholic church Father Phillip Williams conducted services morning and evening.

Depositors in Defunct Long Beach Bank Agree to Plans to Raise Funds on Building.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 23.—At a meeting of depositors of the defunct Citizens' Savings Bank today, a report was received from a committee suggesting the sale of the bank building to a stock company, the payment to the First National Bank its share and the appointment of a trustee to handle the rentals. The depositors' part in the plan is that they take 50 per cent. of the money due them in stock and then bring suit against the receiver for the remaining 50 per cent. The report was unanimously adopted, and the committee was instructed to submit the proposition to the balance of the depositors. It is said if this plan is worked out the remaining 50 per cent. can be paid in cash and the affairs of the bank wound up.

AUTOIST RUNS BOY DOWN.

An unknown autoist, speeding down Pine avenue this afternoon, collided with a bicycle ridden by Willie Bliss, aged 9 years, and threw the boy from the wheel, which was totally wrecked. The lad escaped with a bruised knee.

The rain which began yesterday about noon continued throughout the night and until 10 o'clock this morning, adding .23 inch to the season's total, which is now 2.79 inches.

The City Council passed a resolution today fixing the rental of ticket booths on the pier at 25 monthly, payable annually in advance. This is done to protect home boatment from transients who drop in during the summer months, enjoy the cream of the business and leave when business becomes slack.

THIEF TAKES PURSE.

While the Eiftman family was at dinner today, a sneak thief entered the home on Magnolia avenue and stole a purse belonging to Miss Minnie Eiftman, containing $10.

Walter Hayes, a plumber of Pasadena, while swinging off a Pacific Electric car here, caught his little finger in the fixtures and had it broken at the joint. He also lost the tip. Dr. Bates dressed the injury.

J. E. Osborn of Burnett found a handbag containing $25 in the sun parlor on the outer wharf. He turned it over to the wharfinger. It was later claimed by Mrs. J. B. Wiley of this city, who rewarded the finder.

PLOT TO KILL IS UNEARTHED.

DESPERATE PRISONERS PLAN TO MURDER JAILER.

From Heavy Chair Smuggled Into Their Steel Pen Trio Makes Three Clubs With Which Constable Was to Be Attacked, But He Finds Weapons Behind Door.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

POMONA, Nov. 23.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The three young men, Burns, Ford and Spaetti, in jail here awaiting trial for burglary, tomorrow, have been discovered in a plot to knock out Constable Slanker and make their escape. In some way a heavy chair was smuggled into the steel pen where they are confined. In the night they manufactured therefrom three clubs with which they planned to brain Slanker when he should come to let them out into the jail corridor. By chance they were thwarted, and Slanker found the clubs behind the door. The rest of the chair was hidden under a mattress. Slanker, a cool officer never given to exaggeration, says the fellows, who are considered desperate, undoubtedly planned to murder him and escape.

NEW DOG ORDINANCE.

The new dog ordinance which has just gone into effect here provides that the owner of a canine shall pay $1 a year and that dogs without a collar and tag shall be taken up by the officers and turned over to the poundmaster. For three days the animal can be redeemed by the payment of $1. At the expiration of that time, if not claimed, it will be suffocated by gas. A heavy fine is to be imposed upon any one interfering when a dog is being taken to the pound. O. W. Afferbaugh, secretary of the local Humane Society, has been appointed poundmaster and deputy city marshal.

FUNDS FOR FIRE-BREAKS.

R. H. Charlton, forest supervisor, has been here conferring with Secretary Dreher and a committee from the San Antonio Fruit Exchange relative to providing additional fire protection for the watershed above San Dimas. The exchange has signified its willingness to contribute $850, this season, as a fund toward building a fire-break or trail upon the ridge between Dalton and San Dimas cañons. The money is to be raised by taxing the exchange members one-tenth of a cent on each box of oranges shipped. The Glendora Fruit Exchange will contribute $250 more and the Ontario exchange may aid the fund. The San Antonio exchange was the first organization of that character to cooperate with the government in the work of fire protection.

MANY NEW TELEPHONES.

The local Home Telephone Company has now over 2500 subscribers, having added over 200 in the past four months. The business is constantly increasing with the rapid growth of Pomona. A large crew is kept at work installing new telephones and constructing new lines. One has just been built to accommodate new residents in the Ganesha Park tract.

CROP IN GOOD SHAPE.

Secretary Dreher of the San Antonio Fruit Exchange stated this morning that the orange crop of the valley is in splendid shape and is commencing to color up rapidly.

The new homes of Park Superintendent Carette and John C. Walker in Kenoak subdivision are rapidly nearing completion. The house of A. B. Avis on Orange Grove avenue is about ready for occupancy.

Two more of the Holt-avenue frontage lots in the Ganesha Park tract have been sold. Miss Elizabeth Woodville of Bay City has bought the lot west of the corner of Huntington boulevard and Holt avenue, through the agency of M. H. Wilson. Dr. R. F. Gittings has purchased through the J. A. Fitch agency, the second lot west of Miss Woodville's property.

BANNER UNDER GLASS.

The championship banner won by the Pomona High Schol baseball team while ago in the Southern California Academic Union contest, has just been lettered with the names of the members of the winning team. It now reposes in a glass case at the High School, along with the silver cups and other trophies which the athletic teams have won.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Youngs are here from Berkeley for a few days, visiting at the home of the latter's mother, Mrs. Walter Kidder. Mr. Youngs was for a long time a resident here and was City Recorder. He is amazed at the rapid growth since he was last here.

Virgil Lester, aged 19 months, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lester of No. 993 East Fifth avenue, died at the family home last evening. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The members of the W. C. T. U. are soliciting funds for the purpose of erecting a water fountain donated by a Mr. Walton of Long Beach.

HARD ON "MERRY WIDOWS."

Parkhurst Says Woman Who Wears One in Church or Theater Commits Theft.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—"Any lady who decorates herself in a way to shut off the view of those sitting behind her commits a theft—a theft not tolerated in the theater, or a theft which Christian concern ought to render impossible in the sanctuary."

A wave of protest against the "Merry Widow" and other large-sized headgear worn by women, has reached the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Parkhurst declared yesterday in a short prelude to the regular morning sermon.

A number of generously proportioned hats were seen to come off after the minister's statement, and it is predicted that more will be removed on Sundays to come.

Protests against large hats have been made in several of New York's prominent churches.

ASSERT PIPES ARE DEFECTIVE.

CONDEMNED PORTIONS PLACED UNDERGROUND.

Eighteen Leaks Reported to Have Occured Within Small Area at Sierra Madre—Water Commissioners Urged to Give Attention to Matter—Pierce Place Sells.

SIERRA MADRE, Nov. 23.—Stockholders of the water company are wondering what will be the outcome regarding the new mains put down on Grand View boulevard. It is claimed they are defective; will not stand the pressure and are not as good as the old pipes used for twenty-five years. It is known that portions of the pipe were condemned, but only after considerable had been laid. Even with a guaranty from the manufacturers, should leaks occur in the future the city will be the loser with torn-up streets and perhaps floods on adjacent property.

One city official says the pipes are all right. The statement of an official of the water company does not bear this out. He asserts eighteen leaks occurred within a very small area. Another of the water board was discovered patching up the joints with iron bands and cement. The same class of pipe was rejected owing to the firm stand of a former executive officer of the company some years ago. The shareholders were assessed $200 for this work and they feel that if the statements of those who have seen the work and leakages, are correct, there is something radically wrong. Many think a thorough test should be made before the street work is completed. This would save future trouble and annoyance, and perhaps damage suits against the city. It is felt the water commissioners should give more attention to so vital a question.

SELLS PIERCE HOMESTEAD.

The old Pierce homestead of two acres on Central boulevard, was sold last week for $14,000. This is one of the most attractive building sites in the city. It is located on the extreme westerly boundary line. It contains many beautiful oak and ornamental trees, which enhanced its value. It is understood a $10,000 residence will be erected on the tract. It was formerly owned by Prof. Pierce.

It was erroneously reported that the Aspinwall property was condemned by the Board of Health. It now appears this property changed hands some time ago, and the piece which is located at Grand View and Hotel streets is owned by Miss May Bell, a Los Angeles school teacher. The same realty agent who is antagonizing members of the health board has control of it.

RACING HAS OPPOSITION.

Residents will not have to cross "Lucky" Baldwin's fields, or go the main road to Arcadia to witness racing, Thanksgiving Day. An opposition track will be opened here that day. The course has been mapped out on Central boulevard. The Trustees have been "seen" and have come through. The entries comprise the burros who climb the Wilson trail. Experienced burro "Jocks" residing here, all lightweights and of tender years will ride. Their records prove they have never pulled a race. The purses are heavy and go to the jockeys. The burros get thistles and carrots. Bookmaking, auction pools, Paris mutuals and combination bets will be prohibited. Side bets allowed if Marshal Lehmer does not read the tickets. A slow race will be one of the features. The last one in will capture the prize. Any animal stopping in this race, or pulled by the jockey will be disqualified. Charles J. Fox and F. R. Yerxa will appoint the official time-keepers, starters, announcers, handicappers and judges. Many sporting men are clamoring for the honors.

ON FINANCIAL ROCKS.

Troubles of Santa Monica Company Taken Into Court—New Wharfinger Appointed.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 23.—The financial troubles of the Union Brick and Tile Company reached the courts today, when an injunction was issued to prevent the constable from making a sale of the machinery, which was covered by an attachment. The company was also enjoined at the instance of creditors from disposing of brick.

The funeral of Rev. Francis A. Wilber will be held at the Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. S. E. Wishard of Highland Park and Rev. W. H. Cornett of this city. Rev. Mr. Wishard and Rev. Mr. Wilber were room-mates many years ago at Central College, near Columbus, O., to which city the remains will be sent for interment.

A. L. Knesel and family departed for Spokane today, where their home is to be made.

E. Dornfeld has come from Redondo and taken charge as wharfmaster at Port Los Angeles. This appointment is held to mean that the Los Angeles-Pacific Company will continue the development of the shipping interests of that harbor.

LOSES ONE FOOT.

The steam schooner Centralia arrived at Port Los Angeles today, being five days overdue from lumber ports of the North. The delay was occasioned by severe weather and head winds. She brought a cargo of lumber for local dealers. On the way down the chief engineer sustained a crushed foot and was landed at Port Harford, where it was amputated.

The programme indicates that the first annual convention of the Santa Monica Bay Sunday-school Association, to be held here Saturday and Sunday, will be interesting. It is to open at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will be participated in by not less than sixteen organizations of one-half as many denominations. "The Purpose of the Convention" will be the subject of an address by George Hart, and there will be papers and short talks on teachers' meetings, the importance of teacher training, union class and departmental work. There will be a street parade in the evening, to be followed by sessions for girls, boys and adults at the different churches. The Sunday afternoon and evening sessions will embrace devotional exercises, roll calls, flag presentations and addresses on prohibition, organized classes, Bible study and missions.

The City Council tonight adopted by unanimous vote, a resolution to the effect that the office of park commissioner be abolished.

This is another move in the attempt to rid the commission of E. H. Sweetser, an appointee of Mayor Dudley. According to the resolution there can be no harmony between the Council and the commission, so long as Sweetser is a member of the latter.

A CLOSE SHAVE

Many of Them Happening Every Day But Soon Forgotten.

Close shaves would be of more frequent occurrence but for the tender faces of many men, which will not permit of shaving often. Heretofore, nothing has been said in these columns about poslam, a new skin discovery, in connection with its use after shaving. Its publicity and sales have been confined almost exclusively to its remarkable properties as an eczema cure; it stops the itching at once and cures the worst cases in a few days. While the application of poslam after shaving is one of its minor uses, such as for pimples, the complexion, etc., shavers will find it a revelation, as it does for abrasions, roughness, and severe scrapings what it does for all manner of skin difficulties—heals and cures in a few hours. It is the only article possessing real antiseptic and curative value that has ever been exploited for this purpose, and will soothe and tone up the skin as no toilet preparation could possibly do.

Poslam can be had for 50 cents at any reliable druggist's, particularly the Owl Drug Co., who make a specialty of it. Or the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City, will send a trial supply free by mail to any one who will write for it. This is sufficient to show results in 24 hours.

WINDJAMMERS BOUND TO PORT.

Advance in Freight Rates on Lumber from Puget Sound to San Pedro, Coupled With Increased Demand for Woodstuffs, Puts Vessels in Commission.

SAN PEDRO, Nov. 23.—The recent advance in freight rates on lumber from Puget Sound to San Pedro to $4.50 a thousand feet, coupled with a large increased demand for woodstuffs, causes many coast-wise sailing carriers, which have been idle for many months to once more be placed in commission. Already five windjammers are on the way to San Pedro, lumber-laden, and fifteen are loading. The schooners Lizzie Vance, Minnie A. Caine, E. K. Wood and Queen are discharging at this port. The schooners Endeavor and Balboa from Tacoma, Dauntless from Astoria, Louise from Umpqua River and Oregon from Tillamook are on the way. The following are loading at northern ports: Schooners C. E. Falk, E. B. Jackson, Ludlow, Meteor, Expansion, Fearless and Luzon at Gray's Harbor; schooners Bertha Minor, Omega and Esther Buhne at Coos Bay; schooners Caroline and Lucy on the Umpqua River; barkentine Retrieve on Puget Sound; schooner Stimson at Ballard; schooner Ensign at Willapa Harbor; schooner Lottie Bennett at Tacoma and the Mindora at Port Ludlow.

The return of the old-time sailing fleet to San Pedro means many dollars to the small retail stores and to hundreds of workers along the various wharves, all of whom are correspondingly happy.

SEA-GOING.

CONTRACTS FOR POWER YACHT.

LARGEST BOAT ORDERED FOR SAN DIEGO WATERS.

Six Yachts of New Design for Racing Also to Be Constructed—Nordica Will Sing at Meeting of Southern California Teachers' Association in Los Angeles.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 23.—John G. Merrill, formerly of Portland, Me., a mining engineer now residing here, has contracted with the Jensen Boat Building Company for a forty-five-foot seagoing cruiser to cost $4000. The boat will be the largest power yacht ever built for local waters. It will be equipped with two fifteen-horse-power Buffalo engines of the latest type. The gasoline tank will have stowage room for 400 gallons.

Six yachts of a new design for racing have been ordered by members of the San Diego Yacht Club and are now being built by local firms. The builders selected what is known as model No. 1, Knockabout type, as a boat best adapted to local waters. The reason for adopting an official design by the club is to have all racing boats of the same class, thereby doing away with the necessity of handicaps. When the new boats are ready for the water all contestants will be started in races at scratch and instead of the race depending upon the worth of the boat, the ability of the skipper who sails her will be counted. The model adopted is of the skipjack class with a length of 27 feet over all, 16 feet on the water line, beam of 7½ feet, draught of 2½ feet and 225 yards of canvas. Members of the club believe this type has no superior for inside waters, being fast, dry and easily handled by one man.

COWS STUCK IN SAND.

Dr. Thomas Coggswell, president of the Humane Society, as gone to San Miguel Mountain, near Lemon Grove, to extricate two cows from quicksands. The animals have been stuck for several days.

NORDICA WILL SING.

As president of the Southern California Teachers' Association, Superintendent MacKinnon is making arrangements for the gathering at Los Angeles on December 21-24. He has just closed an agreement with Mme. Lillian Nordica to give a concert on the evening of the 23d in connection with the convention. The musical feature will be something new in teachers' association conventions.

TRICKED SICK SWEDE.

William Lynch, a bartender, and "Kid" Dunnegan of Los Angeles are in the County Jail charged with tricking a sick Swede out of $700 by presenting blank checks for him to sign, telling him the money was to be used for the purchase of medicine which the old man needed. Their alleged victim, whose name is Laurans Osterland, came to this city a little more than two weeks ago from Los Angeles.

Why don't you go to Arrowhead and get over that cold.

FOUR MACHINES WILL RACE.

Autos Entered in San Diego to El Centro Endurance Run Will Travel by Two Routes.

EL CENTRO, Nov. 23.—One of the next events of interest in the automobile world will be the race from San Diego to El Centro during the second week in December. It is planned to have it finish here at the time of the Imperial Valley Products and Stock Show, which is set for December 11 and 12. At that time Gov. Gillett, Mayor Taylor of San Francisco and a company of seventy-five members of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce will visit El Centro, and a general turn-out of the valley settlers will be here.

It is proposed that at least four automobiles shall start on the endurance run from San Diego, coming by two routes—two by way of the Devil's Cañon and Coyote Wells, and two via the Carrisso Creek Cañon.

MAY TRY TOBACCO.

Los Angeles men are endeavoring to contract with ranchers in the Coachella and Imperial valleys to plant tobacco the coming season. They propose to furnish the seed and send expert tobacco growers to superintend the raising and curing of the crop.

ACRES OF CABBAGE.

Land owners in this vicinity have taken a great "spurt" in planting cabbage the past three weeks. Several carloads of plants have been brought here from the Coachella Valley. At least 200 acres will be set in the immediate vicinity of El Centro.

Redlands Home Gas and Electric Company Elects Officers—Manager Announces Negotiations With Edison People Have Come to Nothing. Iowa Society Organizes.

REDLANDS, Nov. 23.—At a meeting of the directors of the Home Gas and Electric Company, day before yesterday, President Chesnut was made manager, vice F. P. Meserve, resigned. W. R. Cheeney, one of the heaviest stockholders, was elected president.

This change in officers knocks out the rumor that the company was about to sell out to the Edison concern, or at least that an exchange on commodities be made. The plan was for the Home company to retire from the electrical field in Redlands and Colton, leaving that branch of the business to the Edison company with no competition. In return the latter was to retire from the gas business in Redlands, Colton and Riverside.

It was understood that the matter would be fixed up Friday and President Chesnut spent several days last week in Los Angeles conferring with Edison officials. At the last moment the negotiations failed of success and the plan has been abandoned.

REDLANDS NOTES.

The Redlands Iowa Society was organized with 100 members Saturday evening at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium. The following officers were elected: President, L. M. King; vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Smith, secretary and treasurer, J. P. Hird. Meetings will be held in conjunction with societies of Riverside and San Bernardino.

The meeting of the Women's Contemporary Club this afternoon was addressed by Miss P. S. Michaelson of Los Angeles, the only woman criminal lawyer in California. She spoke on the work of juvenile courts and the George Junior Republic.

Rev. F. W. Emerson, the new pastor of the Christian Church, has arrived from Freeport, Ill. He occupied the pulpit of the local church both morning and evening yesterday. Rev. Mr. Emerson is accompanied by his family.

INSTRUCTION.

ARE PUT WISE BY PROFESSORS.

TEACHERS ARE TOLD HOW BEST TO BEND TWIGS.

At Institute Meeting at Riverside They Are Also Encouraged to Be Sunny Optimists and to Have Increasing Love and Respect for Their Avocation.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 23.—With every public school teacher of the county in attendance, the annual Teachers' Institute of Riverside county opened this morning in the High School auditorium. County School Superintendent Cree presided and gave the opening address, encouraging the teachers to be sunny optimists, with increasing love and respect for their profession.

As an illustration of the instruction which the pupils receive, a chorus of boys from the fifth and sixth grades of the Riverside schools gave a patriotic exercise and song, under the direction of Miss Kate Hammond, teacher of music of the city schools. Marching to position on the stage, they saluted the flag carried by their leader and gave their pledge of allegiance to it, afterward reciting in concert a tribute to the flag and singing with spirit Sousa's "Stars and Stripes."

USEFUL ADDRESSES.

The address of the morning was given by Prof. Lee Emerson Bassett of Stanford University on "Educational Uses of Literature." In the afternoon Mrs. Mary W. George of the San José State Normal School spoke on the subject, "Geography and Life." Much of the work of the institute is done in the various sections, which hold morning and afternoon sessions. Prof. Bassett is the instructor of the reading section, Mrs. George of the geography section and Prof. Percy E. Davidson of Stanford University leads the discussion of industrial and social education. The High School section takes up matters of interest along literary lines, with Miss Phebe Estelle Spalding, Prof. Arthur D. Bissell and Prof. C. F. Baker of Pomona College as instructors.

This evening the teachers were guests of honor at a reception given in the Women's Club House. The institute will continue tomorrow and Wednesday.

ELSINORE.

ELSINORE, Nov. 23.—Dr. A. J. Compton of the Presbyterian Church will deliver the Thanksgiving sermon at the union service to be held Thursday morning in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Though ducks are scarce on Lake Elsinore this year, many hunters are continually here, as there are no restrictions. The boundaries are so extensive, so shifting and of such various ownership that it is almost an impossibility for it ever to be made a preserve.

W. H. Smith of Los Angeles, who came here with his daughter, Mrs. Nevin, returned to the city this morning. He will move his family here for at least a year's residence. He has rented the Irwin Barr cottage on Prospect avenue.

Mrs. N. F. Morse arrived Saturday from Fullerton to spend two weeks here. She is a niece of Mrs. Margaret Hazard of Olive street.

Mrs. H. P. Epperson is here from Long Beach looking after her extensive property interests.

The teachers of this valley went to Riverside this morning to attend the Institute.

Father Hughes left today for San Jacinto, where he will reside. He has charge of most of the pastorates in Riverside county.

JAPANESE COLLECT TOO MANY ABALONE SHELLS.

Four Violate Orange County Ordinance Prohibiting Shipment of Over Twenty-five Pounds Daily—Arrested, But Won't Plead Till Employers Are Heard from.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 23.—Four Japanese were before Justice of the Peace Smithwick today on a charge of violating the county ordinance prohibiting the shipment of over twenty-five pounds of shellfish in one day. The men, believed to be employed by a San Pedro company, have been collecting abalones at Laguna Beach, diving into the surf and using a chisel to loosen the hold of the mollusk on the rocks. A few days ago three tons were sent out on one boat. Deputy Fish Commissioner J. W. Morrison and Deputy Sheriff O. W. Walling captured the Japs yesterday as they were loading 600 pounds of the shellfish on a boat. The men, who give as their names S. Kikuchi, T. Asanume, S. Asanuma and T. Hama, refuse to plead until they hear from friends in San Pedro. The operations of the Orientals along the Laguna coast have done much to exhaust the abalone supply. The Supervisors are considering an ordinance that will prohibit the shipping of all kinds of shellfish.

CAUGHT REDHANDED.

C. T. Hewitt, fisher of lobsters, was arrested yesterday on the rocks below Newport Bay by Deputy Fish Commissioner J. W. Morrison and charged with having in his possession lobsters less than eleven inches in length. Hewitt had three small ones in a box he had prepared for shipment. He was fined $5 by Justice of the Peace Smithwick.

QUARREL OVER WAGES.

As the result of a quarrel over wages, Peter Laughlin this morning fired two shots at his employer, John C. Keefe, an orchardist of West Orange. One of the bullets took effect in Keefe's left hand, entering the fleshy part and coming out at the wrist. After having the wound dressed, Keefe went before Justice of the Peace Smithwick and swore to a complaint charging Laughlin with an assault with a deadly weapon. Laughlin has disappeared.

MERCHANTS' EXCURSION.

The first of a number of excursions planned by the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association will be held tomorrow. A special train bearing 150 business men and their wives will leave here at 8 o'clock. Stops will be made at Corona, Riverside, San Bernardino and Redlands.

Miss M. C. Kerl, missionary among the Spanish people here, has asked for guardianship over William Rice, a half-breed. The boy's mother is dead and his father has deserted him. The 16-year-old lad has an estate consisting of about $100 cash and a house and lot.

Spend the week's end at Arrowhead Hotel.

IMPERIAL TURKEYVILLE.

Imperial Valley will soon be noted as an ideal place to raise turkeys in, and if the record made by one resident there is kept up, future years should see the price of the Thanksgiving bird drop to the reach of families of very moderate means. A ranchman on fourteen acres, near Brawley, told Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday, about his luck this year in raising turkeys. He seeded his ranch to barley and alfalfa. After cutting fourteen tons of barley and three crops of alfalfa, he put sixty-eight turkeys on the stubble. While they were raising their broods, no extra feed was used, but recently he bought $60 worth of grain for fattening 500 choice young birds that will be put on the market this week. The man expects to clear $1500. Wiggins is so much enthused over the showing made by the Brawley man that he thinks of investing in turkeys next year, and says he will save out the best one to send to President Taft.

THEY'RE COMING BY THOUSANDS

El Paso Elks hope to win the prize for sending the largest delegation to the great convention in Los Angeles next July. A special train to carry 300 has already been chartered, according to a letter written by A. C. Murray of the Reunion Bulletin to R. L. Sanders, local manager and editor of the paper. In addition to the large delegation, the El Paso lodge will have with it the Mexican band, which captured first laurels in Philadelphia two years ago. The Dallas Los Angeles Club of Elks is rapidly increasing in membership and about 100 from that city will be here to swell the Texas delegation, which will total at least 3000 men. W. H. Atwell, United States District Attorney of the northern district of Texas is boomed by his colleagues for Grand Exalted Ruler.

SONNENBERG ACCUSED.

A complaint charging battery was issued yesterday by Deputy Dist.-Atty. McCormick against Henry G. Sonnenberg, treasurer of the Orpheum Theater, on charges made by Lucien Haas. Haas stated that he attended the Orpheum Sunday night with a friend. The men occupied an upper box. During the performance, Haas alleges, Sonnenberg called him into his private office and there, after accusing him of having been unduly friendly with his former wife, Mrs. Sonnenberg, punched his face.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

If the week which opened yesterday morning on the produce market continues as it started, it will be remembered for activity. There were a number of very assured changes, and all of them had a tendency of going higher, rather than dropping. The poultry market was particularly active and jobbers are making quick sales at figures just a trifle below those quoted in order to bring in extra money for further purchases immediately. A car of turkeys from Kansas was received by one of the larger houses and there were some very light eastern arrivals, all showing quality. In order to show the difference in the quotations between the wholesale dealer and the retailer, a column will be added to poultry prices showing not only the prices being paid the farmer but those existing between the jobber and the butcher. The live and dressed prices vary from 3 to 4 cents a pound on all poultry.

Eggs of local production took a decided upward turn after dropping almost 10 cents last week. With a better demand on account of approaching Thanksgiving there were sales of 32 cases of case count. They ran up from 42 to 46 cents and closed strong at the top figure. The new quotation of 46 to 51 on candled stock and 46 on case count. Eastern eggs were not changed in prices. There was a good offering of fresh Minnesota firsts. A car of April selects sold at current prices. Receipts were 72 cases.

Butter receipts were 13,071 pounds. Cooking butter was plentiful, and there were slight price reductions on sale on 'Change, which totaled 120 pounds in a number of lots. A block of creamery was sold off board. The San Francisco market went to 27½ cents in the morning and that ruled most conservative extra strength and a rise of goodly size is anticipated.

Cheese receipts were 5276 pounds. The demand for various brands was only fair. Cream brick in tin foil wrapper is receiving a slight premium over the ordinary cream brick.

The potato list was without feature. Offerings consisted of a few Highlands and Lompoc. Receipts were larger than for a week and totaled 5816 sacks. Some of the first new potatoes of the season were reported in.

Onions were not too well looked after. Arrivals were 177 sacks, bet onions for planting with the first rains are coming in. Chives are selling well, both the green and the seed implements.

The bean market showed a decided tendency to go upward. Field prices have been advanced almost 10 per cent. in the Ventura and other growing districts, contrary to the expectations of many business buyers. On 'Change there were no alterations as yet. Receipts were 1173 sacks.

Fancy sweet potatoes sold at a good margin over the dollar. Arrivals were 208 sacks.

Apple receipts were down to 1364 boxes. Small-to eiders were plenty on the list among the late arrivals and are bringing from 85 cents to $1 per box. Utah Gano apples and Colorado Ben Davis were in good call. A few Colorado Jonathans were offered, but the price was held high.

Grapes all took a sudden bound, explained by the light rains of Sunday which have considerable effect on the quality of the grapes still left on the vines. Cornichons and Malagas were sent to $1.25 per box. Muscats were raised to $1 and Red Emperors were also boosted. Clingstone peaches advanced to 90 cents.

Peas and beans were higher owing to an extra demand and a slight shortage. The latter went as high as 7 cents a pound. Artichokes which are entirely from the north sold at $1.10 a dozen. Lettuce was a trifle higher and the general tone was excellent on all other commodities.

NEVADA EXCHANGE.

Unsatisfactory Market for Mining Shares and Small Trading on Call of List.

A ragged and unsatisfactory market prevailed on the Los Angeles-Nevada Exchange yesterday. Trading was of small volume and the prices refused to advance materially. This was due, more or less, to the dragging market in the North, where affairs went badly for the professional traders, there being little or no demand for mining issues.

Locally there seems a slight inquiry for the better class stocks, but much of this business is transacted on the curb, and in the offices. Goldfield Consolidated closed at 6.75@6.90, up 2½ points in the bid, and unchanged in the asking price. None was sold. Florence was called, but failed to trade, closing without a change, at 4.45@4.55.

Combination Fraction closed at 1.44@1.45, up 1 point in the bid. Trading was fairly large in this stock, and prices firm, ranging from 1.42 to 1.44. A total of 400 changed hands on the early call, but was quiet in the afternoon.

For some reason California Hills seemed to be the object of an unloading movement. The stock sold down from 14 to 12, & total of 19,000 shares changing hands at these prices. It closed quoted at 11¾@12¼, off 2¼ and 2¾ points, respectively, compared with Saturday's closing figures.

There was some trading in Jumbo Extension at 30 on both calls. The stock closed offered at 31. Five hundred and fifty shares of Daisy were handled at 97. This stock closed at 95@98. Consolidated Mines sold at 2¾, and Blue Bell at 4. Jim Butler was handled at 17, and Atlanta at 20. Others were quiet.

LOS ANGELES STOCK EXCHANGE.

BETTER TONE HOLDS MARKET.

HIGH CLASS SECURITIES THEN GIVEN A BOOST.

Investment Shares in Good Demand and Show an Upward Tendency—Oil Issues Active and Are Center of Interest, Commanding Bulk of Trading on Floor.

There was a broad and strong market on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday, which reflected the increased demand for the investment securities, on apparent assurance of election of Taft. The demand for shares was very strong, and while trading was restricted to three securities on the floor, a good business is being transacted in the offices.

The oil issues continue to attract many investors, especially those stocks on a dividend basis, while others with more of a speculative value are sought after by another class of buyers.

Union Oil was sold again yesterday at 84.75, seller ten days, a total of 55 shares changing hands at that price. Four shares additional sold at 85.00, regular delivery. The stock closed at 84.75@85.25, up ¼ in the bid, compared with Saturday's close. In the last three days more than 200 shares of this security has been sold on and off board, and the price has actually grown stronger. One broker has a selling order which has not yet been recalled, and the buyers of this stock represent inside interests. The stock is being sold seller ten days, to allow of its shipment from the north, it is said.

Union has had a remarkable rise since the "panic" of last year. About a year ago, the stock sold at $10 a share on the exchange. Since then the capital of the company has been increased, and the issued number of shares added to so that every share outstanding a year ago is now represented by 5. On the same ratio of three for one, the stock sold for $85.00 a year ago, where it is now selling for 84.75, making the old stock worth $254.25.

Associated Oil failed to go higher yesterday, selling sparingly at 37.50@37.87½, and closing at 37.50@37.87½, off ¼ and ⅜, compared with the close Saturday. There seems a disposition on the part of the insiders to sell at around 40.00, and to clean up any floating stock offered at lower prices. There was little offered yesterday.

One $1000 first mortgage bond of the Home Telephone Company sold at 85 during the call. The close quoted this security at 83@85½. This was lower than the bond has been offered at for some time, but the bid is much stronger, showing a 1½-point rise. There is good inquiry for the lower-priced bonds, and a good many are being sold to investors.

There was a demand for Home Telephone preferred yesterday, the stock closing at 52.50@56.00, up ½ in the bid and about 1 point above the last offered price in the asking. None sold. The Edisons remained firm, and closed in demand.

Several of the bank stocks are being bid up. A five-point rise is apparent in the bid for First National, which closed at 420.00@475.00. It is said that insiders are trying to buy in some stock, and this lends color to the rumor that an increase from 20 to 24 per cent. in the dividend rate was contemplated at the by the board of directors. The asked price is now 20 points above Saturday's close. Merchant's National closed with a 5-point advance in the bid at 440.00. None was offered. Security Savings Bank sold at 5, 4½@6 on the mining call, and Consolidated Mines was handled at 2¾@2¾.

The total of $56,317 was reached in business transacted on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange floor last week. This represented the market price of 60,083 shares of stock.

GENERAL EASTERN.

STORM BEARS WHEAT MARKET.

HEAVY RAINS IN BELT SEND PRICES DOWN.

Pit Traders Impressed by Favorable Wet Weather Conditions for the Sown Crop Sell Freely During Most of the Day's Session—Decline at Liverpool Aids Campaign.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The storm which developed Sunday was centered on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains and caused quite general precipitation from that section eastward over the Mississippi River Valley, and the official prediction indicated that the showers will continue over this entire district from the Missouri River eastward today. Pit traders were bearishly impressed by the more favorable weather conditions for the fall-sown crop, and sold wheat quite freely throughout the greater part of the day, while there was also some selling by commission houses.

Further ammunition was furnished the bears in the shape of a heavy movement of wheat in the Northwest, and by a decline at Liverpool. Several slight recoveries were made during the day on buying by shorts, but each bulge brought out increased offerings which soon carried prices down again. The market closed weak, with December ½ to 1 lower, at 1.03⅝@1.03¾, and May at 1.07½.

Wet weather had an opposite effect on the corn market from what it had on wheat, owing to possible delay to the movement of the new crop due to the rains. The close was firm, with prices up ¼@⅝ to ⅝, with December at 64¼ and May, 63¼@63¾.

Cash quotations were as follows: Flour was firm; No. 3 spring wheat, 1.06@1.08; No. 2, 1.06@1.07; No. 2 red, 1.03¾@1.04¾; No. 2 corn, 63½@63¾; No. 3 yellow, 63¼@63¾; No. 2 white, 64¾@65¼; No. 3 rye, 74½; good feeding barley, 48; fair to choice malting, 49@52; No. 1 northwestern flaxseed, 1.45; prime timothy seed, 3.85; clover, contract grades, 9.15; short ribs, sides (loose), 8.37½@8.75; mess pork, per bbl., 14.75@14.87½; lard, per 100 lbs., 9.40; short clear sides (boxed), 8.75@9.00.

New York Cotton Market.

Following is range of quotations today:

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—Cotton opened steady, one to five points decline, and trading was fairly large. There was a great deal of liquidation going on in January by the local pool, but with no reason for it, as the December option ruled very steady. It looks like the crowd who are long of this market, are prepared to take care of all the notices that will be issued next Friday, which is first notice day. Spinners' takings are running large. The feeling here is still bullish, and the market looks like a purchase on all soft spots.

There are wide opinions on the market here. The ginners' report has been figured out to mean a crop all the way from 13,000,000 to 14,000,000 bales, and while the ginners' report was less than expected, it is large. If we gin as much cotton after November 14 as we did last year, which no doubt we will, the crop would be 13,600,000 bales. Spot interests were free sellers of near months Saturday in this market. There is very little short interest and we would caution getting long on the advances and would do so only on soft spots.

Hill, of Logan & Bryan, says: "Despite a war cloud overhanging Europe, and despite an effort on the part of the professionals to soften the market, cotton, of its own inherent strength, showed six or seven points advance for the more distant options today, and at no time was the undertone weak. The earliest prices were the lowest of the day and the market slowly advanced point by point despite realizing and profit-taking sales, and final prices ruled a shade higher than those of Saturday. An analysis of Saturday's ginning record shows much more bullish than the aggregate figures of that report. The point noticed today was of an investment character, was very determined and quite likely to cover at any moment. We are still friendly to cotton despite the fact that the present levels are the high water mark of the season.

"In view of the fact that many people have been of the opinion that this cotton crop might be 13,500,000 or 14,000,000, a careful analysis of Saturday's census ginning report discloses that such is another impossibility; and it further discloses that an abrupt halt has occurred in the ginning operations during the past thirty days.

"With Census Bulletin 91 of the Department of Census before me I have taken considerable trouble to compare the figures of this year with those of both 1904 and 1906, with the following results:

"While with ample labor, excellent weather, early maturity and an immense desire to sell cotton, the early ginning and crop movement was on an unparalleled scale, the ginnings in the middle of October having fallen to small proportions. Compared with the ginning for the year from October 18 to November 14, with the same period in 1906 and 1904 we have the following: Ginned in twenty-six days, in 1908, 3,234,397 bales; in 1907, 3,639,321 bales; in 1906, 2,984,752 bales.

"This discloses the fact that this crop has already grouped below either of the big crop years, in the absence of any ginning record on November 1, 1904, we are unable to make any comparisons for the period from November 1 to November 14, of that year, but the ginning record from November 1 to November 13, this year (1908), was only 1,495,781 bales, compared with 1,655,647 bales in 1906, thereby showing a perpendicular falling off of 253,000 bales during the period.

"It is a State by State proposition, even in Texas, where so much is said about there being a good crop, the ginnings November 1 to the 14th, has this year only amounted to 340,553 bales, against 490,360 bales for the same period in 1906.

"In the face of this sort of convincing evidence, large crop theorists will be compelled to desert their ideas, and future ginning operations will probably show a greater tendency to diminish than this one has. The cotton crop has matured, has been picked and ginned, and its marketing is being done at a cost very little above the cost of production."

Boston Copper Market.

BOSTON, Nov. 23.—Market was dull today and near the close, became fairly active at lower prices. There is no disposition to sell coppers, however, and they hold firm. Several of the floor traders are making the market in Superior and are able to advance the price without taking much stock. Copper Range is noticeably strong, being 80 bid for a considerable amount. Formal application was made today for listing of Superior and we think that it will soon be admitted for trading on the floor. This will give the stock a material value and will eventually give it a wider and higher market.

MEN RESPOND TO TORREY.

Belabors Devotees of Society and Fashion.

Tells Preachers to Pray and Not Run Bazaars.

A Fountain Choked With Rags and Tobacco.

The strong influence that Dr. Torrey exerts over men, wherever he goes, is being repeated in Los Angeles. He made a side remark on the platform in the tabernacle last night that called attention to it.

In response to the invitation, a number of men had indicated their determination to lead Christian lives, when Dr. Torrey said:

"We haven't had a woman or a girl stand up tonight."

As usual, the larger portion of the audience was composed of women, and for that reason the fact noted by the evangelist was the more remarkable. On Sunday night, when the audience was composed entirely of men, sixty-seven of them responded to the invitation, probably the greatest number that have yet stood up at any one meeting.

"The world is full of people seeking Jesus Christ," said Dr. Torrey, in the course of his talk, "but the trouble is they are seeking Him where He is never to be found.

"How many here tonight are seeking joy through the accumulation of wealth? Wealth will not bring joy. Of all the men and women of this earth, you cannot find one, just one, who ever found joy in the pleasures of the world.

"Some are seeking joy in fashionable society. Of all the people on the face of the earth who have chosen rot, the society woman beats them all. Of all the devotees of society and fashion in Los Angeles, you cannot find me one who ever found peace, satisfying and lasting, in that way.

"Men and women, if you want real joy, deep and lasting, take Jesus Christ. Many a poor fellow who has accepted Christ at an open-air meeting on the street corner has something you respectable people have not."

PLAIN TALK TO PREACHERS.

In his address to the ministers of Southern California, yesterday morning at the Bible Institute, Dr. Torrey talked as plainly as he does in his mixed congregations. A large body of preachers was present, embracing all denominations, and they accepted his strictures and advice in good spirit.

One thing he advised them not to do was not to waste their time with "bazaars and other tomfoolery."

"Wake up the people of your congregations, get them interested in saving souls, and the money will come. Don't preach Browning and Shakespeare; preach the Bible—that's what your congregations need and it is what they want.

"Keep preaching and praying, that is your business, and stick to your business, but train every member of your churches for effective Christian work. A one-man ministry is a dangerous heresy.

"The lazy preacher should be shelved—the man who does not study. This is a day of specialists and we must know more of the Bible."

A CHOKED FOUNTAIN.

Dr. Torrey took his afternoon text from John iv, 14: "But whosoever drinketh of the water I shall give him shall never thirst; but the water I shall give him shall be in him a well of water springing up into everlasting life."

"You drink at the fountain of worldly pleasure," said the evangelist, "and are never satisfied; you will thirst again. The water that Jesus gives is the Holy Spirit, and when He gives it to you it dwells in you. Say, it is a great thing to have a well within you, and you may be radiant with joy all the time.

"A lady called me up over the telephone today, and I suppose she is here now. She said she thought we are trying to make life too serious by taking away all the enjoyment. What you want is a well of water within you. Oh, it makes you entirely independent of the world and all its enjoyments.

"I sometimes feel that there is not much use in telling people not to go to the theater, not to play cards and not to dance, but strive to give them something so much better that they will not want to do any of these things.

"I am told there are whole heaps of Christian people out here in Los Angeles who do all these things. Well then, either you have never had the Holy Spirit within you, or the fountain is choked."

He illustrated this point by telling of a wonderful spring of water that was tapped on his father's country place on Lake Geneva, the flow from which was so great that it could not be controlled. As a last resort a man was sent down to choke the inlet with an old piece of carpet, in which condition the spring lay idle for a long time. Finally a stone curb was built so as to control the water and the old carpet was pulled out, and from that day to this, it has remained the most famous spring on Lake Geneva.

OLD RAGS AND TOBACCO.

"If you have received the Holy Spirit," he continued, "you have the best well within you there is in Los Angeles, but it is plugged up with some old rag, or with a plug of tobacco. Friends, let's out with the old rags today; what do you say? If you do we will all feel like shouting. Remember, I'm not a Methodist; I'm a 'Presbygrationalist.'"

Down in the audience a gentleman arose and asked at this juncture:

"Do you mean to say, that every person who is truly converted has this well of water within him?"

Dr. Torrey: No, I don't. Many people are truly converted, yet have not this gift of the Holy Spirit, but thank God, they may have it.

"Some people think a Christian ought to go around all the time looking —," he said, during this afternoon talk. "I don't, and this book don't teach it. The best kind of laughter is that which comes from far deeper down than a joke ever gets."

He denominated a revival that ends with a month's special effort like that now in progress here, as a "flash in the pan," and said what he hopes for is a revival that will start now and go on indefinitely.

At 12:05, noon, today, Dr. Torrey will talk to men in the Los Angeles Theater, his theme being: "Did Christ really rise from the dead?" The 3 o'clock meeting in the tabernacle will be for fathers, mothers and teachers, though all other persons are privileged to come. On Thanksgiving there will be three services, the first at 10:30 in the forenoon, the other two at the usual hours. On Friday afternoon there will be a great children's meeting.
